Wisconsin Goes Ashore

Big Battleship Visits New Jersey Shore, but Tugs Pull Her Back Again

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—The 45,000-ton battleship Wisconsin went aground in the Hudson river opposite Manhattan and was towed free about two hours later, a New York Central Railroad tug reported.

Thousands of onlookers watched efforts by a swarm of towboats pulling the big ship back into midstream.

The battleship, which came in to the Hudson yesterday on a training cruise, was moored to fore and aft buoys opposite 79th street, across from West New York, N. J.

First reports were that the stern line parted. Another report was that the great weight of the ship had dragged both moorings in a heavy running tide.

The navy reported the vessel "under control" but gave no immediate details.

The mishap recalled the grounding of the Wisconsin's sister ship, the 45,000-ton Missouri, in Chesapeake Bay Jan. 17, 1950.

She was held fast for two weeks until towboats finally succeeded in pulling her off a sandbank. She was not seriously damaged and is in service now.

First word that the Wisconson's stern had swung onto the Jersey shore came from the Meseck Towing Lines, Inc., of New York.

Million in Damage Estimated–Area Faces Drouth 2 Months

Honolulu, Aug. 22 (AP) — The heaviest earthquake ever recorded on the Volcano Island of Hawaii cost the Kona coast district most of its treasured water stores —with two months of normal drouth ahead.

Property damage was estimated officially at between $750,000 and $1,000,000, but the water loss was the most critical.

The quake jarred the largest of the Hawaiian Islands in early morning darkness yesterday. It wrecked or damaged more than 200 wooden water storage tanks —20 of them on one cattle ranch.

An after-shock bumped the Kona coast last night. Kona police said it was weak and no damage was reported. The aftershock rattled dishes and windows in Honolulu.

Each of 200 families along a 30-mile stretch of the Kona coast, on the west slope of Mauna Loa Volcano, had at least one tank for storing drinking and household water.

Driest Part of Islands

The Kona coast is the driest section of the islands.

Yesterday's tremor centered deep below the undersea slope of massive Mauna Loa. The volcano rises 13,680 feet above sea level and slants 18,000 feet under water to the ocean floor.

There was no evidence of any impending eruption by Mauna Loa, one of the world's most active volcanoes. It spilled molten lava into the sea a little more than a year ago.

Police Sgt. Emery Kunitomo at Kailua on the Kona coast said fire department and Hawaii county trucks from Hilo, across the island, were hauling emergency water supplies to Kona coast residents.

Must Haul Water

The water hauling must continue daily. The Kona coast normally receives no rain until well into October.

Kunitomo said there had been little rain through July and August.

The hauled water must be boiled for drinking purposes.

Kunitomo gave this police estimate of damages:

To 200 houses and furnishings, $200,000; to highways, cracked and littered with rocks, $100,000; 200 water tanks destroyed or damaged, $200,000; stone walls and fences wrecked and damaged, $100,000; damage to store buildings and merchandise, $100,000; damage to Honaunau School $45,000.

Leonard Quits Saratoga Post

Commissioner of Safety Is Under Order to Testify

Ballston Spa, N. Y., Aug. 22— Dr. Arthur J. Leonard resigned today as Saratoga Springs public safety commissioner while under court order to appear before the special grand jury investigating Saratoga gambling — including possible "protection payoffs" to politicians.

Shortly after the sudden resignation of the 72-year-old Leonard, long the actual though unofficial Democratic leader of Saratoga, the grand jury handed up three more indictments, all sealed. The indictments were reported to name former big-shot gamblers in Saratoga Springs.

Leonard said his resignation, given without explanation, cleared the way for the ailing doctor to seek "vindication" at the polls in November. In a non-partisan primary, he was renominated yesterday for the post of public safety commissioner. The commissioner supervises the police department.

The sealed indictments today were reported to have accused alleged erstwhile casino figures of several counts of gambling and conspiracy.

Two Appear

Appearing in court with counsel, who said they would surrender in connection with the new indictments, were Louis J. (Doc) Farone, 47, and George J. Smaldone, 48, both of Saratoga Springs.

The indictments were said to relate to gambling activities at the Brook Club, one of Saratoga's night spots, when gambling was prevalent at the Spa prior to September, 1949.

Farone was indicted last week on 15 counts of gambling and conspiracy, as the alleged operator of Riley's Lake House, now closed. He pleaded innocent, and is free in $5,000 bail.

Last week, Sheriff Frank A. Hathorn of Saratoga county, whose removal had been asked of Governor Dewey by the extraordinary grand jury, resigned and gave illness as the reason.

Early in the summer, Patrick Rox, Saratoga chief of police, quit, he had been seriously ill.

Won Nomination

Leonard's resignation came less than 15 hours after he had won re-nomination in the Saratoga Springs non-partisan primary yesterday. He won by a margin of 1,394 over his nearest rival.

Dr. Leonard figured prominently in the U. S. Senate crime investigation committee's look-see into the Saratoga gambling situation. However, he did not testify before the Kefauver group. He pleaded illness.

He was called to testify before the Saratoga probe jury, sitting

House Plan Tossed Out, Adopts Its Own Formula for Levies

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP)—The tax-writing Senate Finance Committee tentatively has decided on a personal income tax boost $412,000,000 lower than that voted by the House.

The committee threw out the House revenue-boosting plan on individuals yesterday and adopted a formula of its own which considerably lightens the increase in the upper income brackets.

This formula would raise personal income levies by an estimated $2,435,000,000 a year compared with $2,847,000,000 in the House measure.

The committee continues its closed-door reworking of the House bill today (9 a. m. E.S.T.). It has yet to act on the $2,855,000,000 in corporation tax boosts voted by the House or the hikes in many excise taxes.

Taken by Senators

The tentative vote was the first taken by the senators in their rewriting of the House-passed $7,200,000,000 measure.

It bore out advance predictions of committee members that the Senate would whittle down the House figure rather than increase it toward the $10,000,000,000 asked by President Truman to help balance the budget and hold down inflationary pressures.

The finance committee formula would put an added defense tax on that portion of incomes now left after the individual has paid his taxes.

Plan of Operation

The tentatively-adopted formula would work this way:

First the taxpayer computes his tax under existing law. Then he subtracts the amount of that tax from his surtax net income, which is his income after exemptions and deductions. Then he pays as a defense tax three per cent of what is left up to $2,000 and four per cent of the part above $2,000.

The House had approved a simpler formula: Each taxpayer would add 12½ per cent to the amount of tax he pays now.

An unofficial computation indicated the Senate plan would mean a total income tax of $53,719 on an individual with $100,000 net income compared with $58,401 in the House bill and $51,912 at present. Thus he would be $4,682 better off than under the House measure.

Two Persons Killed

East Paterson, N. J., Aug. 22 (AP)—Two persons were killed this morning when a car went out of control on Route 4 near the Passaic river bridge and crashed into a tree. Four other persons were injured. Police said one of the victims, a woman, was run down by the careening auto as she waited for a bus. The other was a passenger in the car.

VFW to Hear Dewey

New York, Aug. 22 (AP) — The Veterans of Foreign Wars announced today Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who has been visiting the Orient, will address its national convention in New York next Wednesday. The announcement said the governor has requested there be no radio or television coverage of his afternoon speech.

Says Charter Presented

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—Michael J. Quill, CIO Transport Workers Union president, said today a charter was presented to a group of 120 New York city police last night, officially establishing Local 240, of the union. Quill said the charter ceremony was conducted at a meeting "close to police headquarters."

Most Voting in Primary Quiet; Marbletown Contest

The storm center at Tuesday's primary election settled in the town of Marbletown. In other sections of the county and in the City of Kingston primary day was calm and quiet with no contests and the previously designated candidates were named.

In Kingston it was Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk and Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly re-named by the Republican voters with Raymond A. McAndrew nominated for mayor and Fred C. Harder nominated for alderman-at-large on the Democratic and Liberal parties tickets.

County officials who were named were Harry D. Sutton as Republican candidate for county clerk, Fred Dusing as Democratic candidate for county clerk and Ernest A. Kelly as Republican candidate for coroner. The Democratic party did not nominate for coroner.

In the first district of the town of Marbletown, High Falls district, there was a record vote cast. This record vote was not due to any contest but to the interest which Republican Committeeman Jack Smith displayed in getting out the voters of his party.

In the second district of Marbletown a write-in campaign on the part of Democratic voters, defeated J. Clifford Cole, regularly named candidate for Democratic committeeman, and swept Leon Guillon into the race by a 12 to 5 vote. Cole and Gordon Eckert were the two whose names appeared on the ballot.

There was also a write-in campaign in the fourth district of

Truckers Will Get Help on Filling Road Use Papers

Applications for highway use permits and plates will be available for truckers starting next week, Acting Mayor Joseph Kelly said today and advised that assistance would be given in filling them out.

Kelly said a representative of the Truck Mileage Tax Bureau will be at the Ulster county court house on Friday, Aug. 31, from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. to help applicants.

Macy Loses Fight To Retain Control Of Suffolk Party

Decisive Margin Ends 25-Year Long Island Chairmanship for Dewey Foe

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—Former Congressman W. Kingsland Macy —a foe of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and a friend of Senator Robert A. Taft—was on his way out today as the Republican chairman in Suffolk county.

Incomplete and unofficial returns from yesterday's New York state primary election showed Macy's 25-year reign in eastern Long Island had been ended by a decisive margin for his Dewey-backed opponents.

The bitter Suffolk fight highlighted a lack-luster primary with only one major contest anywhere in the state—Carmine De Sapio's apparently successful struggle to hold control of Democratic Tammany Hall against the opposition of New York's Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri.

De Sapio's machine held a 13-3 lead in incomplete returns over the city-hall backed insurgent forces of Robert B. Blaikie. Tammany is the Democratic organization in New York county (Manhattan).

Elsewhere in the state, there were only mayoralty contests that attracted little interest from the voters.

The Macy battle in Suffolk brought out voters in near presidential-year numbers.

Dewey Principal Target

Macy made Dewey a chief target of his campaign, while announcing that if he won he would support Taft for the presidential nomination.

R. Ford Hughes, leader of the anti-Macy forces, claimed victory last night only a few hours after the polls closed.

At that time, Hughes held a five-to-one lead in his fight to run again for county clerk against the opposition of E. Conway Plummer, a Macy man.

Atomic Sub Contract Is Given by US

Outdoes Snorkel

Atom-Powered Craft to Have Speed Twice Present Rate

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP)—The navy has let a contract for the first atomic-powered submarine—a craft described by a congressional authority as having "immense military implications."

Announcing yesterday the award of a contract to the Electric Boat Company of Groton, Conn., the navy gave no details. Nor would officials elaborate on the 26-word announcement.

But semi-official sources have said an atomic-powered submarine would have a vast underwater range, and speculation as to its possible speed has ranged as high as 50 to 60 knots (about 65 miles an hour)—more than twice that of conventional undersea craft.

The navy's announcement, first open step into an atomic powered future, came somewhat earlier than the time which had previously been guardedly expressed.

In March the navy hoped to start its first nuclear-powered submarine by the end of this year. Yesterday's announcement indicated an approaching solution of major problems in the way of ship propulsion by controlled splitting of atoms—done in devices the scientists call reactors.

Larger Vessel

The craft to be constructed at Groton, it is believed, will be a 2,500-ton vessel, somewhat larger than the navy's present fleet submarines.

Neither the navy nor the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) is likely to give any hints about its performance—assuming it is successful—until it has met its real test on and under the seas.

But Chairman McMahon (D.-Conn.) of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee has said the project has "immense military implications."

And Vice Admiral Charles A. Lockwood, retired officer who commanded U. S. sub forces in the Pacific in World War 2, has predicted it would "outrun, outfight and outmaneuver the most advanced Snorkel types that Russia is building behind the Iron Curtain or is likely to build."

Answer to Snorkel

In an article in the Saturday Evening Post several months ago, Lockwood called the prospective craft "the answer to the Russian Snorkel" sub—a craft fitted with a device which permits it to cruise underwater for long periods. The U. S. also has Snorkel-equipped subs.

Lockwood said engineers had estimated atomic submarines could cruise at 25 to 30 knots, but Senator Magnuson (D.-Wash.) recently said navy men had told him 50 to 60 knots on the surface would not be "out of the ordinary." The most modern subs in use today can do underwater speeds of about 20 knots.

The best estimate is that the craft may be tested perhaps two years from now, although recent progress reports from the AEC's

Attack Sub Launched

The U.S.S. Trout, third of a new class of six fast attack submarines being built for the Navy, is launched at Groton, Conn., Aug. 21. The 1,600-ton craft is designed to travel at greater speed underwater than on the surface. The Trout was sponsored by Mrs. Mary Crane Clark, widow of Lt. Comdr. Albert H. Clark, who was lost when an earlier Trout went down during action off the China coast in 1944.

Officials Accuse Reds of Acting With Bad Faith

Japanese Think Russia Will Sign

MacArthur Spurns Peace Parley Bid

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur is reported to have turned down a government invitation to address the Japanese peace treaty conference on the ground it might put him in the light of representing the Truman administration.

An aide in New York quoted MacArthur as saying he would not attend the conference opened in San Francisco Sept. 4 "short of a direct invitation" by the conference itself.

A Washington official, declining to be quoted by name, said President Truman had approved a U. S. government invitation to MacArthur to speak during the time alloted this country but MacArthur had declined. The general's aide, Col. Lawrence Bunker, said MacArthur had received no invitation.

Strong Bid Seen for Inclusion of U. S. Date to Leave

Tokyo, Aug. 22 (AP)—There is a growing belief in this country that Russia will do the unexpected and sign the Japanese peace treaty in San Francisco next month.

Reliable, if unofficial, Japanese circles express the view that the Russians will sign after putting up a strong fight for inclusion of one major provision.

They say the Reds will agree to keeping an American military establishment in Japan—but will demand a definite date for departure. They are opposed to a unilateral treaty between Japan and the United States.

This view was expressed despite last night's threats from the Chinese Reds' Peiping radio that Japan's acceptance of a peace treaty not approved by both Red China and Russia would be considered an act of war.

Not Invited

Red China wasn't invited to the peace treaty conference. Soviet Russia accepted after considerable delay.

The feeling around Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's Allied headquarters had been that the Soviet delegates enroute to San Francisco are carrying brief cases loaded with monkey wrenches.

But Jajanese sources predict the Russians will sign the treaty if they can thus prevent a separate treaty between the U. S. and Japan.

The present plan is for the United States and Japan to sign a unilateral treaty as soon as the ink is dry on the treaty at San Francisco.

This unilateral treaty would provide for the stationing of American troops—between two and four divisions of ground troops plus an air force and a navy—in Japan until this country is able to defend herself.

Russia is believed willing to sign if the provisions of the military establishment are placed in the treaty and a date set for the last American soldier to leave Japan.

Tampico Awaits Hurricane Moving Toward Mexico

Weather Officials Unable to Predict Direction Storm Will Take; City Tense

Tampico, Mexico, Aug. 22 (AP) —This city's 100,000 inhabitants faced again today the threat of a "dangerous" hurricane hovering offshore.

While experts tried to figure where the storm would strike, the Tampico people laid in supplies of food and strengthened their houses for the big blow.

The plan to bring inhabitants of the low-lying, lightly built outer suburbs into the center of the city was delayed until the storm's course is known. Police said about 600 of the more nervous ones came voluntarily to refugee centers set up in school houses on the hill in the centre of town. Farmers came into the city to seek shelter.

The newspaper El Mundo estimated "several thousand" residents of the outlying districts had spent the night on high ground, some in the refugee centers and some with friends.

Heavy Rain Falls

A heavy rain was falling as day broke and a fresh breeze was blowing.

Early today the U. S. Weather Bureau at New Orleans said the storm—after remaining almost stationary several hours—was beginning to move slowly towards Tampico.

Last night's advisories had predicted the swirling winds, which killed 155 persons in devastated Jamaica, would hit this port of 100,000 population and nearby rich Mexican oil fields before noon today.

A weather plane is expected to fly over the storm area later this morning in an attempt to plot its

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, former army intelligence chief in the Far East, said today he believes the same kind of Communist spying and intrigue disclosed in Japan is going on now in the United States.

Willoughby testified before the House Un-American Activities Committee about the famous "Sorge Ring," a Soviet spy network which reached into high up Japanese government circles.

Deadlock Is Stalled at 6th Session

Position Is Same

Sources Say UN Stand Is Unaltered; Reds Called Obdurate

Munsan Korea, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Allies accused the Communists today of making "a universal symbol of bad faith" out of Kaesong, site of Korean war truce talks.

The charge was broadcast after a shirt-sleeved subcommittee held its sixth session in Kaesong without sign of breaking the deadlock over where to draw an armistice line across Korea.

The subcommittee scheduled another try for Thursday.

Armistice negotiations were complicated by a dispute over latest Red charges that United Nations forces violated the Kaesong neutrality zone.

The "Voice of the United Nations Command," broadcast from Tokyo to Korea, said the "Communist charges border on the ridiculous."

The broadcast asked:

"Why are the United Nations delegates assigned to an armistice mission constantly forced to divert their attention to the question of armed personnel in the conference area."

History Is Traced

The broadcast traced the history of incidents within the neutral zone and answered its own question:

"It is now quite obvious that Kaesong was picked (by the Communists as a negotiating site) in order to intimidate the UNC (United Nations Command) delegates by a show of force.

"That failing, the conferences could be stalemated with a series of side issues blocking the main discussions."

There was no suggestion from any quarter that progress had been made toward settling the main issue.

Both sides were depicted as still holding out for their original demands on where to create a buffer zone. The UN wants it along the battle line; the Reds along the 38th Parallel. Most of the front is north of 38.

No New Instructions

It was authoritatively reported that Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief UN delegate, received no new instructions from UN Commander Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway during a flying visit to Tokyo. Joy returned to Munsan Tuesday.

Responsible quarters said the UN position remained unchanged.

A release from UN command advance headquarters pictured the Reds as "obdurate in their politically tainted demands" and "inscrutable in presenting them." It said the Communists were "immune" to the "military logic" of the allied command.

The statement appeared to support the belief the subcommittee has made no progress on the buffer zone issue which stumped the full five-man truce teams three weeks.

Air Force Maj. Gen. L. C. Craigie replaced Rear Adm. Arleigh Burke for the second time on the two-man allied subcommittee for Wednesday's two-hour ten-minute meeting.

Accompanied Joy

Craigie, with South Korean Maj. Gen. Paik Sun Yup, a member of the full UN delegation, had accompanied Joy to Tokyo for the talk with Ridgway.

Joy, for the moment, withheld his formal reply to the two latest accusations that UN forces violated the neutrality agreement.

North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il, head of the Red delegation, rejected Joy's preliminary reply on one protest.

That involved an incident in which a Chinese patrol was ambushed in the neutral zone and

Senate House and Museum Visitors Top 1950 Figures

Visitors this year at the Senate House and Senate House Museum are well above the 1950 record, according to figures estimated by Mrs. Mary Black Terwilliger, Senate House Museum, and Miss Katherine Millard, Senate House. Both buildings, which are daily drawing-cards for tourists, county residents and native Kingstonians have their heaviest traffic during the two summer vacation months of July and August.

During July last year 1,393 persons visited the Senate House, a drop of 13 visitors since the preceding year. This July 1,866 persons found their way through Abraham Van Gaasbeek's home where the state's first duly elected senate convened for its first session on the morning of September 10, 1777. The 473 person increase at the Senate House is more than matched at the museum. Last July the museum was host to 1,289 persons. This year 1,922, a 633-person increase, visited there.

To date, this month promises to tell the same story. During 1950, visitors at the museum and Senate House, respectively, were 1,779 and 1,986. This year, to date 1,611 persons have already visited the Senate house, and 1,709 the museum.

Guest books at both historical shrines prove that patrons come from all over the country, and perhaps, all over the world. Under

The tentative vote was the first taken by the senators in their rewriting of the House-passed $7,200,000,000 measure.

It bore out advance predictions of committee members that the Senate would whittle down the House figure rather than increase it toward the $10,000,000,000 asked by President Truman to help balance the budget and hold down inflationary pressures.

The finance committee formula would put an added defense tax on that portion of incomes now left after the individual has paid his taxes.

Plan of Operation

The tentatively-adopted formula would work this way:

First the taxpayer computes his tax under existing law. Then he subtracts the amount of that tax from his surtax net income, which is his income after exemptions and deductions. Then he pays as a defense tax three per cent of what is left up to $2,000 and four per cent of the part above $2,000.

The House had approved a simpler formula: Each taxpayer would add 12½ per cent to the amount of tax he pays now.

An unofficial computation indicated the Senate plan would mean a total income tax of $53,719 on an individual with $100,000 net income compared with $58,401 in the House bill and $51,912 at present. Thus he would be $4,682 better off than under the House measure.

Most Voting in Primary Quiet; Marbletown Contest

The storm center at Tuesday's primary election settled in the town of Marbletown. In other sections of the county and in the City of Kingston primary day was calm and quiet with no contests and the previously designated candidates were named.

In Kingston it was Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk and Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly re-named by the Republican voters with Raymond A. McAndrew nominated for mayor and Fred C. Harder nominated for alderman-at-large on the Democratic and Liberal parties tickets.

County officials who were named were Harry D. Sutton as Republican candidate for county clerk, Fred Dusing as Democratic candidate for county clerk and Ernest A. Kelly as Republican candidate for coroner. The Democratic party did not nominate for coroner.

In the first district of the town of Marbletown, High Falls district, there was a record vote cast. This record vote was not due to any contest but to the interest which Republican Committeeman Jack Smith displayed in getting out the voters of his party.

In the second district of Marbletown a write-in campaign on the part of Democratic voters, defeated J. Clifford Cole, regularly named candidate for Democratic committeeman, and swept Leon Guillon into the race by a 12 to 5 vote. Cole and Gordon Eckert were the two whose names appeared on the ballot.

There was also a write-in campaign in the fourth district of

Truckers Will Get Help on Filling Road Use Papers

Applications for highway use permits and plates will be available for truckers starting next week, Acting Mayor Joseph Kelly said today and advised that assistance would be given in filling them out.

Kelly said a representative of the Truck Mileage Tax Bureau will be at the Ulster county court house on Friday, Aug. 31, from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. to help applicants.

Macy Loses Fight To Retain Control Of Suffolk Party

Decisive Margin Ends 25-Year Long Island Chairmanship for Dewey Foe

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—Former Congressman W. Kingsland Macy —a foe of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and a friend of Senator Robert A. Taft—was on his way out today as the Republican chairman in Suffolk county.

Incomplete and unofficial returns from yesterday's New York state primary election showed Macy's 25-year reign in eastern Long Island had been ended by a decisive margin for his Dewey-backed opponents.

The bitter Suffolk fight highlighted a lack-luster primary with only one major contest anywhere in the state—Carmine De Sapio's apparently successful struggle to hold control of Democratic Tammany Hall against the opposition of New York's Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri.

De Sapio's machine held a 13-3 lead in incomplete returns over the city-hall backed insurgent forces of Robert B. Blaikie. Tammany is the Democratic organization in New York county (Manhattan).

Elsewhere in the state, there were only mayoralty contests that attracted little interest from the voters.

The Macy battle in Suffolk brought out voters in near presidential-year numbers.

Dewey Principal Target

Macy made Dewey a chief target of his campaign, while announcing that if he won he would support Taft for the presidential nomination.

R. Ford Hughes, leader of the anti-Macy forces, claimed victory last night only a few hours after the polls closed.

At that time, Hughes held a five-to-one lead in his fight to run again for county clerk against the opposition of E. Conway Plummer, a Macy man.

Outdoes Snorkel

Atom-Powered Craft to Have Speed Twice Present Rate

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP)—The navy has let a contract for the first atomic-powered submarine—a craft described by a congressional authority as having "immense military implications."

Announcing yesterday the award of a contract to the Electric Boat Company of Groton, Conn., the navy gave no details. Nor would officials elaborate on the 26-word announcement.

But semi-official sources have said an atomic-powered submarine would have a vast underwater range, and speculation as to its possible speed has ranged as high as 50 to 60 knots (about 65 miles an hour)—more than twice that of conventional undersea craft.

The navy's announcement, first open step into an atomic powered future, came somewhat earlier than the time which had previously been guardedly expressed.

In March the navy hoped to start its first nuclear-powered submarine by the end of this year. Yesterday's announcement indicated an approaching solution of major problems in the way of ship propulsion by controlled splitting of atoms—done in devices the scientists call reactors.

Larger Vessel

The craft to be constructed at Groton, it is believed, will be a 2,500-ton vessel, somewhat larger than the navy's present fleet submarines.

Neither the navy nor the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) is likely to give any hints about its performance—assuming it is successful—until it has met its real test on and under the seas.

But Chairman McMahon (D.-Conn.) of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee has said the project has "immense military implications."

And Vice Admiral Charles A. Lockwood, retired officer who commanded U. S. sub forces in the Pacific in World War 2, has predicted it would "outrun, outfight and outmaneuver the most advanced Snorkel types that Russia is building behind the Iron Curtain or is likely to build."

Answer to Snorkel

In an article in the Saturday Evening Post several months ago, Lockwood called the prospective craft "the answer to the Russian Snorkel" sub—a craft fitted with a device which permits it to cruise underwater for long periods. The U. S. also has Snorkel-equipped subs.

Lockwood said engineers had estimated atomic submarines could cruise at 25 to 30 knots, but Senator Magnuson (D.-Wash.) recently said navy men had told him 50 to 60 knots on the surface would not be "out of the ordinary." The most modern subs in use today can do underwater speeds of about 20 knots.

The best estimate is that the craft may be tested perhaps two years from now, although recent progress reports from the AEC's

Attack Sub Launched

The U.S.S. Trout, third of a new class of six fast attack submarines being built for the Navy, is launched at Groton, Conn., Aug. 21. The 1,600-ton craft is designed to travel at greater speed underwater than on the surface. The Trout was sponsored by Mrs. Mary Crane Clark, widow of Lt. Comdr. Albert H. Clark, who was lost when an earlier Trout went down during action off the China coast in 1944.

Officials Accuse Reds of Acting With Bad Faith

Japanese Think Russia Will Sign

MacArthur Spurns Peace Parley Bid

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur is reported to have turned down a government invitation to address the Japanese peace treaty conference on the ground it might put him in the light of representing the Truman administration.

An aide in New York quoted MacArthur as saying he would not attend the conference opened in San Francisco Sept. 4 "short of a direct invitation" by the conference itself.

A Washington official, declining to be quoted by name, said President Truman had approved a U. S. government invitation to MacArthur to speak during the time alloted this country but MacArthur had declined. The general's aide, Col. Lawrence Bunker, said MacArthur had received no invitation.

Strong Bid Seen for Inclusion of U. S. Date to Leave

Tokyo, Aug. 22 (AP)—There is a growing belief in this country that Russia will do the unexpected and sign the Japanese peace treaty in San Francisco next month.

Reliable, if unofficial, Japanese circles express the view that the Russians will sign after putting up a strong fight for inclusion of one major provision.

They say the Reds will agree to keeping an American military establishment in Japan—but will demand a definite date for departure. They are opposed to a unilateral treaty between Japan and the United States.

This view was expressed despite last night's threats from the Chinese Reds' Peiping radio that Japan's acceptance of a peace treaty not approved by both Red China and Russia would be considered an act of war.

Not Invited

Red China wasn't invited to the peace treaty conference. Soviet Russia accepted after considerable delay.

The feeling around Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's Allied headquarters had been that the Soviet delegates enroute to San Francisco are carrying brief cases loaded with monkey wrenches.

But Japanese sources predict the Russians will sign the treaty if they can thus prevent a separate treaty between the U. S. and Japan.

The present plan is for the United States and Japan to sign a unilateral treaty as soon as the ink is dry on the treaty at San Francisco.

This unilateral treaty would provide for the stationing of American troops—between two and four divisions of ground troops plus an air force and a navy—in Japan until this country is able to defend herself.

Russia is believed willing to sign if the provisions of the military establishment are placed in the treaty and a date set for the last American soldier to leave Japan.

Tampico Awaits Hurricane Moving Toward Mexico

Weather Officials Unable to Predict Direction Storm Will Take; City Tense

Tampico, Mexico, Aug. 22 (AP)—This city's 100,000 inhabitants faced again today the threat of a "dangerous" hurricane hovering offshore.

While experts tried to figure where the storm would strike, the Tampico people laid in supplies of food and strengthened their houses for the big blow.

The plan to bring inhabitants of the low-lying, lightly built outer suburbs into the center of the city was delayed until the storm's course is known. Police said about 600 of the more nervous ones came voluntarily to refugee centers set up in school houses on the hill in the centre of town. Farmers came into the city to seek shelter.

The newspaper El Mundo estimated "several thousand" residents of the outlying districts had spent the night on high ground, some in the refugee centers and some with friends.

Heavy Rain Falls

A heavy rain was falling as day broke and a fresh breeze was blowing.

Early today the U. S. Weather Bureau at New Orleans said the storm—after remaining almost stationary several hours—was beginning to move slowly towards Tampico.

Last night's advisories had predicted the swirling winds, which killed 155 persons in devastated Jamaica, would hit this port of 100,000 population and nearby rich Mexican oil fields before noon today.

A weather plane is expected to fly over the storm area later this morning in an attempt to plot its

Willoughby Says Red Spies Active

Network Is Busy in U. S. Same as It Worked in Japan, He Says

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, former army intelligence chief in the Far East, said today he believes the same kind of Communist spying and intrigue disclosed in Japan is going on now in the United States.

Willoughby testified before the House Un-American Activities Committee about the famous "Sorge Ring," a Soviet spy network which reached into high up Japanese government circles.

Deadlock Is Stalled at 6th Session

Sources Say UN Stand Is Unaltered; Reds Called Obdurate

Munsan Korea, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Allies accused the Communists today of making "a universal symbol of bad faith" out of Kaesong, site of Korean war truce talks.

The charge was broadcast after a shirt-sleeved subcommittee held its sixth session in Kaesong without sign of breaking the deadlock over where to draw an armistice line across Korea.

The subcommittee scheduled another try for Thursday.

Armistice negotiations were complicated by a dispute over latest Red charges that United Nations forces violated the Kaesong neutrality zone.

The "Voice of the United Nations Command," broadcast from Tokyo to Korea, said the "Communist charges border on the ridiculous."

The broadcast asked:

"Why are the United Nations delegates assigned to an armistice mission constantly forced to divert their attention to the question of armed personnel in the conference area."

History Is Traced

The broadcast traced the history of incidents within the neutral zone and answered its own question:

"It is now quite obvious that Kaesong was picked (by the Communists as a negotiating site) in order to intimidate the UNC (United Nations Command) delegates by a show of force.

"That failing, the conferences could be stalemated with a series of side issues blocking the main discussions."

There was no suggestion from any quarter that progress had been made toward settling the main issue.

Both sides were depicted as still holding out for their original demands on where to create a buffer zone. The UN wants it along the battle line; the Reds along the 38th Parallel. Most of the front is north of 38.

No New Instructions

It was authoritatively reported that Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief UN delegate, received no new instructions from UN Commander Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway during a flying visit to Tokyo. Joy returned to Munsan Tuesday.

Responsible quarters said the UN position remained unchanged.

A release from UN command advance headquarters pictured the Reds as "obdurate in their politically tainted demands" and "inscrutable in presenting them." It said the Communists were "immune" to the "military logic" of the allied command.

The statement appeared to support the belief the subcommittee has made no progress on the buffer zone issue which stumped the full five-man truce teams three weeks.

Air Force Maj. Gen. L. C. Craigie replaced Rear Adm. Arleigh Burke for the second time on the two-man allied subcommittee for Wednesday's two-hour ten-minute meeting.

Accompanied Joy

Craigie, with South Korean Maj. Gen. Paik Sun Yup, a member of the full UN delegation, had accompanied Joy to Tokyo for the talk with Ridgway.

Joy, for the moment, withheld his formal reply to the two latest accusations that UN forces violated the neutrality agreement.

North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il, head of the Red delegation, rejected Joy's preliminary reply on one protest.

That involved an incident in which a Chinese patrol was ambushed in the neutral zone and

Senate House and Museum Visitors Top 1950 Figures

Visitors this year at the Senate House and Senate House Museum are well above the 1950 record, according to figures estimated by Mrs. Mary Black Terwilliger, Senate House Museum, and Miss Katherine Millard, Senate House. Both buildings, which are daily drawing-cards for tourists, county residents and native Kingstonians have their heaviest traffic during the two summer vacation months of July and August.

During July last year 1,393 persons visited the Senate House, a drop of 13 visitors since the preceding year. This July 1,866 persons found their way through Abraham Van Gaasbeek's home where the state's first duly elected senate convened for its first session on the morning of September 10, 1777. The 473 person increase at the Senate House is more than matched at the museum. Last July the museum was host to 1,289 persons. This year 1,922, a 633-person increase, visited there.

To date, this month promises to tell the same story. During 1950, visitors at the museum and Senate House, respectively, were 1,779 and 1,986. This year, to date 1,611 persons have already visited the Senate house, and 1,709 the museum.

Guest books at both historical shrines prove that patrons come from all over the country, and perhaps, all over the world. Under

Oldest British Admiral

Singapore (AP)—The oldest Admiral afloat with the British Royal Navy is "looking for a place to make my home." Sir Ralph Crooke, 75, arrived here on the eve of his fifth retirement from the Royal Navy. Accompanied by Lady Crooke, Sir Ralph is making a round trip from Capetown to Japan and back to see "if the climate agrees with a retiring couple" in the Far East. An expert on gunnery and coastal defense, the admiral was called back to duty by the Admiralty four times since his initial retirement in 1928. He joined the British Navy in 1888 as a 14-year-old midshipman.

GUS HALL

The FBI has requested the assistance of alert citizens and law enforcement agencies in locating Gus Hall, National Secretary of the Communist Party, U.S.A. He is one of the Communist Party leaders who have been convicted for violation of the Smith Act and are presently fugitives from justice. A description of Hall is as follows:

Age, 40; born October 8, 1910, at Virginia, Minnesota; height, 5 feet 11 inches; weight, 220 pounds; eyes, blue-gray; hair, light brown; complexion, fair; build, heavy; race, white; nationality, American; scars and marks, small scar on left thumb, two pockmarks on left cheek, mole on right side of neck.

Hall sometimes wears a mustache. He leans forward at the shoulders when he walks, drinks large amounts of coffee and usually rests his elbows on the table holding the cup at lip level. He laughs easily and is described as being rather boisterous. He speaks in a husky tone but at a high pitched level. He seldom wears a hat. His eyes have a staring appearance. He likes to hunt, fish and play golf.

Any person having information which would assist in locating Gus Hall is requested to immediately notify the nearest FBI office. The phone number will appear on the first page of the phone directory.

Hooks a Husband

Crab Orchard Lake, Ill. (AP)—Leroy Walker of Murphysboro, Ill., taught his wife casting and she made a 160 pound catch. 'Twas Leroy. Twice in her first six casts Mrs. Walker took her husband's cap off. Her seventh hooked Walker in the neck. He pushed the hook through, exposed the barb and clipped it to pull it free.

Can't Split Stockpile Draw

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

I've had a lot of questions recently about the various forms of Canasta in which you draw two cards from the stockpile instead of the normal one card. Most of my correspondents want to know whether it's all right to take one card from the discard pile and the other card from the stockpile.

You cannot. The discard pile is one thing, and the stockpile is another thing, and "never the twain shall meet." If you want to take the discard pile, that's all you're entitled to. You take the full discard pile, whether it consists of one card or of umpteen cards. At that turn you have no right at all to any card of the stockpile.

If you decide to draw from the stock, you take two cards instead of the normal one. In that case you are not entitled to any cards from the discard pile.

In short, you vote one way or the other. You can't split the ticket.

Q—What happens if there's only one card left in the stockpile when your turn comes?

A—That's all you're entitled to. It counts as a full, normal draw.

Q—What happens if there's only one card left in the stockpile, and that one card is a red three?

A—You must put that red three down on the table, and the hand ends at once. You make no further meld or discard.

Q—What happens if there are two cards left in the stockpile, and one of them is a red three?

A—You put the red three down but do not replace it. (There is no way to do so.) Then you proceed as though you had made a normal draw. You may meld and discard, as usual.

Q—What happens if there are two cards left in the stockpile and both of them are red threes?

A—You put them both down on the table, and the hand ends at once. You make no further meld or discard.

This procedure is followed in two-hand Canasta and also in Samba. Some players like it in three-hand Canasta also. It applies to any game in which you draw two cards at a time from the stockpile.

Racketeers Sell Horsemeat

New York (AP)—The sale of about six tons of horsemeat in Bronx and Harlem restaurants and butcher shops as filet mignon and round steak was discovered with the arrest of two men. One prisoner, described a member of a ring operating in New York, Buffalo, Jersey City and Baltimore was caught with two hindquarters of horsemeat in the trunk of his sedan. He was trying to sell the 300 pounds to a butcher who called the police. The other was accused of operating for six months. The horsemeat was bought out of the state for 25 cents a pound and sold in New York for 50 cents a pound wholesale. The wholesale price for genuine filet mignon and round steak has been around 90 cents a pound.

ST. MARK'S APPEAL

St. Mark's A. M. E. Church on Foxhall avenue, which for over one hundred years has served the people of this community, is in need of financial assistance and is appealing to the general public and friends for money to pay off the mortgage and make badly needed repairs to the church building.

St. Mark's Church was brought together between the years 1846 and 1848. The original cornerstone was laid for the church in the year 1852. The certificate of incorporation was issued on the 20th day of December in 1852 by D. L. Decker, justice of the peace.

The African Methodist Episcopal Church of Rondout in Wiltwyck was reorganized in 1853 and the trustees chosen were William Hasbrouck, Anthony Elmendorf, Thomas Schermerhorn, secretary, John DuBois and David De Lily, chairmen.

The pastor, the Rev. Daniel L. Haynes in his appeal for aid states that the congregation is earnest but small and struggling, doing the best they can with what they have. Any amount you may give will be appreciated by the congregation.

Contributions may be sent to St. Mark's A. M. E. Church, 27 Jansen avenue, Kingston, N. Y. Rally Day is set for Sunday, September 2, 1951.

This is the first time the century-old church has appealed to the general public for financial aid. Here is an appeal which should receive the wholehearted support of the community.

The motorists who snort at the Sunday drivers should pause a moment and remember where they are and what day it is.

MECHANICAL COUGH

A cough, unpleasant, aggravating and sometimes downright uncomfortable as it may be, serves a purpose. The persistent or uncontrolled cough warns that something is wrong. The occasional cough helps to keep the throat and other air passages free from fluids and other irritating substances. When the urge to cough is felt, the body has a reason for it.

Probably no one realizes the usefulness of coughing quite so much as those who cannot cough. Chief among these are the inhabitants of iron lungs, the persons whose chests are paralyzed or so weakened that they cannot breathe by their own strength and must live within the mechanical contrivances which provide the motive power for breathing. Not being able to expel air with their own muscles, they are unable to cough. They must know indescribable discomfort at times when the compelling urge to cough is present but the ability to obey it is lacking.

Their plight has led to an improvement in the design of the iron lung, under development in the engineering department of New York University, which will enable the breathing device to cause a coughing movement of the chest, at the will of the patient.

It is hard for the physically whole person to imagine using a mechanical device to make a cough. It might be something to remember the next time one feels sorry for himself over a fit of coughing.

To the insensitive person the difference between comedy and tragedy may be whether he or his neighbor slips on a banana peel.

NO RETURN OF CAVALRY

The news that the Army intends to purchase 3,500 horses and 2,300 mules might give the impression that the old cavalry days are returning. The purchase will be made for the Turkish army, and the chances that the dashing, but obsolete, cavalryman will ride again in this country are slight.

The horses and mules that made up such a picturesque part of the old Army have long been dead or mustered out to graze. The tank and the truck, more prosaic but more practical, have replaced them. A few horses are still used on some military posts for mounted guards and for military funerals. Pack mules still perform occasional service, but the days of the mules which pulled artillery pieces and of the mule skinners who drove them are over. The Army is mechanized.

Yet the cavalry horses and the mules are not forgotten. They will always be a part of the Army's rich history.

PROTECTING THE MIDDLE CLASS

It is of importance that the income tax law which recognizes obsolescence in machinery and plant be revised to recognize obsolescence in human beings. In other words, those groups in our population who earn their living as professional men and women, such as doctors, lawyers, architects, writers, etc., and who are their own employers and cannot benefit by pension funds, need the right to set aside a share of their earnings, untaxed, for the day when the eye grows dim and the hand shaky.

But here comes Senator Irving Ives of New York with a proposal that is very bad. He is for setting aside untaxed savings, but he wants the last independent individuals in the country to be forced by advantage into the controlled proletariat which is so characteristic of our totalitarian-minded age.

Senator Ives's amendment to the 1951 internal revenue act would require such self-employed professional men to pay a portion of their earnings, not exceeding 10 per cent of their yearly net income and not more than $7,500, into a restricted retirement fund, organized by a professional group to which they belong. In a word, to protect his old age, a writer or composer or doctor would have to join a union of his profession.

Why should this be necessary. Suppose he does not wish to join such a union or to be bound by its policies, why should he feel that he would have to? Furthermore, the Ives amendment makes this a postponably taxable amount, which means that if he gets it at the age of 60, it can then be taxed when he may need it most.

What is required is not a postponed tax but an obsolescence arrangement, a reserve fund, similar to that allowed corporations for plant and equipment. For instance, if a man spends 10 years preparing for a professional service, a system should be devised to amortize that preparation. Doctors can amortize equipment, but what can a writer, who spends five years on a book, amortize? His knowledge, experience, wisdom?

This strikes me as one of those political acts which please the officers of various professional associations and gives to the politician whatever kudos that is worth. As many of these associations are situated in New York city, it is natural that some of them should have reached Senator Ives with this impractical and wrong proposal.

This is not merely a question of money. The middle class, the self-employed people are being squeezed to the wall by taxes and high prices. Most of them are so situated that it is difficult, if not impossible, for them to raise their fees. Doctors, for instance, are the last to be paid and often give as many hours to free service in hospitals and clinics as they do to their paying patients. They are having, as a group, a difficult time. We hear a good deal about the high cost of specialists, but very little of the general practitioner who still has to accept what he thinks the traffic will bear, which is often little enough.

The same is true of other professional and self-employed persons. The income tax law may produce the social revolution of forcing us all to work for corporations which have pension funds as the only way to save for our old age or to provide for our families after we die. Senator Ives's alternative is to join a professional union and to save by paying into a postponed taxable fund.

In the Communist manifesto, Karl Marx offers the income tax as one of the most effective means for destroying the capitalist system. How right he was in 1848 is so clear today when we witness how this tax is destroying the capacity to save and thereby to develop new reservoirs of capital. The income tax is not only being used to raise revenue, but to redistribute wealth and to eliminate the self-employed elements in the population. It can produce a corporate state such as Mussolini fixed upon Italy and from which that country has not yet recovered.

It is the elimination of the middle-class, with its capacity to develop intellectual leadership, that paves the way everywhere for such movements as communism, fascism, nazism, and so on. The resistance to these movements is strongest among self-employed, home-owning, thrifty, investing people. This has proved so true universally that any contradition is outside experience and must be attributed to some self-serving motive.

CANKER SORES OFTEN CAUSED BY ALLERGY

While many cases of canker sores are caused by various conditions of the mouth, the majority are caused by digestive disturbances and certain foods which seem to disagree with the patients. For some time, physicians have suspected that when foods disagree and canker sores appear, it is because the patient is sensitive or allergic to these foods.

In the question and answer department of The Journal of the American Medical Association, the cause of canker sores (apthous stomatitis) is asked by a physician who has used the usual methods of treatment including vaccinations, perborate mouth washes, the old-time method of borax and honey and others on an obstinate case, but the sores return at almost regular intervals. The answer follows:

"Apthous stomatitis always requires an allergic study. Most allergists agree that food allergy is the usual cause. Walnuts, spices, and fruits are to be suspected; other foods commonly responsible for allergy must be considered."

In his book "Elimination Diets and the Patient's Allergies," published by Lea and Febiger, Dr. Rowe, the noted food authority, prescribes his fruit-free elimination diet which leaves out all fruit, milk, eggs, wheat, chocolate, spices and certain other foods when canker sores and other stomach and intestinal allergies occur. Dr. Rowe points out that many physicians continue to treat canker sores by use of various ointments and other remedies instead of considering allergy as the most likely cause.

After doing without certain foods found to be causing the canker sores and keeping free of these sores for several weeks, the individual foods found to be causing the sores can be added to the diet, each being eaten daily for five to seven days before another is added. Then foods that cause the sores to return must again be omitted, usually for months before the patient can eat them without sores returning.

Canker sores occur from various drugs, toothpastes, powders and mouth washes.

"In almost all patients with apthous stomatitis, other mouth allergic reactions occur—distension of stomach, soreness under breast bone, full feeling, nausea, vomiting, pain or distress in abdomen, diarrheoa or constipation," writes Dr. Rowe.

The thought then is that canker sores in most cases are caused by foods to which the individual is allergic. By leaving suspected foods out of the diet, the food or foods at fault can usually be found.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

En route through Europe—Here are some spot observations gathered in various parts of Germany regarding one of the most important problems we face either in preventing war or winning a war after it gets started:

FRANKFORT — High Commissioner Jack McCloy, who is performing a remarkably fine job, is supposed to be the top man in Germany. He can and does set aside German court degrees. He can give or withhold American money, the life blood of Europe. He can order the American army to get out of this area or into that.

But when it comes to Russians escaped from behind the Iron Curtain, High Commissioner McCloy has as much influence with the American army as a Communist youth demonstrator in the east zone of Germany. The American military flouts his orders and thumbs its nose at McCloy much like the above Communist youth demonstrator at the West German police.

Perhaps because of this, the young socialite central intelligents agents of Gen. Bedell Smith and the amateur detectives in counter-intelligence do such a succesful job of alienating these Russian escapees that a lot of them decide Soviet Russia is better than the much-vaunted west and return home.

Just outside Frankfort is a Russian refugee camp. Its name, exact location, the number of Russians in it are supposed to be top secret. Not even McCloy knows how many Russians are in it. Nor has he ever visited it. If the army is ordered by McCloy to let anyone into this camp, the army says no.

In this camp at one time were about 2,000 Russian officers, who, disgusted with the Red army, had fled to the American zone of Germany anxious to help the U.S.A. But for months they simply sat, ate, and were interviewed by young counter intelligence agents—ate, sat, and were interviewed; ate, slept, and were interviewed.

Some were flown to the United States amid a flurry of excitement to report on conditions inside Russia to higher-ups in the Pentagon. Some were promised a haven in the U.S.A. In the end all were reduced to sitting, waiting, and going to seed—thanks to the sterility, inefficiency and lack of imagination of the army and Gen. Bedell Smith's amateur Dick Tracys.

Restless Red Army

Berlin — Across the invisible Iron Curtain in the east zone of Germany are about 300,000 members of the Red army. Living in Germany, a country with which they all too recently fought a bitter war, these troops long had to camp behind barbed wire.

This was not to keep the German population away from them, but to keep the Russians from deserting. Even so, many of them did desert—and more would desert if given encouragement or any kind of favorable treatment after their arrival in the west.

Obviously Moscow knows that these troops, living near the west and with no tight border control between east and west, constitute one of the potential weaknesses of the Red army. It also knows that the same thing is true in Austria where Russian troops also live near the west and temptation is strong to drift over and sample western glamor.

Undoubtedly Moscow also remembers what many Americans have forgotten—that it was not the kaiser's army that defeated the czar in 1917, but the shrewdness of the German general staff in sending Trotsky and Lenin in a sealed train from Switzerland into Russia. Moscow certainly should remember it, for that was what started the Bolshevik revolution and put Stalin where he is today.

And remembering it, Stalin certainly doesn't want it to happen—in reverse—again.

But the dapper young counter-intelligence agents and Gen. Bedell Smith's cloak-and-dagger dicks are either too young or too dense to remember it.

Kerensky Unites

Munich—Dining in Munich the other night I discussed some of these things with gnarled, spritely Alexander Kerensky, father of the first Russian revolution, who, if not upset by Lenin, Trotsky and the German general staff, might have saved Russia and the world the scourge of communism.

Kerensky had come to Munich to do a job that has needed doing for years—wrapping all the diverse Russian exile groups into one close-knit body in order to do to Stalin what Lenin and Trotsky once did to Kerensky.

In Munich with Kerensky were three other top Russians from the U.S.A. — Vladamir Zenzinov, Prof. I. Kurganov and Boris Nikolayevsky; also the League of Struggle for National Freedom, the National Labor Alliance, the Russian National Movement, the Union of Soldiers of the Liberation Movement, and the Union for the Liberation of the Peoples of Russia.

These groups and leaders are about as diverse as and difficult to get along with as some of the groups within the heterogeneous Union of Soviet Russia; and some, such as the Ukraines, want to solve all "New Russia's" problems even before the New Russia is created.

However, it seemed to me that this meeting of Russian factions in Munich is the most encouraging thing that has happened for a long time. For if and when they get together, they can do two things:

1. Beam propaganda into Russia that comes from Russians, not from Americans who have an ax to grind.

2. Work out a system for screening recent Russian escapees and getting them settled where they can help in the future; instead of going to seed in refugee camps under the amateur cross-examination of CIA and CIC boys.

Note—At present there is more cooperation between counter-intelligence and Russians of the Kerensky type than there is between McCloy and counter-intelligence.

Prediction—If the United States arranged with Brazil, Paraguay, Kenya, South Africa and other unpopulated countries to set up a system for handling Russian refugees, and if word of this were broadcast to the Red Army in East Germany and Austria, I predict that it would be impossible for the Kremlin to keep an army in these two vital countries. Such a refugee resettlement plan could be a point four program which might save the peace of the world.

Crabgrass Competitor

Washington (AP)—"U-3" Bermuda grass, a highly successful turf grass selected at Savannah, Ga., 13 years ago, can compete successfully with crabgrass in lawns, according to scientists in the U.S. Department of Agriculture. "U-3", which is the name used by scientists to identify the grass, must have a sunny location to thrive, but its resistance to cold has resulted in good turf at locations well-outside the recognized Bermuda belt. The men who have been testing the grass, expect it to have its greatest usefulness for lawns, athletic fields, playgrounds and golf courses in the crabgrass area.

U. S. Is Becoming More and More Involved in International Commitments

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 22 — Slowly but surely the United States is finding herself tied up in new commitments and new obligations around the globe.

Latest dispatches from London by the United Press indicate the understanding there that "the United States has recognized the importance of the Suez Canal area in western defense and was agreed to share with Britain the burden of middle-eastern security."

The statement is further made that the United States has accepted the British contention that the Suez Canal zone "is a vital bridge between Asia and Africa and the best site for bases to defend the oil-rich Middle East against possible aggression."

This means that, just as Great Britain in 1947 abdicated full responsibility for Turkey and Greece and the eastern Mediterranean and persuaded America to take over, so today the area of American interest has been extended to include the Suez Canal.

This is a new milestone in world history. For it shows either that the British empire is no longer capable alone of holding up her interests in the Middle East or that she would rather spend her money for the socialistic pursuits of a labor government.

In any event, the United States is about to provide $415,000,000 worth of military aid and $125,000,000 of economic aid to the Middle East out of the mutual security act fund.

The United States is to be a part of the Middle East Defense Council, soon to be established, which includes Britain, France, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand and Turkey.

Not long ago, when the late Admiral Sherman proposed that an American naval officer become the commander-in-chief of allied naval forces in the Mediterranean, there was a protest in the House of Commons. But subsequently, when it was pointed out that the heavily preponderant number of naval vessels now in the Mediterranean were those of the U. S. navy, there was a tapering off of the criticism. For the truth is Great Britain is not spending anywhere near the sums she used to spend on her navy and is relying to a large extent on the American navy to protect her dominions and colonies.

There is no doubt that, if American funds and American military forces are to be furnished in larger quantity than those of any other nation or combination of nations, then it is logical for American officers to be in command. But there's another and much more vital question. It is to what extent the policies of the United States must go along with the imperialistic programs of the British in the Middle East.

The Iranian dispute is a case in point. Iran not only wants to nationalize her oil properties but she wants to reserve the right to operate them. The United States, through W. Averell Harriman, has been trying to mediate in the dispute. But it looks now as if the prolonged negotiations have been forced to a crisis point by the refusal of the British to give up an indirect hold on the Iranian oil fields. While there is an apparent desire on the part of the London government to accept the "principle" of nationalization, the way it works out Iran feels it will not have freedom of action in managing the property it now owns. Britain may soon withdraw her technicians. Does this mean American technicians must keep out?

Another question is: Will the United States become involved in supporting British policies in the Near East where the tales of exploitation of the impoverished peoples have long caused concern here and have added fuel to the Communist inflammatory attacks?

American oil companies in the Near East have pursued a far better policy than the British and have been willing to share on a 50-50 basis their revenues with the native owners. There are ways, of course, to resolve these oil crises but, if the United States is to put large forces in the Middle East, it will correspondingly introduce the query as to whether America should not have something to say about the British policies that are provoking discord now in Iran and may lead to Communist invasions later on.

It is doubtful whether the full meaning of the casual way the United States is being eased into more and more global responsibilities is fully realized by the American people—or by Congress.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Aug. 21 — Martin Dies, who pioneered the fight against the Communist treachery and then suddenly dropped out of politics, has taken the case of the Marshall girls of Marshall, Tex., in their revolution against the Social Securiity tax on household and yard help. Dies is now running for the nomination in 1952 to succeed old Tom Connally in the Senate. He has made 221 speeches so far to a total of about a million people.

The Marshall girls already have put the treasury to terrible bother and considerable expense and have kicked up a favorable press. Nevertheless, the treasury has momentarily put them behind the eight ball by levying on their bank accounts for petty amounts. John Snyder, the secretary of the treasury, realized that Congress gave him an unenforceable law to administer so he didn't dare apply the criminal penalty but went after the money by attachment. Then the Marshall girls got hold of Dies, and Martin, who is just getting hot in his campaign, hurried over to East Texas to see them.

Now Mr. Dies is going to file an application with Ellis Campbell, Jr., of Dallas, the collector of internal revenue for the district, demanding the return of the money. He will also demand public hearings of the arguments which would give him a chance to sound off against the constitutionality of the Social Security tax on employers and the withholding process generally. Campbell undoubtedly will refuse to give up the money and Dies then will go into the District Court as the first step toward the Supreme Court. Campbell can deny a hearing on the application and just turn it down flat. After all, the treasury realizes that this law is a turkey and Campbell knows that Dies will be making political medicine for his own candidacy. Naturally, as an administration man, the collector can't be expected to oblige Mr. Dies.

But it will not take Dies long to get the case into court and there he can swing out into space and use the honorable court for a political rally.

"We will charge that the treasury has been guilty of embezzlement of all this money as trustee," Mr. Dies said, "because everybody knows there isn't a dollar in the Social Security fund because Roosevelt and Truman have just been squandering it as fast as it came in and then squandering the money they got by selling bonds to replace money they had squandered already. We will show that they squandered millions on potatoes and eggs and passed this addition to the original act to cover the household and yard help so as to get some more money to embezzle. And, of course, we are going to show that this law tries to compel these women to perform clerical work as tax collectors against their will, which is involuntary servitude, and without pay. That is unconstitutional and they know it. They are scared to death of this case because the whole withholding process will come down in a crash. They are never going to ask for the criminal penalties.

"Half of the housewives of Texas are just ignoring the law. They just don't bother to make out any returns. Nobody is trying to do anything to them because the treasury doesn't want to stir things up against the administration. Congress never did have any right to tell an employer, 'look here, you got to buy some insurance for that workman over there and you have got to buy it from a particular company that the president is interested in.' Congress would have just as much right to say 'you have got to buy a brand new automobile for that employe and you have got to buy it from a certain company.'

"We are going to subpoena the records of the collector's office and show that the law is practically a dead letter in Texas. They would have been glad to say nothing about the case of the ladies in Marshall but those ladies just wouldn't be still. They insisted on a test. Snyder tried to duck the test by confiscating

Questions — Answers

Q—Does part of the wheel of a moving train stand still for a moment as it touches the rails?

A—Yes, if there is no slippage. A point on the rim of the wheel is traveling at twice the train speed when it is on top, and is stationary for an instant when at the bottom in contact with the rail face. A point on the edge of the flange, which extends beyond the rim, is actually moving backwards for a brief period as it passes below the top of the rail.

Q—How acute is the hearing of the deer?

A—The ear of the deer is superior to that of the hunter in hearing faint sounds, largely because its outer ear is movable and can be turned to the best position to pick up a sound.

ST. MARK'S APPEAL

St. Mark's A. M. E. Church on Foxhall avenue, which for over one hundred years has served the people of this community, is in need of financial assistance and is appealing to the general public and friends for money to pay off the mortgage and make badly needed repairs to the church building.

St. Mark's Church was brought together between the years 1846 and 1848. The original cornerstone was laid for the church in the year 1852. The certificate of incorporation was issued on the 20th day of December in 1852 by D. L. Decker, justice of the peace.

The African Methodist Episcopal Church of Rondout in Wiltwyck was reorganized in 1853 and the trustees chosen were William Hasbrouck, Anthony Elmendorf, Thomas Schermerhorn, secretary, John DuBois and David De Lily, chairmen.

The pastor, the Rev. Daniel L. Haynes in his appeal for aid states that the congregation is earnest but small and struggling, doing the best they can with what they have. Any amount you may give will be appreciated by the congregation.

Contributions may be sent to St. Mark's A. M. E. Church, 27 Jansen avenue, Kingston, N. Y. Rally Day is set for Sunday, September 2, 1951.

This is the first time the century-old church has appealed to the general public for financial aid. Here is an appeal which should receive the wholehearted support of the community.

The motorists who snort at the Sunday drivers should pause a moment and remember where they are and what day it is.

MECHANICAL COUGH

A cough, unpleasant, aggravating and sometimes downright uncomfortable as it may be, serves a purpose. The persistent or uncontrolled cough warns that something is wrong. The occasional cough helps to keep the throat and other air passages free from fluids and other irritating substances. When the urge to cough is felt, the body has a reason for it.

Probably no one realizes the usefulness of coughing quite so much as those who cannot cough. Chief among these are the inhabitants of iron lungs, the persons whose chests are paralyzed or so weakened that they cannot breathe by their own strength and must live within the mechanical contrivances which provide the motive power for breathing. Not being able to expel air with their own muscles, they are unable to cough. They must know indescribable discomfort at times when the compelling urge to cough is present but the ability to obey it is lacking.

Their plight has led to an improvement in the design of the iron lung, under development in the engineering department of New York University, which will enable the breathing device to cause a coughing movement of the chest, at the will of the patient.

It is hard for the physically whole person to imagine using a mechanical device to make a cough. It might be something to remember the next time one feels sorry for himself over a fit of coughing.

To the insensitive person the difference between comedy and tragedy may be whether he or his neighbor slips on a banana peel.

NO RETURN OF CAVALRY

The news that the Army intends to purchase 3,500 horses and 2,300 mules might give the impression that the old cavalry days are returning. The purchase will be made for the Turkish army, and the chances that the dashing, but obsolete, cavalryman will ride again in this country are slight.

The horses and mules that made up such a picturesque part of the old Army have long been dead or mustered out to graze. The tank and the truck, more prosaic but more practical, have replaced them. A few horses are still used on some military posts for mounted guards and for military funerals. Pack mules still perform occasional service, but the days of the mules which pulled artillery pieces and of the mule skinners who drove them are over. The Army is mechanized.

Yet the cavalry horses and the mules are not forgotten. They will always be a part of the Army's rich history.

PROTECTING THE MIDDLE CLASS

It is of importance that the income tax law which recognizes obsolescence in machinery and plant be revised to recognize obsolescence in human beings. In other words, those groups in our population who earn their living as professional men and women, such as doctors, lawyers, architects, writers, etc., and who are their own employers and cannot benefit by pension funds, need the right to set aside a share of their earnings, untaxed, for the day when the eye grows dim and the hand shaky.

But here comes Senator Irving Ives of New York with a proposal that is very bad. He is for setting aside untaxed savings, but he wants the last independent individuals in the country to be forced by advantage into the controlled proletariat which is so characteristic of our totalitarian-minded age.

Senator Ives's amendment to the 1951 internal revenue act would require such self-employed professional men to pay a portion of their earnings, not exceeding 10 per cent of their yearly net income and not more than $7,500, into a restricted retirement fund, organized by a professional group to which they belong. In a word, to protect his old age, a writer or composer or doctor would have to join a union of his profession.

Why should this be necessary. Suppose he does not wish to join such a union or to be bound by its policies, why should he feel that he would have to? Furthermore, the Ives amendment makes this a postponably taxable amount, which means that if he gets it at the age of 60, it can then be taxed when he may need it most.

What is required is not a postponed tax but an obsolescence arrangement, a reserve fund, similar to that allowed corporations for plant and equipment. For instance, if a man spends 10 years preparing for a professional service, a system should be devised to amortize that preparation. Doctors can amortize equipment, but what can a writer, who spends five years on a book, amortize? His knowledge, experience, wisdom?

This strikes me as one of those political acts which please the officers of various professional associations and gives to the politician whatever kudos that is worth. As many of these associations are situated in New York city, it is natural that some of them should have reached Senator Ives with this impractical and wrong proposal.

This is not merely a question of money. The middle class, the self-employed people are being squeezed to the wall by taxes and high prices. Most of them are so situated that it is difficult, if not impossible, for them to raise their fees. Doctors, for instance, are the last to be paid and often give as many hours to free service in hospitals and clinics as they do to their paying patients. They are having, as a group, a difficult time. We hear a good deal about the high cost of specialists, but very little of the general practitioner who still has to accept what he thinks the traffic will bear, which is often little enough.

The same is true of other professional and self-employed persons. The income tax law may produce the social revolution of forcing us all to work for corporations which have pension funds as the only way to save for our old age or to provide for our families after we die. Senator Ives's alternative is to join a professional union and to save by paying into a postponed taxable fund.

In the Communist manifesto, Karl Marx offers the income tax as one of the most effective means for destroying the capitalist system. How right he was in 1848 is so clear today when we witness how this tax is destroying the capacity to save and thereby to develop new reservoirs of capital. The income tax is not only being used to raise revenue, but to redistribute wealth and to eliminate the self-employed elements in the population. It can produce a corporate state such as Mussolini fixed upon Italy and from which that country has not yet recovered.

It is the elimination of the middle-class, with its capacity to develop intellectual leadership, that paves the way everywhere for such movements as communism, fascism, nazism, and so on. The resistance to these movements is strongest among self-employed, home-owning, thrifty, investing people. This has proved so true universally that any contradition is outside experience and must be attributed to some self-serving motive.

CANKER SORES OFTEN CAUSED BY ALLERGY

While many cases of canker sores are caused by various conditions of the mouth, the majority are caused by digestive disturbances and certain foods which seem to disagree with the patients. For some time, physicians have suspected that when foods disagree and canker sores appear, it is because the patient is sensitive or allergic to these foods.

In the question and answer department of The Journal of the American Medical Association, the cause of canker sores (apthous stomatitis) is asked by a physician who has used the usual methods of treatment including vaccinations, perborate mouth washes, the old-time method of borax and honey and others on an obstinate case, but the sores return at almost regular intervals. The answer follows:

"Apthous stomatitis always requires an allergic study. Most allergists agree that food allergy is the usual cause. Walnuts, spices, and fruits are to be suspected; other foods commonly responsible for allergy must be considered."

In his book "Elimination Diets and the Patient's Allergies," published by Lea and Febiger, Dr. Rowe, the noted food authority, prescribes his fruit-free elimination diet which leaves out all fruit, milk, eggs, wheat, chocolate, spices and certain other foods when canker sores and other stomach and intestinal allergies occur. Dr. Rowe points out that many physicians continue to treat canker sores by use of various ointments and other remedies instead of considering allergy as the most likely cause.

After doing without certain foods found to be causing the canker sores and keeping free of these sores for several weeks, the individual foods found to be causing the sores can be added to the diet, each being eaten daily for five to seven days before another is added. Then foods that cause the sores to return must again be omitted, usually for months before the patient can eat them without sores returning.

Canker sores occur from various drugs, toothpastes, powders and mouth washes.

"In almost all patients with apthous stomatitis, other mouth allergic reactions occur—distension of stomach, soreness under breast bone, full feeling, nausea, vomiting, pain or distress in abdomen, diarrheoa or constipation," writes Dr. Rowe.

The thought then is that canker sores in most cases are caused by foods to which the individual is allergic. By leaving suspected foods out of the diet, the food or foods at fault can usually be found.

'Doesn't Look Bad at All'

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

En route through Europe—Here are some spot observations gathered in various parts of Germany regarding one of the most important problems we face either in preventing war or winning a war after it gets started:

FRANKFORT — High Commissioner Jack McCloy, who is performing a remarkably fine job, is supposed to be the top man in Germany. He can and does set aside German court degrees. He can give or withhold American money, the life blood of Europe. He can order the American army to get out of this area or into that.

But when it comes to Russians escaped from behind the Iron Curtain, High Commissioner McCloy has as much influence with the American army as a Communist youth demonstrator in the east zone of Germany. The American military flouts his orders and thumbs its nose at McCloy much like the above Communist youth demonstrator at the West German police.

Perhaps because of this, the young socialite central intelligents agents of Gen. Bedell Smith and the amateur detectives in counter-intelligence do such a succesful job of alienating these Russian escapees that a lot of them decide Soviet Russia is better than the much-vaunted west and return home.

Just outside Frankfort is a Russian refugee camp. Its name, exact location, the number of Russians in it are supposed to be top secret. Not even McCloy knows how many Russians are in it. Nor has he ever visited it. If the army is ordered by McCloy to let anyone into this camp, the army says no.

In this camp at one time were about 2,000 Russian officers, who, disgusted with the Red army, had fled to the American zone of Germany anxious to help the U.S.A. But for months they simply sat, ate, and were interviewed by young counter intelligence agents—ate, sat, and were interviewed; ate, slept, and were interviewed.

Some were flown to the United States amid a flurry of excitement to report on conditions inside Russia to higher-ups in the Pentagon. Some were promised a haven in the U.S.A. In the end all were reduced to sitting, waiting, and going to seed—thanks to the sterility, inefficiency and lack of imagination of the army and Gen. Bedell Smith's amateur Dick Tracys.

Restless Red Army

Berlin — Across the invisible Iron Curtain in the east zone of Germany are about 300,000 members of the Red army. Living in Germany, a country with which they all too recently fought a bitter war, these troops long had to camp behind barbed wire.

This was not to keep the German population away from them, but to keep the Russians from deserting. Even so, many of them did desert—and more would desert if given encouragement or any kind of favorable treatment after their arrival in the west.

Obviously Moscow knows that these troops, living near the west and with no tight border control between east and west, constitute one of the potential weaknesses of the Red army. It also knows that the same thing is true in Austria where Russian troops also live near the west and temptation is strong to drift over and sample western glamor.

Undoubtedly Moscow also remembers what many Americans have forgotten—that it was not the kaiser's army that defeated the czar in 1917, but the shrewdness of the German general staff in sending Trotsky and Lenin in a sealed train from Switzerland into Russia. Moscow certainly should remember it, for that was what started the Bolshevik revolution and put Stalin where he is today.

And remembering it, Stalin certainly doesn't want it to happen—in reverse—again.

But the dapper young counter-intelligence agents and Gen. Bedell Smith's cloak-and-dagger dicks are either too young or too dense to remember it.

Kerensky Unites

Munich—Dining in Munich the other night I discussed some of these things with gnarled, spritely Alexander Kerensky, father of the first Russian revolution, who, if not upset by Lenin, Trotsky and the German general staff, might have saved Russia and the world the scourge of communism.

Kerensky had come to Munich to do a job that has needed doing for years—wrapping all the diverse Russian exile groups into one close-knit body in order to do to Stalin what Lenin and Trotsky once did to Kerensky.

In Munich with Kerensky were three other top Russians from the U.S.A.—Vladamir Zenzinov, Prof. I. Kurganov and Boris Nikolayevsky; also the League of Struggle for National Freedom, the National Labor Alliance, the Russian National Movement, the Union of Soldiers of the Liberation Movement, and the Union for the Liberation of the Peoples of Russia.

These groups and leaders are about as diverse as and difficult to get along with as some of the groups within the heterogeneous Union of Soviet Russia; and some, such as the Ukraines, want to solve all "New Russia's" problems even before the New Russia is created.

However, it seemed to me that this meeting of Russian factions in Munich is the most encouraging thing that has happened for a long time. For if and when they get together, they can do two things:

1. Beam propaganda into Russia that comes from Russians, not from Americans who have an ax to grind.

2. Work out a system for screening recent Russian escapees and getting them settled where they can help in the future; instead of going to seed in refugee camps under the amateur cross-examination of CIA and CIC boys.

Note—At present there is more cooperation between counter-intelligence and Russians of the Kerensky type than there is between McCloy and counter-intelligence.

Prediction—If the United States arranged with Brazil, Paraguay, Kenya, South Africa and other unpopulated countries to set up a system for handling Russian refugees, and if word of this were broadcast to the Red Army in East Germany and Austria, I predict that it would be impossible for the Kremlin to keep an army in these two vital countries. Such a refugee resettlement plan could be a point four program which might save the peace of the world.

Britain may soon withdraw her technicians. Does this mean American technicians must keep out?

Another question is: Will the United States become involved in supporting British policies in the Near East where the tales of exploitation of the impoverished peoples have long caused concern here and have added fuel to the Communist inflammatory attacks?

American oil companies in the Near East have pursued a far better policy than the British and have been willing to share on a 50-50 basis their revenues with the native owners. There are ways, of course, to resolve these oil crises but, if the United States is to put large forces in the Middle East, it will correspondingly introduce the query as to whether America should not have something to say about the British policies that are provoking discord now in Iran and may lead to Communist invasions later on.

It is doubtful whether the full meaning of the casual way the United States is being eased into more and more global responsibilities is fully realized by the American people—or by Congress.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Aug. 21 — Martin Dies, who pioneered the fight against the Communist treachery and then suddenly dropped out of politics, has taken the case of the Marshall girls of Marshall, Tex., in their revolution against the Social Securiity tax on household and yard help. Dies is now running for the nomination in 1952 to succeed old Tom Connally in the Senate. He has made 221 speeches so far to a total of about a million people.

The Marshall girls already have put the treasury to terrible bother and considerable expense and have kicked up a favorable press. Nevertheless, the treasury has momentarily put them behind the eight ball by levying on their bank accounts for petty amounts. John Snyder, the secretary of the treasury, realized that Congress gave him an unenforceable law to administer so he didn't dare apply the criminal penalty but went after the money by attachment. Then the Marshall girls got hold of Dies, and Martin, who is just getting hot in his campaign, hurried over to East Texas to see them.

Now Mr. Dies is going to file an application with Ellis Campbell, Jr., of Dallas, the collector of internal revenue for the district, demanding the return of the money. He will also demand public hearings of the arguments which would give him a chance to sound off against the constitutionality of the Social Security tax on employers and the withholding process generally. Campbell undoubtedly will refuse to give up the money and Dies then will go into the District Court as the first step toward the Supreme Court. Campbell can deny a hearing on the application and just turn it down flat. After all, the treasury realizes that this law is a turkey and Campbell knows that Dies will be making political medicine for his own candidacy. Naturally, as an administration man, the collector can't be expected to oblige Mr. Dies.

But it will not take Dies long to get the case into court and there he can swing out into space and use the honorable court for a political rally.

"We will charge that the treasury has been guilty of embezzlement of all this money as trustee," Mr. Dies said, "because everybody knows there isn't a dollar in the Social Security fund because Roosevelt and Truman have just been squandering it as fast as it came in and then squandering the money they got by selling bonds to replace money they had squandered already. We will show that they squandered millions on potatoes and eggs and passed this addition to the original act to cover the household and yard help so as to get some more money to embezzle. And, of course, we are going to show that this law tries to compel these women to perform clerical work as tax collectors against their will, which is involuntary servitude, and without pay. That is unconstitutional and they know it. They are scared to death of this case because the whole withholding process will come down in a crash. They are never going to ask for the criminal penalties.

"Half of the housewives of Texas are just ignoring the law. They just don't bother to make out any returns. Nobody is trying to do anything to them because the treasury doesn't want to stir things up against the administration. Congress never did have any right to tell an employer, 'look here, you got to buy some insurance for that workman over there and you have got to buy it from a particular company that the president is interested in.' Congress would have just as much right to say 'you have got to buy a brand new automobile for that employe and you have got to buy it from a certain company.'

"We are going to subpoena the records of the collector's office and show that the law is practically a dead letter in Texas. They would have been glad to say nothing about the case of the ladies in Marshall but those ladies just wouldn't be still. They insisted on a test. Snyder tried to duck the test by confiscating

Questions — Answers

Q—Does part of the wheel of a moving train stand still for a moment as it touches the rails?

A—Yes, if there is no slippage. A point on the rim of the wheel is traveling at twice the train speed when it is on top, and is stationary for an instant when at the bottom in contact with the rail face. A point on the edge of the flange, which extends beyond the rim, is actually moving backwards for a brief period as it passes below the top of the rail.

Q—Under how many Presidents was Andrew Mellon Secretary of the Treasury?

A—Three — Harding, Coolidge and Hoover.

Q—How acute is the hearing of the deer?

A—The ear of the deer is superior to that of the hunter in hearing faint sounds, largely because its outer ear is movable and can be turned to the best position to pick up a sound.

National Officer To Address Moose Sunday Afternoon

JAMES M. BALLARD

A class of candidates will be initiated at the West Chestnut street temple of Kingston Lodge, 970 Loyal Order of Moose, Sunday at 3 p. m., during a program featuring a message by the Supreme Governor James M. Ballard of Seattle, Wash.

The event will also be of a social nature with a program of entertainment and buffet luncheon for local Moose and delegates from lodges in Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Peekskill, Walden, Ossining and Hudson.

In the evening there will be a meeting for the fifth district presided over by Anthony Erena, state vice president of the area, who also holds the secretaryship of Kingston Lodge.

Gustav Scharpf is chairman of the social portion of the program, and Governor Edward Cline will preside for the fraternal part of the day's events.

The initiatory degree will be conferred by the ritualistic team from Poughkeepsie Lodge, composed of Past Governor Henry Prinz, Governor Leonard Persons, Junior Governor Albert Romano, Prelate Owen Killmer, Orator Thomas Marinucci and Sergeant-at-Arms Charles Waldron. The vocalist and pianist will accompany the group.

Supreme Governor Ballard, an attorney by profession, with 28 years of Moose membership to his credit, is an interesting speaker and his message Sunday will be important to all Moose.

He was elected to the office of supreme governor at the 63rd annual international convention of the Loyal Order of Moose held in Buffalo.

For 18 years he has served as treasurer of Seattle Lodge, No. 211, which he joined in 1923.

In 1941, the Supreme Council, Loyal Order of Moose, governing body of the fraternity, chose him by unanimous action as a member of that group.

A portion of Sunday's events will be held in the outdoor garden of the temple, the former Coykendall estate on West Chestnut street.

their money." Two treasury agents recently spent a whole day serving 57 legal papers on two Marshall banks to seize petty amounts from each of 19 bank accounts. They drove a total of about 170 miles to do this and before that activity began there had been a squall of correspondence, and doubtless long-distance calls, too, between the Treasury in Washington, the Collector's Office in Dallas, and sub-offices in Tyler and Long View. And, of course, clerical work has been necessary, too, to fill out the papers. One desperate revolutionist, Mrs. Janie Pitts (all these married women use their own first names to emphasize the feminine character of their uprising) was annoyed when it appeared that the Treasury had snubbed her. But she was mollified when it turned out that the agents couldn't find her bank account at first because it was carried in a bank at a liddy, biddy ol' town called Elysian Fields. They duly tagged Mizz Janie Pitts for $3.47 and she brightened up.

Four times a year all this must be repeated, and if Mr. Dies is right about the disregard of the law all over the state, the collapse of the business is inevitable. If a million women disobey and take the pains to advertise their defiant disobediance the cost in man-power and money of enforcing it according to the Marshall (Tex.) plan will dramatize the most important public protest since the day of the bootlegger.

The Dallas News endorsed the course of the Marshall girls in these terms: "The courageous Marshall housewives who are risking their own security merit every assistance in making the attempt. No injustice is cured by being covered up. To the Marshall housewives, patriotically taking the brunt of the test, salute!"

The Marshall News-Messenger said: "Support for a small group of Marshall housewives is snowballing from all corners of the nation. There is evidence that they are receiving silent support from thousands who are simply ignoring the law and filing no report, neither serving as tax collector."

The Shreveport Times said: "The Marshall housewives deserve a lot of attention, a lot of praise, a lot of help. They are fighting in behalf of all housewives—of all taxpayers, in fact—all over the nation. More power to them!"

Registration Days Named for Pupils Of Kindergarten

Woodstock, Aug. 21—Parents planning to enter children in the Woodstock School kindergarten are requested to bring them and birth certificates to the school on one of the following days for registration: Mon., Tues., and Wed., Aug. 27, 28 and 29, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 12 noon, and 1 and 3 p. m.

In order to enter the kindergarten a pupil must be five years old on or before December 31. # Fitted Coat Comes Back for Fall

The fitted coat is back this autumn but the coat with easy fullness remains. Anthony Blotta's creamy cashmere coat (left) is casual, may be worn belted or unbelted. It has a convertible collar. Twilight gray wool (center) adapts itself to an Anthony Blotta fitted coat with tiered skirt and sparkling buttons. The full wrap coat by Seymour Fox (right) is in "sugar plum," a cyclamen pink. It has shawl collar, tuxedo front and great cuffs in black. Coat fullness is controlled, appearing at sides and back rather than the front.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

New York—(NEA) — The fitted coat has returned to us for Fall. Long shoved to the back of the closet by the pyramid, it looks entirely new for autumn. Yet, it isn't taking over the entire fashion stage; it shares the spotlight with the full coat.

And even the full coat has changed its ways for Fall. In place of the sweeping lines of the pyramid, there is gentle, controlled fullness. Most often, this means fullness placed at the sides in combination with a straight front and back. The coats that do have fullness at the back do not have the tremendous sweep of a year ago.

The return of the fitted coat makes good fashion sense. There is a new skirt fullness in daytime dresses this Fall. This means that there must be coats that fit well over such dresses. Biggest surprise about these new coats is that they look so handsome in the hairy, thick, fuzzy fabrics.

Anthony Blotta, whose Fall collection is both brilliant and wearable, does a fitted coat in twilight gray flannel. This coat is so slim that at first glance it appears to be a dress. With notched cuffs, narrow collar and rhinestone buttons to the neatly-belted waist, it has a full, tiered skirt. The lining is a flashing red silk.

This designer also does a casual coat in pale, creamy cashmere that's worn either belted or unbelted. Without the belt, it falls into lines of controlled fullness with a central back pleat. Further fullness is achieved through deep pleats at either side. A wide collar converts to standing or flat position.

The full coat, as represented in the collection of Seymour Fox, is in a shade that this designer calls "sugar plum." This is a cyclamen pink in a pretty fleece that wraps deeply. It has a shawl collar, tuxedo front and cuffs in black. Black buttons slant down the front, holding the lines of the coat smooth. The shoulder line is natural.

Community Planned

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—A self-contained garden community that will house thousands of workers for new defense industries in the Delaware river valley is planned by Levitt & Sons, Inc. It will be named Levittown, Pa. Plans call for the eventual construction of 16,000 homes.

Condensed milk first was produced in Connecticut in 1851.

Vogel Gets First Highway Permit

Albany, Aug. 22—The State of New York (Tuesday) issued the first highway use permit and mileage tax law which will go into effect next October 1.

First in line for the highway use permits and plates was an Albany carrier, John Vogel, Inc., of 11 Pruyn street.

The first permit and plate were numbered 100,001. The plate, orange numerals and border on a black background, must be attached to the vehicle for which it is issued and the permit must be carried in the vehicle.

After September 30, every vehicle which has a maximum gross weight (weight of vehicle plus weight of heaviest load it may carry) over 18,000 pounds must have a permit and plate in order legally to use the streets and highways of the state, under the new truck law. The tax commission has urged carriers to apply by September 10 in order to allow time for processing before October 1.

Up until today, the truck mileage tax bureau had received about 500 applications covering more than 2,000 vehicles. The bureau estimated 150,000 vehicles of 35,000 carriers would be affected. Permits cost $5 each.

Affected carriers will have to file monthly mileage tax returns, starting in November, paying a tax based on maximum gross weight of vehicles and the number of miles they are operated in New York state.

Miss Kleier was arrested in Hardy, Ark., Monday night on suspicion, Sheriff G. R. Goodwin said.

Goodwin added that she told him she had been traveling with two men who told her they had driven the get-away cars in the $1,500,000 robbery of Brinks, Inc., in Boston, Jan. 17, 1950. The robbery is unsolved.

No Room for 90 Cadets on Team, Notre Dame Says

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 22 (AP)—There's room under Notre Dame's Golden Dome for any or all of the 90 West Point cadets expelled recently—free if they can't pay—but there's no place for them on the Irish football field.

The Catholic university disclosed yesterday that an unidentified "very wealthy man" had offered to send any of the cadets through Notre Dame if they avoid varsity athletics and show financial need.

The man was termed a friend of young cadets and the university.

The Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, Notre Dame president, said the donor does not condone violations of the academy's honor code in connection with cribbing on examination.

Father Cavanaugh quoted the man as saying that "in the American tradition a man who makes a mistake should have a reasonable chance to rehabilitate himself."

The university president estimated the annual cost for each student at about $1,400.

The offer must be accepted by Sept. 1. It specifies that none of the cadets accepting may take part in Notre Dame athletics.

The 90 cadets included most of army's football team.

Federal Court Reverses Ruling On Remington

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—Federal indictments were returned yesterday against 24 alleged members of an international ring that dealt in narcotics and counterfeit money, with a net of $3,000,000 a year since 1949.

Seven other persons were indicted as members of a local narcotics gang.

A total of three narcotics indictments and a separate counterfeiting indictment were returned by a U. S. grand jury.

U. S. Attorney Irving H. Saypol said all but eight of the 31 persons named have been arrested.

An aid of Saypol said Joseph Orsini, 50, alleged head of the international ring, was named in two narcotics and the counterfeiting indictment.

Wanted by French

Authorities have said that Orsini is wanted by the French government to face charge of collaborating with the Germans during World War 2.

The narcotics-counterfeit combine was broken up last July 27 by federal agents.

One of the narcotics indictments named seven alleged members of a New York city gang which an assistant district attorney said distributed and sold large quantities of heroin here and in Buffalo and Cleveland.

Two of the seven were convicted last Friday by a federal jury on charges of sale and posession of heroin. The two—Isadore Russo, 31, and Nicholos Esposito, 29, both of Manhattan—are up for sentences of 15 years in prison and $15,000 fines.

Federal Writs Returned on 24

New York, Aug. 22 (AP) — The federal Court of Appeals reversed today the conviction of William W. Remington, former government economist, on charges of perjury in denying that he had ever been a member of the Communist party.

The court's decision, written by Chief Judge Thomas W. Swan, was unanimous. The case was returned to the district court for a new trial.

Remington, 33-year-old honor graduate of Dartmouth, was found guilty by a jury of seven women and five men last Feb. 7. Federal Judge Gregory F. Noonan imposed the maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $2,000 fine.

The reversal was based in large part on technical grounds. Judge Swan agreed with the defense that the definition of membership in the Communist party, contained in the charge to the jury, was too "vague and indefinite."

Concurring in the decision were former Chief Judge Learned Hand and Judge Augustus N. Hand.

Macy Loses Fight

was noted in contests to elect 420 GOP committeemen, who will vote on the new chairman within a fortnight.

Not Available

Neither Macy nor Plummer was available for comment.

In Manhattan, regular Tammany candidates won 13 district leadership contests and lost three, with five undecided.

Mayor Impellitteri's struggle with Tammany stems from last year's mayoralty election when the regular Democratic organization refused to back him. Impellitteri ran as an Independent and won.

Blaikie, faced with defeat, said the election will not decide the Tammany struggle. He said Manhattan Democratic leadership "is definitely in the hands" of Impellitteri—obviously a reference to patronage.

A big issue in the Macy battle was the "Hanley letter" written last year by the then Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley. He wrote to Macy that he was assured of paying off his debts if he ran for U. S. senator.

Hanley took the GOP senatorial nomination, leaving the gubernatorial field clear for Dewey to seek re-election. Hanley lost, Dewey won.

The letter "leaked" out and became a hot campaign matter then as it was in the primary. Macy's opponents accused him of giving the letter to the Democrats. Macy denied this.

Macy lost his congressional seat in the 1950 election, with the letter reportedly an important factor in his defeat.

Voted Committeemen

Suffolk voters yesterday did not vote specifically for or against Macy and Hughes, but rather for the 420 committeemen—two in each of the county's 215 districts—who were pledged to one or the other.

Hughes claimed he won two-thirds of the committeemen, including five of the six committee posts at stake in the districts in Macy's home community, Islip town.

Latest unofficial returns in Hughes' county clerk fight against pro-Macy Plummer gave Hughes 17,086 votes to 3,558.

There are 64,372 registered Republican voters in Suffolk.

Like the fight in Macy's former stronghold, the De Sapio-Blaikie bout in Manhattan did not involve direct election of a county organization leader.

Voters cast their ballots for committeemen, who later will name leaders in their districts. These leaders then will decide on who should direct Tammany, and yesterday's primary assured De Sapio a majority will be pledged to him.

Only Two Contests

In all of New York city, there were only two contests for public office. The one county-wide affair was in Richmond (Staten Island), where Sidney O. Simonson won the Republican district attorney nomination from organization designee, James A. Flood.

Simonson, an independent already endorsed by the Liberal party, won a 2,921 to 1,122 margin.

The other city contest was a 2,835 to 2,357 victory for pro-De Sapio Patrick S. Mason for the Democratic nomination to a municipal justiceship. His opponent, former assemblyman Meyer Alterman, was supported by the Blaikie group.

Both the Blaikie and De Sapio factions had accused each other of being tainted with the influence of big-time gambler Frank Costello.

In Buffalo, two councilmen, under indictment in a gambling probe, lost their bids to run for head of the common council. The two were Republican Russel M. Leech and Democrat Frank J. Glinski, defeated by former Mayor Bernard J. Dowd and Councilman Elmer F. Lux, respectively.

Interest Upstate

Chief interest upstate centered in a number of contested mayoralty primaries. Here are some results:

CORNING: Clement L. Murphy won the Republican nomination from Mayor Howard F. V. Cole, who ran on a write-in basis after Wesley W. Arroll withdrew from the race.

LITTLE FALLS: Joseph A. Santry won the Democratic nomination over Daniel V. Reardon.

MOUNT VERNON: Mayor William H. Hussey defeated Harold Ruscher to get the GOP nomination for his fourth term in a close 3,404 to 3,208 vote.

NIAGARA FALLS: Ernest W. Mirrington, Jr., won a four-way contest for the Republican nomination from Augustine B. Maloney, Earl Hilts and James Sandonato. The latter was unopposed as the Liberal choice.

LACKAWANNA: John J. Janiga was nominated for reelection on the Democratic ballot, defeating the organization-endorsed candidate, Joseph Kane.

OGDENSBURG: Democratic—Robert McDonald defeated Francis B. Burns.

GLOVERSVILLE: Republican—Robert B. Ramsey beat George W. Denton.

UTICA: Republican—Dr. Vito S. Lee beat P. McCormick Reilly.

HORNELL: Democratic—Francis Hogan won over Ernest G. Stewart.

OLEAN: Republican—William N. Davis defeated Alderman John S. Swan.

NEWBURGH: Republican—Mayor Herbert A. Warden beat Fred Slack and Gwendolyn Scott.

WATERTOWN: Non-partisan—John B. Harris and John H. Newman nominated in three-way battle.

Most of the results were known soon after the polls closed in New York city at 9 p. m. (EST) and in the rest of the state at 8 p. m. (EST).

Tabulators at Tammany Hall went home for the night without waiting to determine the outcome of undecided contests.

In Suffolk county, complete returns may not be known until Friday.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—Stocks drifted lower today in search of buying support in a quiet market.

Despite the mark-down in quotations, little ready buying enthusiasm was encountered. Sellers, however, weren't apparently in any hurry to sacrifice their equities at sharply reduced figures.

The drop at the most came to around $2 a share among leaders, and only a handful went that far. The bulk of the decline was limited to less than a dollar a share.

There were gains, here and there, but not many, and these were small with a couple of active exceptions.

The rails, steels, and motors seemed to take the burden of the decline along with some individual issues in rubbers, chemicals, and air lines.

Munger's Death Is Ruled Accidental

Benedict Munger, 70, of Marlborough, was killed instantly shortly before noon Tuesday when a "clam shell" shovel used by the J. J. Van Vliet & Son Company, concrete block concern, in unloading a car of cinders accidently picked up the aged workman who for some unaccountable reason had entered the compartment in the car which was being unloaded by a power shovel.

Coroner Arthur Chipp of Kerhonkson, after investigation with Sergeant L. Baker of the Highland state police barracks, stated the death was accidental. The body was turned over to the Tuthill Funeral Home in Marlborough.

At the time of the accident, Munger and James Van Vliet, Jr., 31, were engaged in unloading cinders from a railroad car. They had worked together at this work for some five years. Munger worked in the car and Van Vliet operated the power shovel. Coroner Chipp said it had been the custom for the two men to talk over the operation and this had been done Tuesday. The car which was being unloaded comprised five compartments, divided by braces. This made it necessary for Munger to guide the "clam shell" into the proper spot after the compartment had been partially unloaded.

Cleaned Out Compartments

Tuesday morning three of the compartments had been unloaded by the power equipment and, Coroner Chipp said, Munger had been instructed to clean out the three compartments while Van Vliet shoveled out the next compartment until it became necessary for Munger to guide the shovel past the braces.

Van Vliet told the investigators that he and Munger had discussed the plan while the shovel was shut down. Van Vliet was to get as much of the cinders unloaded from the fourth compartment as he could reach while Munger worked in the compartments already unloaded cleaning up the cinders at the bottom which could not be reached by the power equipment.

Coroner Chipp said Van Vliet told him he started his shovel and dropped the "clam shell" into the car. He sensed that something was wrong and when he brought the shovel up it contained the body of Munger. The shovel had taken hold of him about the chest and mid-portion of the body.

An autopsy showed Munger had sustained a broken back, crushed chest, fractures of the right arm, shoulder and wrist and had died instantly. Dr. Scott of Marlborough was called and pronounced the man dead. State police and Coroner Chipp were summoned. An ambulance had been summoned from St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh.

Coroner Chipp reported death was accidental and said it was not known why Munger had entered the compartment where the shovel was being used after an agreement that he was not to enter until the shovel operation had been completed and he was notified to assist in guiding the "clam shell" past the braces. The accident happened shortly after 11 a. m.

Parents Protest Closing of School; Travel to Albany

A group of residents of the 13th Ward went to Albany by bus today to present their objections to the proposed closing of School No. 1.

Residents of the school district objected to the local education board earlier this year. The board plans to close the Wilbur school and send its pupils to School No. 8 pending completion of the George Washington School which they will be expected to attend.

Arthur J. Laidlaw, superintendent of schools, and Clarence S. Rowland, president of the local education board, also made the trip to Albany today to present the stand of the local board.

Federal Court Reverses Ruling On Remington

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—Federal indictments were returned yesterday against 24 alleged members of an international ring that dealt in narcotics and counterfeit money, with a net of $3,000,000 a year since 1949.

Seven other persons were indicted as members of a local narcotics gang.

A total of three narcotics indictments and a separate counterfeiting indictment were returned by a U. S. grand jury.

U. S. Attorney Irving H. Saypol said all but eight of the 31 persons named have been arrested.

An aid of Saypol said Joseph Orsini, 50, alleged head of the international ring, was named in two narcotics and the counterfeiting indictment.

Wanted by French

Authorities have said that Orsini is wanted by the French government to face charge of collaborating with the Germans during World War 2.

The narcotics-counterfeit combine was broken up last July 27 by federal agents.

One of the narcotics indictments named seven alleged members of a New York city gang which an assistant district attorney said distributed and sold large quantities of heroin here and in Buffalo and Cleveland.

Two of the seven were convicted last Friday by a federal jury on charges of sale and posession of heroin. The two—Isadore Russo, 31, and Nicholos Esposito, 29, both of Manhattan—are up for sentences of 15 years in prison and $15,000 fines.

Federal Writs Returned on 24

New York, Aug. 22 (AP) — The federal Court of Appeals reversed today the conviction of William W. Remington, former government economist, on charges of perjury in denying that he had ever been a member of the Communist party.

The court's decision, written by Chief Judge Thomas W. Swan, was unanimous. The case was returned to the district court for a new trial.

Remington, 33-year-old honor graduate of Dartmouth, was found guilty by a jury of seven women and five men last Feb. 7. Federal Judge Gregory F. Noonan imposed the maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $2,000 fine.

The reversal was based in large part on technical grounds. Judge Swan agreed with the defense that the definition of membership in the Communist party, contained in the charge to the jury, was too "vague and indefinite."

Concurring in the decision were former Chief Judge Learned Hand and Judge Augustus N. Hand.

Macy Loses Fight

was noted in contests to elect 420 GOP committeemen, who will vote on the new chairman within a fortnight.

Not Available

Neither Macy nor Plummer was available for comment.

In Manhattan, regular Tammany candidates won 13 district leadership contests and lost three, with five undecided.

Mayor Impellitteri's struggle with Tammany stems from last year's mayoralty election when the regular Democratic organization refused to back him. Impellitteri ran as an Independent and won.

Blaikie, faced with defeat, said the election will not decide the Tammany struggle. He said Manhattan Democratic leadership "is definitely in the hands" of Impellitteri—obviously a reference to patronage.

A big issue in the Macy battle was the "Hanley letter" written last year by the then Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley. He wrote to Macy that he was assured of paying off his debts if he ran for U. S. senator.

Hanley took the GOP senatorial nomination, leaving the gubernatorial field clear for Dewey to seek re-election. Hanley lost, Dewey won.

The letter "leaked" out and became a hot campaign matter then as it was in the primary. Macy's opponents accused him of giving the letter to the Democrats. Macy denied this.

Macy lost his congressional seat in the 1950 election, with the letter reportedly an important factor in his defeat.

Voted Committeemen

Suffolk voters yesterday did not vote specifically for or against Macy and Hughes, but rather for the 420 committeemen—two in each of the county's 215 districts—who were pledged to one or the other.

Hughes claimed he won two-thirds of the committeemen, including five of the six committee posts at stake in the districts in Macy's home community, Islip town.

Latest unofficial returns in Hughes' county clerk fight against pro-Macy Plummer gave Hughes 17,086 votes to 3,558.

There are 64,372 registered Republican voters in Suffolk.

Like the fight in Macy's former stronghold, the De Sapio-Blaikie bout in Manhattan did not involve direct election of a county organization leader.

Voters cast their ballots for committeemen, who later will name leaders in their districts. These leaders then will decide on who should direct Tammany, and yesterday's primary assured De Sapio a majority will be pledged to him.

Only Two Contests

In all of New York city, there were only two contests for public office. The one county-wide affair was in Richmond (Staten Island), where Sidney O. Simonson won the Republican district attorney nomination from organization designee, James A. Flood.

Simonson, an independent already endorsed by the Liberal party, won a 2,921 to 1,122 margin.

The other city contest was a 2,835 to 2,357 victory for pro-De Sapio Patrick S. Mason for the Democratic nomination to a municipal justiceship. His opponent, former assemblyman Meyer Alterman, was supported by the Blaikie group.

Both the Blaikie and De Sapio factions had accused each other of being tainted with the influence of big-time gambler Frank Costello.

In Buffalo, two councilmen, under indictment in a gambling probe, lost their bids to run for head of the common council. The two were Republican Russel M. Leech and Democrat Frank J. Glinski, defeated by former Mayor Bernard J. Dowd and Councilman Elmer F. Lux, respectively.

Interest Upstate

Chief interest upstate centered in a number of contested mayoralty primaries. Here are some results:

CORNING: Clement L. Murphy won the Republican nomination from Mayor Howard F. V. Cole, who ran on a write-in basis after Wesley W. Arroll withdrew from the race.

LITTLE FALLS: Joseph A. Santry won the Democratic nomination over Daniel V. Reardon.

MOUNT VERNON: Mayor William H. Hussey defeated Harold Ruscher to get the GOP nomination for his fourth term in a close 3,404 to 3,208 vote.

NIAGARA FALLS: Ernest W. Mirrington, Jr., won a four-way contest for the Republican nomination from Augustine B. Maloney, Earl Hilts and James Sandonato. The latter was unopposed as the Liberal choice.

LACKAWANNA: John J. Janiga was nominated for reelection on the Democratic ballot, defeating the organization-endorsed candidate, Joseph Kane.

OGDENSBURG: Democratic—Robert McDonald defeated Francis B. Burns.

GLOVERSVILLE: Republican—Robert B. Ramsey beat George W. Denton.

UTICA: Republican—Dr. Vito S. Lee beat P. McCormick Reilly.

HORNELL: Democratic—Francis Hogan won over Ernest G. Stewart.

OLEAN: Republican—William N. Davis defeated Alderman John S. Swan.

NEWBURGH: Republican—Mayor Herbert A. Warden beat Fred Slack and Gwendolyn Scott.

WATERTOWN: Non-partisan—John B. Harris and John H. Newman nominated in three-way battle.

Most of the results were known soon after the polls closed in New York city at 9 p. m. (EST) and in the rest of the state at 8 p. m. (EST).

Tabulators at Tammany Hall went home for the night without waiting to determine the outcome of undecided contests.

In Suffolk county, complete returns may not be known until Friday.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—Stocks drifted lower today in search of buying support in a quiet market.

Despite the mark-down in quotations, little ready buying enthusiasm was encountered. Sellers, however, weren't apparently in any hurry to sacrifice their equities at sharply reduced figures.

The drop at the most came to around $2 a share among leaders, and only a handful went that far. The bulk of the decline was limited to less than a dollar a share.

There were gains, here and there, but not many, and these were small with a couple of active exceptions.

The rails, steels, and motors seemed to take the burden of the decline along with some individual issues in rubbers, chemicals, and air lines.

Munger's Death Is Ruled Accidental

Benedict Munger, 70, of Marlborough, was killed instantly shortly before noon Tuesday when a "clam shell" shovel used by the J. J. Van Vliet & Son Company, concrete block concern, in unloading a car of cinders accidently picked up the aged workman who for some unaccountable reason had entered the compartment in the car which was being unloaded by a power shovel.

Coroner Arthur Chipp of Kerhonkson, after investigation with Sergeant L. Baker of the Highland state police barracks, stated the death was accidental. The body was turned over to the Tuthill Funeral Home in Marlborough.

At the time of the accident, Munger and James Van Vliet, Jr., 31, were engaged in unloading cinders from a railroad car. They had worked together at this work for some five years. Munger worked in the car and Van Vliet operated the power shovel. Coroner Chipp said it had been the custom for the two men to talk over the operation and this had been done Tuesday. The car which was being unloaded comprised five compartments, divided by braces. This made it necessary for Munger to guide the "clam shell" into the proper spot after the compartment had been partially unloaded.

Cleaned Out Compartments

Tuesday morning three of the compartments had been unloaded by the power equipment and, Coroner Chipp said, Munger had been instructed to clean out the three compartments while Van Vliet shoveled out the next compartment until it became necessary for Munger to guide the shovel past the braces.

Van Vliet told the investigators that he and Munger had discussed the plan while the shovel was shut down. Van Vliet was to get as much of the cinders unloaded from the fourth compartment as he could reach while Munger worked in the compartments already unloaded cleaning up the cinders at the bottom which could not be reached by the power equipment.

Coroner Chipp said Van Vliet told him he started his shovel and dropped the "clam shell" into the car. He sensed that something was wrong and when he brought the shovel up it contained the body of Munger. The shovel had taken hold of him about the chest and mid-portion of the body.

An autopsy showed Munger had sustained a broken back, crushed chest, fractures of the right arm, shoulder and wrist and had died instantly. Dr. Scott of Marlborough was called and pronounced the man dead. State police and Coroner Chipp were summoned. An ambulance had been summoned from St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh.

Coroner Chipp reported death was accidental and said it was not known why Munger had entered the compartment where the shovel was being used after an agreement that he was not to enter until the shovel operation had been completed and he was notified to assist in guiding the "clam shell" past the braces. The accident happened shortly after 11 a. m.

Investor Forum

by Harry C. France

A profit squeeze is on. Corporation taxes are higher; costs are rising; wage increase demands are continuing. This all means—unless prices are shoved up to counteract these economic forces—that profits will decline.

Occasionally stockholders should be reminded that they stand at the foot of the list of those receiving cash from their enterprises. Salaries and wages, services and material costs, taxes and depreciation—these are the items that must be reckoned with before a stockholder receives dividends.

Federal, state and local governments are taking down in taxes two to three times as much in dollars, generally speaking, as the owners of businesses are getting. And with war costs steadily mounting, Uncle Sam's tax take will probably be increased as time passes.

Consequently, it is highly important today for all stockholders—present and potential—to look searchingly into this profit-squeeze matter. With many corporations whose control over expenses is as bad as Uncle Sam's in Washington, this can be a critical problem.

Understand, I am not stock bearish because of this condition. Far from it. The best security that anybody can buy to get a decent return and to have fair protection against a deteriorating dollar is a sound common stock.

However, the profit squeeze makes most important the selections of common stocks. Where wage rates and costs are in a state of flux, great care should be exercised.

At the same time this economic phenomenon is taking place, the inflation of our money continues. Despite very high corporation and personal income taxes, the United States Treasury Department has run over $2,670,000,000 in the red during the first six weeks of the government's current fiscal year.

That is an average weekly deficit of more than $400,000,000—around $60,000,000 a day, Sunday and holidays.

Thus, America is experiencing two disturbing economic events: (1) an uncomfortable deflation of profits and (2) a sobering dilution of the quality of our money. It may be said, therefore, that today deflation and inflation are walking side by side down the economic paths of America.

It is anybody's guess what the Federal deficit will be for the current fiscal year, July 1, 1951 to July 1, 1952. If 400 million dollar weekly deficits continue for a year, we shall be about $20,000,000,000 in the red by next July.

The Secretary of the Treasury has no difficulty in selling a billion dollars worth of red-figure short term obligations at a 1.66 per cent interest rate. This is one of the economic anachronisms of our times. It rests on an unsound base.

With taxes mounting, with wages rising, with costs increasing, where does cheap money fit into an economic picture with debts daily growing at the rate of 2 and ½ millions an hour, 24 hours a day? Well, it just doesn't fit. All the pseudo-economists in the country can't rationalize that situation.

Millions of American investors who are prospective stockholders are caught in the meshes of these situations. The profit squeeze encourages stock liquidation; the dollar deterioration encourages stock accumulation.

When Uncle Sam can borrow a billion dollars at 1.66 per cent, a bond investor may know that his low interest rate will fall far, far short of paying the butcher, the baker and candlestick maker.

And when corporation profits are squeezed by taxes, costs and wages, a stockholder may know that risk is forced upon him and that he had better look at the risk in any stock he contemplates buying.

In this economic hurly-burly, I still like sound common stocks and I dislike obligations paying uneconomic interest rates and issued to finance deficits.

Bank Deal Off

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Chase National Bank has terminated negotiations for acquisition of the Bank of the Manhattan Company. The Bank of Manhattan said last night that "legal obstacles" had forced the two banks to end their conversations without arranging for their consolidation. Such a merger would have been the largest of its kind in American banking, making Chase the biggest in New York city and the second largest in the nation.

Automatic Warnings Answers to Fire Losses

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—The value of automatic fire detection and reporting devices—with the "human element" eliminated—was stressed by a speaker yesterday at the 79th annual convention of the Firemen's Association of the State of New York.

Paul P. Heinz, fire chief of New Haven, Conn., told the convention that institution of the automatic devices is the answer to the nation's huge fire losses.

He said detectors with alarm devices should be used in conjunction with automatic sprinklers. Sprinklers alone are not adequate protection, Heinz said, because they do not start operating until the temperature reaches 165 degrees. But automatic detectors trip an alarm after any sudden rise in temperature, he noted.

The firemen reelected all officers and board members, including President Irving J. Wallach, of Pelham.

The five-day convention, now in its third day, is being attended by 2,500 volunteer firemen.

Yacht Is Missing, Coast Guard Says

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Coast Guard reported today that a 60-foot yacht with two persons aboard has been missing since Sunday on a voyage from New London, Conn., to Milwaukee, Wis.

The boat's itinerary was understood to be by way of Long Island Sound, the Hudson river, the Erie Canal, Lake Erie, Lake Huron and Lake Michigan.

On board were the yacht's owner, John S. Blank, and his wife. They left New London Aug. 3 and were due in Milwaukee last Sunday, but there have been no reports since the Blanks started their trip.

New York city police were asked by the Coast Guard to notify state police of New York, Connecticut and Ohio to be on the lookout for the vessel, "Snipe."

The Blanks' home address was not available.

Drouth Continues

Fumes Overcome 23 Apparel Store Workers

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—Twenty-three employes of a fashionable women's apparel store were overcome by carbon monoxide fumes near closing time yesterday.

Five required hospital treatment, but three of these were discharged in a short time. A number were treated at a nearby doctor's office.

The employes, including four men, were overcome in basement departments of Porter's Apparel, Inc., 691 Madison avenue.

Police said the odorless and colorless fumes probably accumulated in the basement when a large exhaust fan, designed to draw carbon monoxide gas from the building, failed to work properly. Cleaning and alteration operations are conducted in the basement.

Police emergency squads and Consolidated Edison Company crews aided in the rescue work.

Three victims treated at Roosevelt Hospital and later allowed to go home were: Agatha Dodd, 21, of 116-05 155th street, Jamaica, Queens; Kay Kehoe, 24, of 39-45 48th street, Sunnyside, Queens, and Augusta Howard, 29, of 810 Freeman street, the Bronx.

Natural Death

The death on Saturday of Frank Van Wagoner, 90, of Port Ewen, was due to natural causes and was not a direct result of an automobile accident in which he was injured three weeks previously, Coroner Arthur C. Chipp reported. His physician, Dr. Arthur J. Friedman of Port Ewen, said the accident "probably was contributory" to his death but was not the direct cause. Van Wagoner reportedly suffered a fractured clavicle when struck by a car backing out of a garage at Port Ewen.

NEW YORK TELEPHONE COMPANY

ANTENNA TOWER on coast-to-coast relay route is explained by Long Lines Equipment Maintenance Man Thomas F. McCormack. The new system, built at a cost of $40,000,000, adds many channels to defense-busy Long Distance network.

RADIO RELAY NOW FLASHES PHONE CALLS COAST-TO-COAST

The world's longest radio relay system, joining New York and San Francisco, has just been placed in operation. Long Distance telephone calls, riding tiny microwaves, are now flashed like beams of a searchlight from one antenna tower to the next, clear across the continent.

Traveling with almost the speed of light, the microwave beams can carry hundreds of telephone conversations side by side. Television programs, too, can ride microwaves, and it will soon be possible for TV viewers on one coast to see events as they are happening on the opposite side of the nation.

This transcontinental microwave relay system is a valuable addition to the wire lines and coaxial cables already in use for carrying Long Distance calls. It has added about 46,000 miles of telephone circuits, and within a short time this will be increased to nearly half a million miles. That's mighty important these days when telephones are busy with essential defense calls.

HAVE YOU HEARD?
WITH THIS NEW COAST-TO-COAST CHANNEL, ABOUT 4,600 MILES OF RADIO RELAY FACILITIES ARE IN THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

AMPLIFIERS AT EACH TOWER GIVE SIGNALS A TEN-MILLION-FOLD BOOST BEFORE THEY TAKE OFF FOR THE NEXT TOWER.

NEW YORK TELEPHONE COMPANY

107 RADIO RELAY towers had to be built to put the coast-to-coast system in operation. The towers are spaced about 30 miles apart. The tallest one on this radio relay route is the 415-foot structure (shown above) in Des Moines, Iowa.

Investor Forum

Harry C. France

A profit squeeze is on. Corporation taxes are higher; costs are rising; wage increase demands are continuing. This all means—unless prices are shoved up to counteract these economic forces—that profits will decline.

Occasionally stockholders should be reminded that they stand at the foot of the list of those receiving cash from their enterprises. Salaries and wages, services and material costs, taxes and depreciation—these are the items that must be reckoned with before a stockholder receives dividends.

Federal, state and local governments are taking down in taxes two to three times as much in dollars, generally speaking, as the owners of businesses are getting. And with war costs steadily mounting, Uncle Sam's tax take will probably be increased as time passes.

Consequently, it is highly important today for all stockholders—present and potential—to look searchingly into this profit-squeeze matter. With many corporations whose control over expenses is as bad as Uncle Sam's in Washington, this can be a critical problem.

Understand, I am not stock bearish because of this condition. Far from it. The best security that anybody can buy to get a decent return and to have fair protection against a deteriorating dollar is a sound common stock.

However, the profit squeeze makes most important the selections of common stocks. Where wage rates and costs are in a state of flux, great care should be exercised.

At the same time this economic phenomenon is taking place, the inflation of our money continues. Despite very high corporation and personal income taxes, the United States Treasury Department has run over $2,670,000,000 in the red during the first six weeks of the government's current fiscal year.

That is an average weekly deficit of more than $400,000,000—around $60,000,000 a day, Sunday and holidays.

Thus, America is experiencing two disturbing economic events: (1) an uncomfortable deflation of profits and (2) a sobering dilution of the quality of our money. It may be said, therefore, that today deflation and inflation are walking side by side down the economic paths of America.

It is anybody's guess what the Federal deficit will be for the current fiscal year, July 1, 1951 to July 1, 1952. If 400 million dollar weekly deficits continue for a year, we shall be about $20,000,000,000 in the red by next July.

The Secretary of the Treasury has no difficulty in selling a billion dollars worth of red-figure short term obligations at a 1.66 per cent interest rate. This is one of the economic anachronims of our times. It rests on an unsound base.

With taxes mounting, with wages rising, with costs increasing, where does cheap money fit into an economic picture with debts daily growing at the rate of 2 and ½ millions an hour, 24 hours a day? Well, it just doesn't fit. All the pseudo-economists in the country can't rationalize that situation.

Millions of American investors who are prospective stockholders are caught in the meshes of these situations. The profit squeeze encourages stock liquidation; the dollar deterioration encourages stock accumulation.

When Uncle Sam can borrow a billion dollars at 1.66 per cent, a bond investor may know that his low interest rate will fall far, far short of paying the butcher, the baker and candlestick maker.

And when corporation profits are squeezed by taxes, costs and wages, a stockholder may know that risk is forced upon him and that he had better look at the risk in any stock he contemplates buying.

In this economic hurly-burly, I still like sound common stocks and I dislike obligations paying uneconomic interest rates and issued to finance deficits.

Bank Deal Off

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Chase National Bank has terminated negotiations for acquisition of the Bank of the Manhattan Company. The Bank of Manhattan said last night that "legal obstacles" had forced the two banks to end their conversations without arranging for their consolidation. Such a merger would have been the largest of its kind in American banking, making Chase the biggest in New York city and the second largest in the nation.

Automatic Warnings Answers to Fire Losses

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—The value of automatic fire detection and reporting devices—with the "human element" eliminated—was stressed by a speaker yesterday at the 79th annual convention of the Firemen's Association of the State of New York.

Paul P. Heinz, fire chief of New Haven, Conn., told the convention that institution of the automatic devices is the answer to the nation's huge fire losses.

He said detectors with alarm devices should be used in conjunction with automatic sprinklers. Sprinklers alone are not adequate protection, Heinz said, because they do not start operating until the temperature reaches 165 degrees. But automatic detectors trip an alarm after any sudden rise in temperature, he noted.

The firemen reelected all officers and board members, including President Irving J. Wallach, of Pelham.

The five-day convention, now in its third day, is being attended by 2,500 volunteer firemen.

Yacht Is Missing, Coast Guard Says

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Coast Guard reported today that a 60-foot yacht with two persons aboard has been missing since Sunday on a voyage from New London, Conn., to Milwaukee, Wis.

The boat's itinerary was understood to be by way of Long Island Sound, the Hudson river, the Erie Canal, Lake Erie, Lake Huron and Lake Michigan.

On board were the yacht's owner, John S. Blank, and his wife. They left New London Aug. 3 and were due in Milwaukee last Sunday, but there have been no reports since the Blanks started their trip.

New York city police were asked by the Coast Guard to notify state police of New York, Connecticut and Ohio to be on the lookout for the vessel, "Snipe."

The Blanks' home address was not available.

Drouth Continues

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—Vegetable gardens in western New York are in danger of drying up while in other parts of the state crops are flourishing as the result of prolonged rain. Overall, the crop picture is favorable, an Associated Press survey indicates.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Until I started writing this column, I never knew, old newspapers existed only perhaps as shelf paper. But now it is nothing unusual for a reader to bring me a "Daily Freeman" dated Thursday, December 23, 1875. How would you like to walk down the streets of Kingston, just before Christmas 75 years ago? What do you think you would see?

Well, you wouldn't find the Freeman Building at the Freeman Square, Ferry street and Strand. Instead, the Daily Freeman was up on Mill street near Union avenue in the Madden Building. The Odd Fellow's Hall Building at the Strand and Ferry street was a busy place in those days. You would see the shingle, of W. W. Goodrich, architect and practical builder. If you were in need of boots or shoes you would see a good display in Larry G. H. Davis's place, on the Strand, opposite the Ulster Market. And if you didn't find what you wanted there, perhaps you would walk up to Union avenue just opposite the Mansion House, and find something in Tom Burke's shoe store.

If you were in need of writing paper or other stationery you could walk down to T. W. Wadsworth at 188 Strand, next door to P. Weaver's Restaurant. I remember Wadsworth's place, back in the early 1920's just about where Manos Market is on lower Broadway. So he must have moved. If you were in the mood to cook a fruit compote, you could shop at D. Beach's place, at 38 Union avenue opposite Abeel street. They were known for their fine groceries, green and dried fruits, and also fine butter. No prices given. I wonder how much butter was a pound in those days? At the time, I think Broadway was known as Union avenue downtown.

If you were from the country and came shopping into town for farm equipment, you could have gone to the Strand and Union avenue in Rondout to A. A. Crosby & Co. They were known for their agricultural implements and sold both retail and wholesale. Perhaps your folks were in need of blacksmith or wagonmaker's supplies, for that too could be bought on the Strand in Rondout at A. Dodge's place. He also had a fine assortment of hardware, and steel, and also cutlery.

Those days, you could buy, groceries, boots, shoes and fruits in one market, such as Israel Burger's at 15 Ferry street. If you needed a gas fitter, you dropped in to see B. Loughran, at 106 North Front street. But he too had a place at the Strand in Rondout. P. A. Canfield had a small adv. in those days, advertising "stoves, furnaces, tin ware, etc." His establishment was at the Strand and Ferry streets in Rondout. Canfield's are still in business, yet most of the other firms in that 1875 newspaper are no longer in existence. I wonder what changes will be in 75 years hence? At the time, William Winter was advertising, "Bookseller & Stationer, and dealer in paper hangings, also musical instruments. The Strand." Who remembers some of these places?

"OFFENSIVE" SOVIET MEMORIAL GETS A FENCE—American authorities in Berlin ordered an 18-foot wire fence built around this Soviet war memorial tank erected by the Reds soon after Berlin fell in what later became the American sector. The fence was ordered after irate West Berliners tried to burn the monument, resulting in exchange of sharp notes between U. S. and Russian occupation authorities. The Reds rejected a polite suggestion that the offending tank be removed.

Pakistan Feels Pinch

Karachi (AP) — Pakistan's normally-booming raw wool trade has gone into a slump in the wake of a slowdown in United States buying. After an unprecedented boom in the nine months ending on March 31, 1951, alarmed leaders of the Pakistan wool merchants association have called on the Pakistan government to abolish both export duties and sales tax levies on wool. As a result of competitive stockpiling by western countries, the wool price had shot up more than 70 per cent. Now a U.S. anti-inflation policy has dictated a let-up in stockpiling and the price of wool is on the downswing.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Until I started writing this column, I never knew, old newspapers existed only perhaps as shelf paper. But now it is nothing unusual for a reader to bring me a "Daily Freeman" dated Thursday, December 23, 1875. How would you like to walk down the streets of Kingston, just before Christmas 75 years ago? What do you think you would see?

Well, you wouldn't find the Freeman Building at the Freeman Square, Ferry street and Strand. Instead, the Daily Freeman was up on Mill street near Union avenue in the Madden Building. The Odd Fellow's Hall Building at the Strand and Ferry street was a busy place in those days. You would see the shingle, of W. W. Goodrich, architect and practical builder. If you were in need of boots or shoes you would see a good display in Larry G. H. Davis's place, on the Strand, opposite the Ulster Market. And if you didn't find what you wanted there, perhaps you would walk up to Union avenue just opposite the Mansion House, and find something in Tom Burke's shoe store.

If you were in need of writing paper or other stationery you could walk down to T. W. Wadsworth at 188 Strand, next door to P. Weaver's Restaurant. I remember Wadsworth's place, back in the early 1920's just about where Manos Market is on lower Broadway. So he must have moved. If you were in the mood to cook a fruit compote, you could shop at D. Beach's place, at 38 Union avenue opposite Abeel street. They were known for their fine groceries, green and dried fruits, and also fine butter. No prices given. I wonder how much butter was a pound in those days? At the time, I think Broadway was known as Union avenue downtown.

If you were from the country and came shopping into town for farm equipment, you could have gone to the Strand and Union avenue in Rondout to A. A. Crosby & Co. They were known for their agricultural implements and sold both retail and wholesale. Perhaps your folks were in need of blacksmith or wagonmaker's supplies, for that too could be bought on the Strand in Rondout at A. Dodge's place. He also had a fine assortment of hardware, and steel, and also cutlery.

Those days, you could buy, groceries, boots, shoes and fruits in one market, such as Israel Burger's at 15 Ferry street. If you needed a gas fitter, you dropped in to see B. Loughran, at 106 North Front street. But he too had a place at the Strand in Rondout. P. A. Canfield had a small adv. in those days, advertising "stoves, furnaces, tin ware, etc." His establishment was at the Strand and Ferry streets in Rondout. Canfield's are still in business, yet most of the other firms in that 1875 newspaper are no longer in existence. I wonder what changes will be in 75 years hence? At the time, William Winter was advertising, "Bookseller & Stationer, and dealer in paper hangings, also musical instruments. The Strand." Who remembers some of these places?

"OFFENSIVE" SOVIET MEMORIAL GETS A FENCE—American authorities in Berlin ordered an 18-foot wire fence built around this Soviet war memorial tank erected by the Reds soon after Berlin fell in what later became the American sector. The fence was ordered after irate West Berliners tried to burn the monument, resulting in exchange of sharp notes between U. S. and Russian occupation authorities. The Reds rejected a polite suggestion that the offending tank be removed.

Pakistan Feels Pinch

Karachi (AP) — Pakistan's normally-booming raw wool trade has gone into a slump in the wake of a slowdown in United States buying. After an unprecedented boom in the nine months ending on March 31, 1951, alarmed leaders of the Pakistan wool merchants association have called on the Pakistan government to abolish both export duties and sales tax levies on wool. As a result of competitive stockpiling by western countries, the wool price had shot up more than 70 per cent. Now a U.S. anti-inflation policy has dictated a let-up in stockpiling and the price of wool is on the downswing.

Uniform Price August Forecast

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—A uniform price of $4.51 per hundredweight (about 47 quarts) is forecast for dairy farmers for August milk deliveries to pool-approved plants in the six-state New York milkshed.

The estimated producer butterfat differential for August is 6.2 cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 per cent standard.

The figures wer released last night by C. J. Blanford, market administrator of the New York metropolitan milk marketing area.

The price forecast was based on an estimated production of 566,000,000 pounds for the month, an average daily output of 366 pounds by each of the estimated 49,900 producers in the milkshed.

Sept. 10 is the deadline for handlers to submit reports to the administrator on the uses made of their August milk receipts.

The administrator will use these reports as a basis for computing the actual uniform price and butterfat differential, which will be announced not later than Sept. 14.

Sept. 25 is the deadline for handlers to make payments to their producers.

British Correct 'Omission'

London (AP)—At long last London is to have its own version of Christopher Morley's "Baker Street Irregulars." A collection of Sherlock Holmes fans, red-faced at the thought of their hero going virtually unrecognized in his own city, have formed what they prosiacally call the "Sherlock Holmes Society of London," with the equally prosaic aim of bringing together "people who have a common interest as readers and students of the literature of Sherlock Holmes." "For a considerable number of years," the new society says, "there has been in Britain no society devoted to the study of the life and work of Sherlock Holmes. This is the more remarkable in view of the many such societies which exist in other parts of the world. The omission has now been rectified." The new society has as its president the vice chancellor of Cambridge University, S. C. Roberts.

Cases Lower Than 1950

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—The number of polio cases in upstate New York continues to lag well behind the 1950 epidemic rate. The State Health Department said today 57 new cases were reported last week, boosting the total so far this year to 320. The total was 514 a year ago. The 57 new cases compared with 130 for the corresponding weeks of 1950. The total for the week ended Aug. 11 was 68, compared with 128 for the parallel week of 1950. The department's figures cover all counties outside of New York city. Nassau county reported 16 new cases last week, Suffolk, 11, and Rensselaer, four.

Buffalo U. Has New Department

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—The University of Buffalo today announced establishment of a department of physical medicine and rehabilitation at its chronic disease research institute.

Chancellor T. Raymond McConnell said Dr. Harry V. Morelewicz has been named head of the department.

Dr. Morelewicz, a graduate of the university's medical school, has just returned from an 18 months stay at the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation of New York University's Bellevue Hospital.

Physical medicine, a relatively new field, is concerned with restoring a physically-disabled person to as full a life as possible. It deals with orthopedic, neurological, amputation, heart, tuberculosis and other types of medical problems.

New British Bases

Brussels (AP)—British army supplies for occupation troops in Germany, are expected to start moving through Belgium early in 1952. Work was recently begun on the construction of a traffic center for the British army in the Campine area of Antwerp Province, 20 miles east of the port of Antwerp. When completed the center will cover 3,952 acres and include a gasoline dump and storage space for all types of army supplies. The installations will be dispersed in 26 locations. A few miles further east two new airfields are also under construction. They will not, however, be manned during peacetime. At present most British supplies pass through the port of Hamburg. Military tacticians, however, have decided that Hamburg is too close to Russian-controlled territory. A lunge at Hamburg could quickly cut off supplies for the British in Germany.

Full Schedule for Parents

Waco, Tex. (AP)—Caring for ten-month-old twins is just part of the daily chores of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Garnett. Garnett reports for duty at the General Tire Co. here at 11 p. m. He works eight hours and then hurries to a 7 a. m. class at Baylor University. He has another class at 8 a. m. Then he runs three blocks to his apartment to keep the twins while Mrs. Garnett runs to a 9 a. m. class. She then dashes home to relieve Frank while he attends a 10 a. m. class. Then he runs home so that Mrs. Garnett can attend an 11 a. m. class. After lunch, Garnett takes a nap. But he must be up in time to care for the twins — while Mrs. Garnett attends a 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. night class.

Child Health Clinic

A child health conference conducted by the Ulster County Health Department will be held August 28 from 10 a. m. to 12 noon at the Recreation Center, 97 Broadway, in Kingston.

Happy Honeymooners in New York

Buffalo Walkout Has Full Strike Complexion

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—A "sick" walkout by railway workers, that has forced a shutdown of Bethlehem Steel's Lackawanna plant, took on the appearance of a full-scale strike today as the union mover to post pickets.

A third try at agreement between management of the South Buffalo Railway and representatives of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen ended in a deadlock last night.

The SBRR serves Bethlehem's steel plant which employs about 16,000 persons. Steel-making operations at the plant have been closed down.

The union said the walkout was caused by "approximately 1,000 violations of the working agreement and two unjust disciplinary cases."

Management fired back, "the gist of the dispute relates to the discipline meted out to two employes for refusing to do their assigned work in accordance with the orders of the railway company.

Air Wardens to Meet

Dewey Reaches Alaskan Area

Juneau, Alaska, Aug. 22 (AP)—Republican Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York arrived by plane from Seattle last night and was whisked away to dinner in the mansion of Territorial Gov. Ernest Gruening, a Democrat.

Republican leaders met the governor at the airport, but GOP national committeeman Elton Engstrom, among those on hand to welcome Dewey, said he was not invited to the dinner.

Dewey declined comment on the draft Eisenhower movement. He told reporters he favored statehood for Alaska.

Tired after the long flight from Seattle, Dewey turned down a proposal by Governor Gruening that they drive to nearby Mendenhall Glacier.

"We just flew over it," he said.

Engstrom, Mr. and Mrs. Al White, and other prominent Alaska Republicans stood by to greet Dewey. Mrs. White is national committeewoman.

Then the governors of New York and Alaska headed for Gruening's mansion.

Dewey is scheduled to visit Ketchikan, Anchorage and Fairbanks during the week. Sunday he is to be in Kotzebue, an Eskimo village on the north side of the Seward peninsula above Nome, to dedicate a new airport.

Uniform Price August Forecast

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—A uniform price of $4.51 per hundredweight (about 47 quarts) is forecast for dairy farmers for August milk deliveries to pool-approved plants in the six-state New York milkshed.

The estimated producer butterfat differential for August is 6.2 cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 per cent standard.

The figures wer released last night by C. J. Blanford, market administrator of the New York metropolitan milk marketing area.

The price forecast was based on an estimated production of 566,000,000 pounds for the month, an average daily output of 366 pounds by each of the estimated 49,900 producers in the milkshed.

Sept. 10 is the deadline for handlers to submit reports to the administrator on the uses made of their August milk receipts.

The administrator will use these reports as a basis for computing the actual uniform price and butterfat differential, which will be announced not later than Sept. 14.

Sept. 25 is the deadline for handlers to make payments to their producers.

British Correct 'Omission'

London (AP)—At long last London is to have its own version of Christopher Morley's "Baker Street Irregulars." A collection of Sherlock Holmes fans, red-faced at the thought of their hero going virtually unrecognized in his own city, have formed what they prosiacally call the "Sherlock Holmes Society of London," with the equally prosaic aim of bringing together "people who have a common interest as readers and students of the literature of Sherlock Holmes." "For a considerable number of years," the new society says, "there has been in Britain no society devoted to the study of the life and work of Sherlock Holmes. This is the more remarkable in view of the many such societies which exist in other parts of the world. The omission has now been rectified." The new society has as its president the vice chancellor of Cambridge University, S. C. Roberts.

Cases Lower Than 1950

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—The number of polio cases in upstate New York continues to lag well behind the 1950 epidemic rate. The State Health Department said today 57 new cases were reported last week, boosting the total so far this year to 320. The total was 514 a year ago. The 57 new cases compared with 130 for the corresponding weeks of 1950. The total for the week ended Aug. 11 was 68, compared with 128 for the parallel week of 1950. The department's figures cover all counties outside of New York city. Nassau county reported 16 new cases last week, Suffolk, 11, and Rensselaer, four.

Buffalo U. Has New Department

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—The University of Buffalo today announced establishment of a department of physical medicine and rehabilitation at its chronic disease research institute.

Chancellor T. Raymond McConnell said Dr. Harry V. Morelewicz has been named head of the department.

Dr. Morelewicz, a graduate of the university's medical school, has just returned from an 18 months stay at the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation of New York University's Bellevue Hospital.

Physical medicine, a relatively new field, is concerned with restoring a physically-disabled person to as full a life as possible. It deals with orthopedic, neurological, amputation, heart, tuberculosis and other types of medical problems.

New British Bases

Brussels (AP)—British army supplies for occupation troops in Germany, are expected to start moving through Belgium early in 1952. Work was recently begun on the construction of a traffic center for the British army in the Campine area of Antwerp Province, 20 miles east of the port of Antwerp. When completed the center will cover 3,952 acres and include a gasoline dump and storage space for all types of army supplies. The installations will be dispersed in 26 locations. A few miles further east two new airfields are also under construction. They will not, however, be manned during peacetime. At present most British supplies pass through the port of Hamburg. Military tacticians, however, have decided that Hamburg is too close to Russian-controlled territory. A lunge at Hamburg could quickly cut off supplies for the British in Germany.

Full Schedule for Parents

Waco, Tex. (AP)—Caring for ten-month-old twins is just part of the daily chores of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Garnett. Garnett reports for duty at the General Tire Co. here at 11 p. m. He works eight hours and then hurries to a 7 a. m. class at Baylor University. He has another class at 8 a. m. Then he runs three blocks to his apartment to keep the twins while Mrs. Garnett runs to a 9 a. m. class. She then dashes home to relieve Frank while he attends a 10 a. m. class. Then he runs home so that Mrs. Garnett can attend an 11 a. m. class. After lunch, Garnett takes a nap. But he must be up in time to care for the twins — while Mrs. Garnett attends a 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. night class.

Buffalo Walkout Has Full Strike Complexion

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—A "sick" walkout by railway workers, that has forced a shutdown of Bethlehem Steel's Lackawanna plant, took on the appearance of a full-scale strike today as the union mover to post pickets.

A third try at agreement between management of the South Buffalo Railway and representatives of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen ended in a deadlock last night.

The SBRR serves Bethlehem's steel plant which employs about 16,000 persons. Steel-making operations at the plant have been closed down.

The union said the walkout was caused by "approximately 1,000 violations of the working agreement and two unjust disciplinary cases."

Management fired back, "the gist of the dispute relates to the discipline meted out to two employes for refusing to do their assigned work in accordance with the orders of the railway company.

Dewey Reaches Alaskan Area

Juneau, Alaska, Aug. 22 (AP)—Republican Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York arrived by plane from Seattle last night and was whisked away to dinner in the mansion of Territorial Gov. Ernest Gruening, a Democrat.

Republican leaders met the governor at the airport, but GOP national committeeman Elton Engstrom, among those on hand to welcome Dewey, said he was not invited to the dinner.

Dewey declined comment on the draft Eisenhower movement. He told reporters he favored statehood for Alaska.

Tired after the long flight from Seattle, Dewey turned down a proposal by Governor Gruening that they drive to nearby Mendenhall Glacier.

"We just flew over it," he said.

Engstrom, Mr. and Mrs. Al White, and other prominent Alaska Republicans stood by to greet Dewey. Mrs. White is national committeewoman.

Then the governors of New York and Alaska headed for Gruening's mansion.

Dewey is scheduled to visit Ketchikan, Anchorage and Fairbanks during the week. Sunday he is to be in Kotzebue, an Eskimo village on the north side of the Seward peninsula above Nome, to dedicate a new airport.

Accord Bride Weds Lannon Swertfager At Noon Ceremony

The Rochester Reformed Church, Accord, was the scene Saturday noon of the marriage of Miss Gwendolyn Hall Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Hall Davis, Accord, to Lannon A. Swertfager, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lannon Swertfager, 1213 Lenox avenue, Utica. The Rev. William Coombe officiated, assisted by the Rev. George D. Wood.

Traditional wedding marches and selections were played by Mrs. Roy Weber, organist. The church was decorated for the ceremony with white gladioli, hydrangeas, and white tapers.

She wore a tulle fingertip veil attached to a Juliet cap of rose-point lace which had been worn by several generations on the maternal side of her family. Her cascade bouquet was arranged from white roses, baby's breath, and ivy.

Mrs. John E. Geiselmann of Otego was the bride's honor attendant. Her bridesmaids were Miss Lois Swertfager of Utica, sister of the groom, and Miss Lillian Larsen of Stone Ridge. All three attendants were dressed in pastel pink gowns styled similar to that of the bride. They wore headbands of ivy and baby's breath, and carried cascade bouquets of white gladioli and ivy.

Mr. Davis gave his daughter in marriage. Her gown was of white organdy, velvarayed with a lily-of-the-valley design. It was cut with a fitted bodice, buttoned to the waist, long pointed sleeves, a double Peter Pan collar, and a bouffant skirt ending in a long train edged with starched chiffon. She wore a tulle fingertip veil attached to a Juliet cap of rose-point lace which had been worn by several generations on the maternal side of her family. Her cascade bouquet was arranged from white roses, baby's breath, and ivy.

Mrs. John E. Geiselmann of Otego was the bride's honor attendant. Her bridesmaids were Miss Lois Swertfager of Utica, sister of the groom, and Miss Lillian Larsen of Stone Ridge. All three attendants were dressed in pastel pink gowns styled similar to that of the bride. They wore headbands of ivy and baby's breath, and carried cascade bouquets of white gladioli and ivy.

Richard Hall Davis of Accord, brother of the bride, was best man. John Malnosky of Honelawn, N. J., and Robert Hanlon of Walton ushered.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception for 200 guests was held at the bride's home.

On their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Swertfager are visiting Bermuda. Mrs. Swertfager selected a tailored dark blue Palm Beach suit for traveling. Her costume was completed with white accessories, and a rose corsage. Upon their return, the couple will make their home in Walton.

Mrs. Swertfager was graduated from Hartwick College, Oneonta, and attended the New York School for Social Work, Columbia University. She is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, and is a psychiatric worker at Harlem Valley State Hospital, Wingdale.

Mr. Swertfager is an alumnus of Hartwick College, and received his master's degree in education from Syracuse University. He served for three years during World War 2 with the U. S. Army Medical Corps in the ETO. He is now a member of the faculty at Walton Central School.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

SAYING GRACE

A reader asks: When a hostess takes a guest by surprise in asking that she say grace before the meal, how does the guest handle this situation? She is, in other words, not prepared with a suitable prayer."

This is really an unforgivable thing for a hostess to do because it would not only be embarrassing but humiliating to a guest not used to saying grace. But one who is caught in this situation could at least bow her head and say no more than "God bless this food, Amen."

"Immediate"

Dear Mrs. Post: We'd like to limit our wedding reception to "immediate" families but we're having some disagreement of the meaning "immediate." Please come to the rescue.

Answer: "Immediate" means parents and their own children—also very near relatives living under one roof.

Fall Clothes Best

Dear Mrs. Post: In late September should my attendants wear hot weather dresses or advance fall models? It will probably be warm here but it seems every year the fall clothes start appearing soon after Labor Day.

Answer: The fall clothes would give an effect of newness and the summer of leftovers.

Again Wedding Problems

Dear Mrs. Post: I'm having a rather small wedding but have come up against a few problems nevertheless. My fiance's father is not living and he has a stepfather and my parents were divorced and both are married again. (a) How should my invitations be worded and (b) how can these people be seated at the church and (c) be managed at the reception which will be almost entirely attended by relatives and a few friends?

Answer: (a) Unless you have made your home with your father and his wife (in which case the invitation should go out in their name) your mother and your stepfather send out the invitations. (b) Your mother is seated in the front pew with her husband. Your father, of course, takes you up the aisle and then joins his wife who should be seated in the third pew. His mother and step father are seated in the first pew on the right side as you enter the church. (c) If they are friendly, they can all go to the reception but do not stand side by side. Your mother with his mother beside her would receive at the door of entrance and the father and stepfathers would circulate among the guests.

Councilmen Lose Bids

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—Two councilmen, under indictment in a gambling probe, lost their bids for head of the Common Council. Republican Russel M. Leech and Democrat Frank J. Glinski were voted down decisively when all returns on their respective primaries were in early this morning. Leech was beaten by former Mayor Bernard J. Dowd. Glinski lost to Councilman Elmer F. Lux. The results climaxed the fears of politicians of both parties that an investigation of alleged pinball "payoffs" would have a deep effect on both the primaries and the November elections.

Playhouse Offers Two One-Act Plays

The Woodstock Playhouse is offering two one-act plays this week, a double billing of murder and prostitution. The first, Goodbye, Miss Lizzie Borden, was inspired by the famous Borden sisters' case which occurred in the prim Massachusetts town of Fall River in the 1890's. The second by French playwright Jean-Paul Sartre, deals with the usual Southern town lynching problem. The theme, white man guilty, Negro killed, has been covered at length in any one of a dozen recent novels. And, like many of those novels, The Respectful Prostitute draws heavily on obscene language and more than questionable morals.

Starring in the curtain-raiser last night were Anna Leonard and Dorothy McLaughin as Emma and Lizzie Borden respectively. Their performance was all the things it should have been . . . sustained, melodramatic and chilling. Susan Strong as the reporter, who in a few moments solves the macabre case which stumped Boston and Cambridge experts for months, is almost too boisterous, rough and swaggering, even for an era when a woman who was a reporter had to be all those things.

Appearing in the main production were Charles Griffin as the Negro; Jane Lloyd-Jones, Lizzie; Van Williams, Fred; Carl Hubbell (native Woodstocker), first deputy; John Macgregor, second deputy; Howard Caine, the senator; David Lifson, a man. Mr. Griffin gave an outstanding performance. Howard Caine was effusive to the point of nausea, in character to his part, while Jane Lloyd-Jones did her level best with a rather bad part. Van Williams, who apparently never had his heart in the production, was not convincing as the senator's son.

For the final offering of the season August 28 through September 2, the Playhouse will present An Inspector Calls by J. B. Priestley, author of Dangerous Corner and The Good Companions.

WHAT A WONDERFUL WAY TO LOSE FAT!
Eating Instead of Dieting!
No Calorie Counting! No Diets! No Exercise!

Sounds too good to be true, but it IS true.

Thanks to a group of New York doctors you can now lose pounds of ugly fat every week without going on any special diet, without cutting out any special foods, WITHOUT HAVING A SINGLE HUNGRY MOMENT.

These New York doctors discovered a food adjunct called Wafex.

Wafex does remarkable things. It makes your appetite demand less food — you eat less — lose weight naturally — yet you never feel hungry.

Before Wafex was offered to you it was proved clinically by the doctors on a large group of non-glandular overweight men and women.

The doctors carefully checked results and here is what they found:

1. Weight losses of 8 to 20 pounds without any ill effects whatsoever.
2. All members of the group said they never felt better and NEVER HAD A HUNGRY MOMENT.

Wafex is absolutely safe. It is a food adjunct, not a drug.

So start today to shed those unwanted pounds and inches.

You can get a full month's supply of Wafex for only $3 on money back guarantee. Your scales must show you have lost weight, have an improved figure, you must look, feel better or you get YOUR MONEY BACK WITHOUT QUESTION. The sooner you start the sooner you may have the loss of weight you yearn for.

How Wafex Satisfies Your Hunger
According to scientific calculations 1 Wafex Wafer has the hunger-satisfying capacity of 2 ham sandwiches or 4 eggs, or 5 slices of white bread, yet it contains only 5 measly calories.

SAYING GRACE

A reader asks: When a hostess takes a guest by surprise in asking that she say grace before the meal, how does the guest handle this situation? She is, in other words, not prepared with a suitable prayer."

This is really an unforgivable thing for a hostess to do because it would not only be embarrassing but humiliating to a guest not used to saying grace. But one who is caught in this situation could at least bow her head and say no more than "God bless this food, Amen."

"Immediate"

Dear Mrs. Post: We'd like to limit our wedding reception to "immediate" families but we're having some disagreement of the meaning "immediate." Please come to the rescue.

Answer: "Immediate" means parents and their own children—also very near relatives living under one roof.

Fall Clothes Best

Dear Mrs. Post: In late September should my attendants wear hot weather dresses or advance fall models? It will probably be warm here but it seems every year the fall clothes start appearing soon after Labor Day.

Answer: The fall clothes would give an effect of newness and the summer of leftovers.

Again Wedding Problems

Dear Mrs. Post: I'm having a rather small wedding but have come up against a few problems nevertheless. My fiance's father is not living and he has a stepfather and my parents were divorced and both are married again. (a) How should my invitations be worded and (b) how can these people be seated at the church and (c) be managed at the reception which will be almost entirely attended by relatives and a few friends?

Answer: (a) Unless you have made your home with your father and his wife (in which case the invitation should go out in their name) your mother and your stepfather send out the invitations. (b) Your mother is seated in the front pew with her husband. Your father, of course, takes you up the aisle and then joins his wife who should be seated in the third pew. His mother and step father are seated in the first pew on the right side as you enter the church. (c) If they are friendly, they can all go to the reception but do not stand side by side. Your mother with his mother beside her would receive at the door of entrance and the father and stepfathers would circulate among the guests.

Playhouse Offers Two One-Act Plays

The Woodstock Playhouse is offering two one-act plays this week, a double billing of murder and prostitution. The first, Goodbye, Miss Lizzie Borden, was inspired by the famous Borden sisters' case which occurred in the prim Massachusetts town of Fall River in the 1890's. The second by French playwright Jean-Paul Sartre, deals with the usual Southern town lynching problem. The theme, white man guilty, Negro killed, has been covered at length in any one of a dozen recent novels. And, like many of those novels, The Respectful Prostitute draws heavily on obscene language and more than questionable morals.

Starring in the curtain-raiser last night were Anna Leonard and Dorothy McLaugiin as Emma and Lizzie Borden respectively. Their performance was all the things it should have been . . . sustained, melodramatic and chilling. Susan Strong as the reporter, who in a few moments solves the macabre case which stumped Boston and Cambridge experts for months, is almost too boisterous, rough and swaggering, even for an era when a woman who was a reporter had to be all those things.

Appearing in the main production were Charles Griffin as the Negro; Jane Lloyd-Jones, Lizzie; Van Williams, Fred; Carl Hubbell (native Woodstocker), first deputy; John Macgregor, second deputy; Howard Caine, the senator; David Lifson, a man. Mr. Griffin gave an outstanding performance. Howard Caine was effusive to the point of nausea, in character to his part, while Jane Lloyd-Jones did her level best with a rather bad part. Van Williams, who apparently never had his heart in the production, was not convincing as the senator's son.

For the final offering of the season August 28 through September 2, the Playhouse will present An Inspector Calls by J. B. Priestley, author of Dangerous Corner and The Good Companions.

Councilmen Lose Bids

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—Two councilmen, under indictment in a gambling probe, lost their bids for head of the Common Council. Republican Russel M. Leech and Democrat Frank J. Glinski were voted down decisively when all returns on their respective primaries were in early this morning. Leech was beaten by former Mayor Bernard J. Dowd. Glinski lost to Councilman Elmer F. Lux. The results climaxed the fears of politicians of both parties that an investigation of alleged pinball "payoffs" would have a deep effect on both the primaries and the November elections.

LOSE FAT!
Eating Instead of Dieting!
No Calorie Counting! No Diets! No Exercise!

Sounds too good to be true, but it IS true.

Thanks to a group of New York doctors you can now lose pounds of ugly fat every week without going on any special diet, without cutting out any special foods, WITHOUT HAVING A SINGLE HUNGRY MOMENT.

These New York doctors discovered a food adjunct called Wafex.

Wafex does remarkable things. It makes your appetite demand less food — you eat less — lose weight naturally — yet you never feel hungry.

Before Wafex was offered to you it was proved clinically by the doctors on a large group of non-glandular overweight men and women.

The doctors carefully checked results and here is what they found:

1. Weight losses of 8 to 20 pounds without any ill effects whatsoever.
2. All members of the group said they never felt better and NEVER HAD A HUNGRY MOMENT.

Wafex is absolutely safe. It is a food adjunct, not a drug.

So start today to shed those unwanted pounds and inches.

You can get a full month's supply of Wafex for only $3 on money back guarantee. Your scales must show you have lost weight, have an improved figure, you must look, feel better or you get YOUR MONEY BACK WITHOUT QUESTION. The sooner you start the sooner you may have the loss of weight you yearn for.

How Wafex Satisfies Your Hunger
According to scientific calculations 1 Wafex Wafer has the hunger-satisfying capacity of 2 ham sandwiches or 4 eggs, or 5 slices of white bread, yet it contains only 5 measly calories.

EAT WELL for Less

Two Good Summer Recipes

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Hot? — yes. Hungry? — sure! Like to work in the steaming kitchen? Don't be silly. Well, let's solve this problem. How about a pair of recipes that provide the required amounts of protein, that need little preparation and taste so good even the most-wilted appetite will sit up and take nourishment.

Mushroom Cheese Bake
(Makes 6 servings)

One-quarter cup butter, 6 slices bread, toasted, 1¾ cups cubed mild Cheddar cheese (1½-pound package), 2 cans (2½ cups) condensed cream of mushroom soup, 3 eggs, slightly beaten.

Spread butter on both sides of each slice of toast. Cut each slice into 6 pieces. Then arrange the toast in a lightly-greased casserole (2-quart size), alternating toast with cubes of cheese.

Blend the soup with the beaten eggs; pour over the toast and cheese in casserole, mixing gently to be sure soup is well mixed with the toast. Bake in a moderate oven (325 degrees F.) for one hour. Garnish casserole by arranging additional toast points and greens such as watercress on top.

Red Devils
(Makes 4 servings)

Four hard-cooked eggs, ¼ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing, 1 teaspoon minced onion, 1 tablespoon parsley, 1 can (1-¼ cups) condensed tomato soup, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon vinegar or lemon juice.

Cut eggs in half lengthwise; scoop out yolks and mash them. Into the yolks blend the mayonnaise, onion and parsley. Stuff yolk mixture into halves of egg whites. Place deviled eggs in a baking dish.

Prepare sauce for eggs this way: blend together the tomato soup, mustard and vinegar. Pour sauce over eggs. Heat in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 15 minutes.

Here's another quickie main dish: sliced hard-cooked eggs and flaked salmon added to heated condensed cream of mushroom soup. Sprinkle top with crumbled potato chips and bake.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, crisp bacon, French toast, syrup or honey, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Red devils, potato cakes, chopped cabbage and green pepper salad, lemon gelatin, cookies, tea, milk.

DINNER: Pan broiled chopped beef patties, quick-frozen French fried potatoes or heated potato chips, corn-on-cob, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, sliced garden tomatoes, blueberries, cream, iced coffee, milk.

Opening lead—♥ 2

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

If everybody always bid and played bridge according to the book, you'd find me playing tiddlywinks or a nice snappy round of croquet. Part of the thrill of bridge is getting yourself into the soup—and out of it.

It was a nice thick soup that South plunged into when he bid four spades. He was doomed to lose at least two spades and two clubs. But the hand gave him game and rubber.

West opened the deuce of hearts, and South had a chance—if he could guess the way to play the red suits. If West had led from the king of hearts, South could let the first trick ride around to the jack and then repeat the heart finesse.

This would give him an immediate club discard, after which it would be safe to lead trumps and give up two trumps and one club.

As it happened, however, West was the sort of player who had strong (not necessarily sensible) opinions about opening leads. "Never lead from a king," he had often been heard to say. This was considered the latest word fifty years ago, and that was good enough for West.

For this reason South didn't relish the idea of playing West for the king of hearts. West might have held kings in three of the four suits, but he surely didn't have the king of diamonds and therefore could have led a diamond if he had held the king of hearts.

There was only one other chance, and South played for it. He put up the ace of hearts, cashed the ace of diamonds, and led two more top diamonds, discarding the jack of hearts from his hand. The odds were almost 2 to 1 against a 3-3 break in diamonds, but any other play was sheer surrender.

Fortunately for declarer, both defenders had to follow to three rounds of diamonds. Now declarer could lead a fourth diamond from the dummy and discard one of his losing clubs.

It didn't matter which opponent ruffed, for the ruff would come at the expense of a natural trump trick. South would lose only one club and two trumps.

Cold Reception

Oslo (AP)—When taking a summer cruise to Norway, better bring along some nice warm clothes and your skis. That at least is the impression of some 100 tourists from many nations, currently on a mid-summer cruise to the Norwegian fiords with the "Stella Polaris." Driving from Hjoerungafiord, 25 miles south of Aalesund across the mountains to Geirangerfiord, their touring cars were forced to return at the half way mark by a howling snowstorm. A scheduled skiing exhibition by crack Norwegian skiers on what was left of last year's snow was called off—because of too much fresh snow.

EAT WELL for Less

Two Good Summer Recipes

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Hot? — yes. Hungry? — sure! Like to work in the steaming kitchen? Don't be silly. Well, let's solve this problem. How about a pair of recipes that provide the required amounts of protein, that need little preparation and taste so good even the most-wilted appetite will sit up and take nourishment.

Mushroom Cheese Bake
(Makes 6 servings)

One-quarter cup butter, 6 slices bread, toasted, 1¾ cups cubed mild Cheddar cheese (1½-pound package), 2 cans (2½ cups) condensed cream of mushroom soup, 3 eggs, slightly beaten.

Spread butter on both sides of each slice of toast. Cut each slice into 6 pieces. Then arrange the toast in a lightly-greased casserole (2-quart size), alternating toast with cubes of cheese.

Blend the soup with the beaten eggs; pour over the toast and cheese in casserole, mixing gently to be sure soup is well mixed with the toast. Bake in a moderate oven (325 degrees F.) for one hour. Garnish casserole by arranging additional toast points and greens such as watercress on top.

Red Devils
(Makes 4 servings)

Four hard-cooked eggs, ¼ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing, 1 teaspoon minced onion, 1 tablespoon parsley, 1 can (1-¼ cups) condensed tomato soup, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon vinegar or lemon juice.

Cut eggs in half lengthwise; scoop out yolks and mash them. Into the yolks blend the mayonnaise, onion and parsley. Stuff yolk mixture into halves of egg whites. Place deviled eggs in a baking dish.

Prepare sauce for eggs this way: blend together the tomato soup, mustard and vinegar. Pour sauce over eggs. Heat in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 15 minutes.

Here's another quickie main dish: sliced hard-cooked eggs and flaked salmon added to heated condensed cream of mushroom soup. Sprinkle top with crumbled potato chips and bake.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, crisp bacon, French toast, syrup or honey, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Red devils, potato cakes, chopped cabbage and green pepper salad, lemon gelatin, cookies, tea, milk.

DINNER: Pan broiled chopped beef patties, quick-frozen French fried potatoes or heated potato chips, corn-on-cob, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, sliced garden tomatoes, blueberries, cream, iced coffee, milk.

Opening lead—♥2

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

If everybody always bid and played bridge according to the book, you'd find me playing tiddlywinks or a nice snappy round of croquet. Part of the thrill of bridge is getting yourself into the soup—and out of it.

It was a nice thick soup that South plunged into when he bid four spades. He was doomed to lose at least two spades and two clubs. But the hand gave him game and rubber.

West opened the deuce of hearts, and South had a chance—if he could guess the way to play the red suits. If West had led from the king of hearts, South could let the first trick ride around to the jack and then repeat the heart finesse.

This would give him an immediate club discard, after which it would be safe to lead trumps and give up two trumps and one club.

As it happened, however, West was the sort of player who had strong (not necessarily sensible) opinions about opening leads. "Never lead from a king," he had often been heard to say. This was considered the latest word fifty years ago, and that was good enough for West.

For this reason South didn't relish the idea of playing West for the king of hearts. West might have held kings in three of the four suits, but he surely didn't have the king of diamonds and therefore could have led a diamond if he had held the king of hearts.

There was only one other chance, and South played for it. He put up the ace of hearts, cashed the ace of diamonds, and led two more top diamonds, discarding the jack of hearts from his hand. The odds were almost 2 to 1 against a 3-3 break in diamonds, but any other play was sheer surrender.

Fortunately for declarer, both defenders had to follow to three rounds of diamonds. Now declarer could lead a fourth diamond from the dummy and discard one of his losing clubs.

It didn't matter which opponent ruffed, for the ruff would come at the expense of a natural trump trick. South would lose only one club and two trumps.

Cold Reception

Oslo (AP)—When taking a summer cruise to Norway, better bring along some nice warm clothes and your skis. That at least is the impression of some 100 tourists from many nations, currently on a mid-summer cruise to the Norwegian fiords with the "Stella Polaris." Driving from Hjoerungafiord, 25 miles south of Aalesund across the mountains to Geirangerfiord, their touring cars were forced to return at the half way mark by a howling snowstorm. A scheduled skiing exhibition by crack Norwegian skiers on what was left of last year's snow was called off—because of too much fresh snow.

Youth Has Grown In Different World; Future Uncertain

By RELMAN MORIN

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—The American teen-ager and young adult today is a very different person, in many ways, from his parents when they were his age.

He has grown to awareness in a different world.

For example, his future is eminently uncertain. The shadow of another great war is always on his horizon. Even without an actual war he may be drafted. He has been assured that the shores of the United States no longer are secure, that "next time" A-bombs can be expected on his own city.

That fear of the future is not the only factor in making him what he is. There are others—parents, a different moral tone, the examples of misconduct in high places and so on.

Composite Picture

As a result, the people who know him best today draw this composite picture of his main traits. They say—

1. He is impatient for money and quick success.

2. He feels that the world owes him something, that somebody, somewhere, ought to take care of him.

3. He is better informed about most things—including sex—than his parents were at a comparable age.

4. Consciously or otherwise, he is following a be-merry-for-tomorrow-we-die philosophy in order to escape his anxieties and tensions.

Same Answers

But over and over again, with astonishing unanimity, probation officers and college officials, psychiatrists and businessmen, teachers, policemen and clergymen, come up with the same answers.

One of the most prominent men in America in sports (he asked that his name be withheld) recruits high school athletes for his own college, a small school. He said:

"Formerly, the best inducement was to assure a boy of a chance to get started in his own field after he finished college. But that doesn't interest them today.

"They want cash on the line. Not tuition, or jobs later, or anything else. They want to know how much right now."

Comparisons Drawn

Irving W. Halpern, a New York probation officer, has been studying youthful offenders for 41 years. He drew some comparisons:

"Crimes of violence and ingenuity used to be committed by older men. Today, kids are in all kinds of crime. The age-scale is going down.

"The reason, as I see it, is lowered moral tone generally. They're all out to make a quick buck, the quicker the better."

Margaret Spaulding, a department store executive, interviews and trains thousands of college graduates every year. She characterized them as "bright and interested, but terribly restless, impatient for promotion and money."

Are More Intelligent

Army statistics indicate that the young men today are more intelligent than their predecessors in the 1940 draft. They tend to score well above "average" in the aptitude and ability tests. But most professional soldiers say:

"The hardest thing for an American kid to take is discipline. They just don't seem to have met any before."

A number of people noted the somebody - should - take - care - of-me attitude. Max E. Hannum, assistant to the president of Franklin and Marshall College, said it is a major characteristic of young men.

A widely known psychiatrist, Dr. Robert P. Knight, of the Austin Riggs Foundation, at Stockbridge, Mass., explained in it these words.

"There has been a shift from reliance on individual competence and individual strength toward the expectancy of being looked after—in this case by the federal government. It is repeating, in maturity and on a national scale, what happened in childhood at home."

None of the men and women who deal with youngsters blame them, alone.

A Column of Contrary Opinion

Economics is not a demonstrable science. You cannot set up an exact formula and after working it out, say that such-and-such a result will occur.

The reason that economics is not a science is, obviously, because of the human factor that enters into it.

Accordingly, just as one may think he has devised a formula that will tell him what is going to happen next week or next month, the "unexpected" happens because people suddenly take into their heads to act very differently from what was expected of them.

This is repeatedly illustrated in the stock market, as everyone knows. There are any number of "systems" that are employed to detect weakness and strength in the market—and which are supposed to indicate the coming trends—but just about the time when all the systems point in the same direction the stock market mulishly crosses everybody up and goes off in a contrary direction. This was again illustrated in June. There seemed no doubt during June that all the systems pointed to a continuing and severe downtrend in stock prices. You could read bearish opinions by the score, as we mentioned here at the time. Then, all of a sudden the market stopped going down and marched straight uphill into new peak price levels.

Similarly with inflation. Everyone knew that inflation was going to continue and was going to get much worse back early in the year. Yet, in February the inflation slowed down, petered out, and we have witnessed considerable deflation since. The deflation has not shown up in the food basket, but this is plainly apparent in a long lost list of commodity prices and in wholesale prices.

There is one economic weather vane that is little understood by the public but which does show which way the inflation wind is likely to blow in the future. This is the factor of "money supply." You cannot pin down the indications for a specific week or month, but you can relie pretty strongly on the money factor for the longer term.

The supply of money and credit is the root of inflation, as we have repeated so often as perhaps to have become tiresome.

However, we repeat it again because every time you read some comment by a government bureaucrat or by the President, he always talks about "prices"—never about "money." This is natural because people understand prices and it is political strategy to talk about things the people understand and about things that will appeal emotionally to everybody.

Looking ahead, what will happen to the money supply? That should give us some answer to the future of inflation.

It is early to estimate accurately because the new tax program has not yet been worked out finally. Whereas the supply of money before taxes will increase because of the outpouring of funds for defense production—how much the supply of spendable money will increase will depend upon how much is taken away by taxes.

However, it seems clear that the supply of money will start to increase again, in any event.

So, we next have to consider the psychological question — the human factor.

Will people spend this additional money or will savings continue to increase?

We know that at the moment there is a large over-supply of most goods. There are few shortages. Prices of many articles are being reduced to stimulate public buying. If the public continues to hold off, believing that "prices are too high," a renewed inflation will not catch fire.

The production of consumers' goods has been underestimated, and it is possible that the production of the things the public buys will remain high enough to satisfy most demands in coming months. That is, the estimates that the defense program would absorb so much production that there wouldn't be enough consumers' goods to go around, may prove erroneous.

The foregoing seems to be a rough outline of the "formula" as it applies to inflation. But, as mentioned earlier, the formulas in economics are always subject to what you and I, and the other millions of people, decide to do with our money.

Inasmuch as the money supply is destined to increase there will be tinder to kindle the inflation blaze. That we know. The human factor will have to be weighed from week to week, as that is a mercurial factor that can change overnight.

Bills Are Read

Hong Kong, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Hong Kong government took the first step today towards compulsory military service when the legislative council passed the first reading for four service bills. They appeared certain to become law within 30 days. The measure—apparently inspired by the tense Far East situation—affects all male citizens of the United Kingdom and colonies between the ages of 18 and 60, who reside here. Both whites and Chinese are included.

Will Sign Contract

Utica, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—A two-year contract granting pay raises to 20,000 truckmen and dock workers in 15 upstate cities will be signed Friday in Syracuse. The New York State Teamsters Council (AFL) announced last night that full agreement had been reached with an employers' group after 10 days of conferences. Rocco F. De Perno, chairman of the teamsters' negotiating committee, said the contract would give over-the-road drivers $1.50 for each 20 miles, six paid holidays annually, increased expense money and other benefits. Local drivers and dock workers will get a pay boost of 12 cents an hour and their work week will be cut from 50 to 48 hours.

Youth Has Grown In Different World; Future Uncertain

By RELMAN MORIN

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—The American teen-ager and young adult today is a very different person, in many ways, from his parents when they were his age.

He has grown to awareness in a different world.

For example, his future is eminently uncertain. The shadow of another great war is always on his horizon. Even without an actual war he may be drafted. He has been assured that the shores of the United States no longer are secure, that "next time" A-bombs can be expected on his own city.

That fear of the future is not the only factor in making him what he is. There are others—parents, a different moral tone, the examples of misconduct in high places and so on.

As a result, the people who know him best today draw this composite picture of his main traits. They say—

1. He is impatient for money and quick success.

2. He feels that the world owes him something, that somebody, somewhere, ought to take care of him.

3. He is better informed about most things—including sex—than his parents were at a comparable age.

4. Consciously or otherwise, he is following a be-merry-for-tomorrow-we-die philosophy in order to escape his anxieties and tensions.

Same Answers

But over and over again, with astonishing unanimity, probation officers and college officials, psychiatrists and businessmen, teachers, policemen and clergymen, come up with the same answers.

One of the most prominent men in America in sports (he asked that his name be withheld) recruits high school athletes for his own college, a small school. He said:

"Formerly, the best inducement was to assure a boy of a chance to get started in his own field after he finished college. But that doesn't interest them today.

"They want cash on the line. Not tuition, or jobs later, or anything else. They want to know how much right now."

Comparisons Drawn

Irving W. Halpern, a New York probation officer, has been studying youthful offenders for 41 years. He drew some comparisons:

"Crimes of violence and ingenuity used to be committed by older men. Today, kids are in all kinds of crime. The age-scale is going down.

Turck Pitches Two-Hitter Before 500 Fans

Kearney Launches Winning Rally

The KAA Little League All Stars are all square with the Poughkeepsie American All Stars.

Tony Turck, the stout-hearted young right hander, blanked the Bridge City club, 2 to 0, on a sparkling two-hitter before 500 fans Tuesday at St. Mary's Field.

The local victory avenged a previous defeat in Newburgh in the Region One intersectionals.

Victory didn't come easily for the locals, who had to rely on a fielders choice and infield out to pick up their two runs in the first inning.

That was all the scoring for the game as Turck and his rival, Jack Madden, mowed down the batters in relentless fashion. Turck, who fanned six, had a one-hitter with two out in the sixth. Then Duke Semilof booted a grounder and a Poughkeepsie player followed with a scratch hit near second base.

Kingston collected three hits off Madden, including a double by the irrespressible Nick Kearney. Semilof and Willie Cragan were credited with the other safeties.

The game was reeled off in slightly more than one hour. A return game scheduled for Thursday in Poughkeepsie has been postponed until a later date.

Kearney Starts Rally

Nick Kearney launched the winning rally in the very first inning, coaxing a walk as the leadoff batter. Willie Cragan beat out a bunt single and Turck advanced the runners with a bunt. Kearney beat the relay to the plate after Hoffman grounded to third and Cragan scored when Pete Blanschan forced Hoffman at second. That's all there was.

The two Poughkeepsie hits went to Bruce Stickter and Dave Longobardi, the youngster whose freak home beat the KAAs in the sectionals.

The 27th annual New York State Association bowling championships which will bring some 1600 teams, 10,000 individuals and nearly a quarter million dollars to the city, cannot be construed as a shoestring promotion.

It is an undertaking of vast magnitude, will require inexhaustible energy on the part of Kingston Bowling Association members and deserves the unqualified support of every merchant in the city.

State Secretary George A. Obenauer of Buffalo on his visit here last week told the KBA's "Big Four" Committee that: "You should have $2,000 on hand now." The KBA has in the neighborhood of $700. All of which means that support must be secured from other quarters, unless the KBA borrows against anticipated income.

"Get yourself competent, paid help and don't try to run this thing on a shoestring," Obenauer warned the KBA group.

There is a tremendous job ahead of local bowling. The ladies proved they could handle it and the men will do likewise. But let no one kid anybody else about the seriousness of the responsibility and obligation that confronts the KBA.

• Whitey Ford Follows Long List:

When Ed "Whitey" Ford, the Yankee rookie pitching sensation of 1950, unleashes his southpaw rockets against the Long Island Greys for Tommy Maines' All Stars in the Police-Cordts doubleheader on Aug. 29, he joins a long list of major league notables who have pitched for local clubs in "big" games.

Ahead of Ford came stalwarts like Jack Warhop, Harry Harper, whom the original Colonials paid a small mint for a one-day stand; Frank "Spec" Shea; Paul Schrieber, who later earned fame as a Yankee batting practice hurler; Randy Gumpert, now with the Chicago White Sox and others whose names escape us at the moment.

Wednesday, Aug. 29, also marks the 12th anniversary of the installation of the lighting system at the municipal stadium. The KPA through its co-chairmen, Ed "Chief" Leonard and Earl Schoonmaker are doing everything possible to make Aug. 29 an epic date in local baseball history.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Bernard A. "Bud" Culloton, ace of the original Colonial staff, recently enjoyed a reunion with the 1925-26 Pittsburgh Pirates in the Smoky City and that's worth a column in a future issue. Poughkeepsie Elks shucked their high priced talent and went for area players with no appreciable loss in the boxscore or gain in the boxoffice. Semi-pro baseball promotion is murder these days, but there are always dreamers and promoters who think they can put it across. The woods will be full of them around here, if the Colonials decide they will not function in 1952. But that's getting the cart ahead of the horse, isn't it? Warren Smith deserves a round of applause for his tireless efforts in trying to stimulate late-season interest in the Colonials. The Soshmen are a tough-luck crew who just can't seem to get started on a respectable winning streak. If Sosh is around another season, he will demand an extensive spring training period. "That's where you spot the weaknesses and correct the mistakes," he says. "Once the season gets under way and there is a constant turnover of personnel, it becomes a tough problem."

City bowling leagues rushing to get early start because of the state tournament opening next April 2. However, few leagues will be really hard hit by the date and those operating on Monday and Tuesday can operate indefinitely. The Hudson Youth Bureau will conduct its annual softball tournament, starting Sept. 2, with a doubleheader and continuing with a single game on Sept. 4, 5, 6, 7. Area teams interested are asked to write William J. Bub, Jr., director of the tourney, care of City Hall, Hudson, N. Y.

Les Brink, the perennial baseball rookie in Saugerties, is pounding the drums for the Kingston-Saugerties "Old Timers" for "any Sunday after Sept. 2." Wait until it gets cooler, will you, Les?

Choice For Successors to A. B. Chandler Down to Lausche, Giles and Ford Frick

Selection Due On September 20

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—Baseball's new commissioner, who may be named at the major league joint meeting in Chicago Sept. 20, likely will be either Ford Frick, Warren Giles or Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio, but the field still is open to a darkhorse.

In a six and a half hour meeting here yesterday, the club owners narrowed the field of candidates down to these three men, the Associated Press learned today. The owners also voted that the executive council call a meeting for Sept. 20 for the express purpose of electing a czar, with increased powers and a larger salary than any of his predecessors. However, the fact that three names remain, does not mean that one must be elected commissioner. Happy Chandler, the ousted commissioner, was a dark horse when he was elected.

Del Webb, vice president of the New York Yankees and chairman of the screening committee, announced at the close of yesterday's session that the field had been whittled down from 11 to five.

It was learned on strong authority, however, that two of the five Webb had in mind were Douglas MacArthur and Milton Eisenhower, president of Penn State. The others were Gov. Lausche, Giles and Frick. Giles is president of the Cincinnati Reds and Frick is president of the National League.

Eisenhower and MacArthur could still be considered last minute candidates if either decides to throw his hat into the ring. Up to now, both have said they felt "honored but could not accept the position." However, it was felt in some quarters that they might change their minds.

Fishing Rodeo Set August 27

The Recreation Department in cooperation with Better Fishing Inc. will conduct the second annual small fry Fishing Rodeo on Monday, Aug. 27, at Chick Miller's dock in Eddyville.

The fishing rodeo inaugurated last summer is open to all boys and girls in the city of Kingston under the age of 17. Prizes are offered by Better Fishing, Inc. for top catches in various classifications.

Lines will be cast at 11 a. m. and all fish caught between that time and 3 p. m. will be eligible for prizes.

Williams Lake Races Scheduled August 25

Legion and Kiwanis Trophies Are Up

The American Legion and Kiwanis Club trophies—emblematic of Ulster county swimming championships in male and female divisions—will be up for grabs in the annual Williams Lake Athletic Club swimfest on Sunday in Rosendale.

The Legion race—a 100-yard freestyle event for men of Ulster county—is the top feature of the day. The Kiwanis trophy for women will be contested for over the 50-yard freestyle route.

These races are sanctioned by the Adirondack District of AAU, with the winners recognized as county champions in these events.

This year's program will be filled out with a complete card of supporting events open to any member of the AAU.

Last year's winner of the American Legion race, Merle Thorpe, is expected to defend his title against a host of newcomers in the area, including Herbert Busboom of Rosendale, who recently won the race at DeWitt Lake. Betty Raisner, three time winner of the Kiwanis trophy will also defend her title. Chief among her contenders will be Altrude Palmer, of New Paltz and Judy Kelder, of Rosendale.

New Yorkers Enter

Entries in the open events have already been received from the Newburgh Aquatic Club who it appears will be the chief contender for the team trophy. The Cirigliano Brothers of the metropolitan area have also entered in most of the events. These boys have been outstanding in races around New York city and should prove a sensation at next weeks races.

This meeting will also mark the end of the Williams Lake Swimming contest for the boys' and girls' of the community and spectators will have an opportunity to see the performances of some of the real young local youngsters. Gloria Leimweber, probably the most outstanding entrant in this group will also be seen in some of the open events. Prizes of medals and trophies will be given out at this time.

Portland, Ore. — Harry "Kid" Matthews, 172, Seattle, stopped Jose Barora, 172, New York 4.

Newburgh Host To Grid Rams

The high-flying Los Angeles Rams, who have scored 113 points in their first two exhibition games, will make Newburgh their headquarters in preparation for the Fresh Air Fund game with the New York Giants at the Polo Grounds on Sept. 20 and, when they get to Newburgh on Sept. 15, they will be accorded one of the greatest receptions ever given a visiting football team.

Wesley, Gill, sports editor of the Newburgh News, has been named chairman of a reception committee which includes members of the Kiwanis, Optimist, Rotary and Lions Clubs and also the Chamber of Commerce. Mayor Herbert A. Warden of Newburgh will greet the Rams upon their arrival, after which the entire town is expected to turn out for a gigantic torchlight parade. The following evening, a welcoming banquet will be tendered the Rams.

A group of 500 Newburgh rooters are traveling en masse to the game, which is expected to be the best in the 13-year Fresh Air Football series.

Poughkeepsie Elks shucked their high priced talent and went for area players with no appreciable loss in the boxscore or gain in the boxoffice. Semi-pro baseball promotion is murder these days, but there are always dreamers and promoters who think they can put it across. The woods will be full of them around here, if the Colonials decide they will not function in 1952. But that's getting the cart ahead of the horse, isn't it? Warren Smith deserves a round of applause for his tireless efforts in trying to stimulate late-season interest in the Colonials. The Soshmen are a tough-luck crew who just can't seem to get started on a respectable winning streak. If Sosh is around another season, he will demand an extensive spring training period. "That's where you spot the weaknesses and correct the mistakes," he says. "Once the season gets under way and there is a constant turnover of personnel, it becomes a tough problem."

City bowling leagues rushing to get early start because of the state tournament opening next April 2. However, few leagues will be really hard hit by the date and those operating on Monday and Tuesday can operate indefinitely. The Hudson Youth Bureau will conduct its annual softball tournament, starting Sept. 2, with a doubleheader and continuing with a single game on Sept. 4, 5, 6, 7. Area teams interested are asked to write William J. Bub, Jr., director of the tourney, care of City Hall, Hudson, N. Y.

Les Brink, the perennial baseball rookie in Saugerties, is pounding the drums for the Kingston-Saugerties "Old Timers" for "any Sunday after Sept. 2." Wait until it gets cooler, will you, Les?

Selection Due On September 20

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—Baseball's new commissioner, who may be named at the major league joint meeting in Chicago Sept. 20, likely will be either Ford Frick, Warren Giles or Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio, but the field still is open to a darkhorse.

In a six and a half hour meeting here yesterday, the club owners narrowed the field of candidates down to these three men, the Associated Press learned today. The owners also voted that the executive council call a meeting for Sept. 20 for the express purpose of electing a czar, with increased powers and a larger salary than any of his predecessors. However, the fact that three names remain, does not mean that one must be elected commissioner. Happy Chandler, the ousted commissioner, was a dark horse when he was elected.

Del Webb, vice president of the New York Yankees and chairman of the screening committee, announced at the close of yesterday's session that the field had been whittled down from 11 to five.

It was learned on strong authority, however, that two of the five Webb had in mind were Douglas MacArthur and Milton Eisenhower, president of Penn State. The others were Gov. Lausche, Giles and Frick. Giles is president of the Cincinnati Reds and Frick is president of the National League.

Eisenhower and MacArthur could still be considered last minute candidates if either decides to throw his hat into the ring. Up to now, both have said they felt "honored but could not accept the position." However, it was felt in some quarters that they might change their minds.

Williams Lake Races Scheduled August 25

Legion and Kiwanis Trophies Are Up

The American Legion and Kiwanis Club trophies—emblematic of Ulster county swimming championships in male and female divisions—will be up for grabs in the annual Williams Lake Athletic Club swimfest on Sunday in Rosendale.

The Legion race—a 100-yard freestyle event for men of Ulster county—is the top feature of the day. The Kiwanis trophy for women will be contested for over the 50-yard freestyle route.

These races are sanctioned by the Adirondack District of AAU, with the winners recognized as county champions in these events.

This year's program will be filled out with a complete card of supporting events open to any member of the AAU.

Last year's winner of the American Legion race, Merle Thorpe, is expected to defend his title against a host of newcomers in the area, including Herbert Busboom of Rosendale, who recently won the race at DeWitt Lake. Betty Raisner, three time winner of the Kiwanis trophy will also defend her title. Chief among her contenders will be Altrude Palmer, of New Paltz and Judy Kelder, of Rosendale.

New Yorkers Enter

Entries in the open events have already been received from the Newburgh Aquatic Club who it appears will be the chief contender for the team trophy. The Cirigliano Brothers of the metropolitan area have also entered in most of the events. These boys have been outstanding in races around New York city and should prove a sensation at next weeks races.

This meeting will also mark the end of the Williams Lake Swimming contest for the boys' and girls' of the community and spectators will have an opportunity to see the performances of some of the real young local youngsters. Gloria Leimweber, probably the most outstanding entrant in this group will also be seen in some of the open events. Prizes of medals and trophies will be given out at this time.

Portland, Ore. — Harry "Kid" Matthews, 172, Seattle, stopped Jose Barora, 172, New York 4.

Newburgh Host To Grid Rams

The high-flying Los Angeles Rams, who have scored 113 points in their first two exhibition games, will make Newburgh their headquarters in preparation for the Fresh Air Fund game with the New York Giants at the Polo Grounds on Sept. 20 and, when they get to Newburgh on Sept. 15, they will be accorded one of the greatest receptions ever given a visiting football team.

Wesley, Gill, sports editor of the Newburgh News, has been named chairman of a reception committee which includes members of the Kiwanis, Optimist, Rotary and Lions Clubs and also the Chamber of Commerce. Mayor Herbert A. Warden of Newburgh will greet the Rams upon their arrival, after which the entire town is expected to turn out for a gigantic torchlight parade. The following evening, a welcoming banquet will be tendered the Rams.

A group of 500 Newburgh rooters are traveling en masse to the game, which is expected to be the best in the 13-year Fresh Air Football series.

Honolulu—Henry Davis, 133½, Honolulu, outpointed Enrique Bolanos, 137¼, Los Angeles, 10.

Maines Pounds Two Homers as Late Jones Rally Beats Chezzies, 6-3

Narrowly Misses Third Circuit; Swarthout Foiled

Disregards Manager's Call on Fatal Shot

Veteran Tommy Maines maintained his sensational home run pace in the City Baseball League by pounding two homers and narrowly missing a third, as Jones Dairy wrapped up Chez Emile, regular league champions, 6 to 3, in the opener of the "A" Shaughnessy series, Tuesday at the Athletic Field.

The big fellow who patrols centerfield for the Dairymen hit his first circuit clout over the cars in left field in the second inning to put the Dairymen ahead, 1-0.

He blasted a three-run homer in the Joneses' five-run sixth, after backing Bud Scheffel against the fence in deep left on his second trip to the plate.

The two four-play wallops gave Tommy a total of four in his last six trips to the plate.

Maines' second homer ruined the Chezzies who went into the last inning leading, 3 to 1. And it was a particularly bitter blow to Swarthout, who refused to heed the advice of Manager Bill Glaser and tried to blow a fast one by Maines, instead of walking the big guy as the manager ordered.

Two Big Outs

All the Chezzie troubles started with two out in the top of the fifth. Little Johnny Berardi opened with a single and Bob Graves advanced him to second with another single. Swarthout appeared to be out of the woods when the dangerous Tom Carlino fanned and Charlie Neff flied to right.

With darkness moving in rapidly, it was obvious that one more out would wind up the game as a Chez victory. But the gods had deemed otherwise. Daisy Schatzel kept the rally alive with a ground rule double over the left center snow fence, scoring Berardi and putting Graves on third and leaving first base open.

Percentage dictated that Maines be walked and set up a play at every base and Glaser ordered Swarthout to make the obvious move. But the big southpaw would have none of it and tried to breeze it past the smoking hot Maines. The big guy gently dropped one of the pellets over center field fence for three-runs and in quick succession Bob Shelightner singled; Ronnie Scheffel booted Jones' grounder and pinch hitter, Hugo Knauert, delivered a single for the fifth run of the frame.

Big Sal Misasi, who relieved starter Clark Donlon in the bottom of the fifth, held the fort without damage.

Chez Emile had picked up two runs in the third on a clutch single by Ronnie Scheffel and a double on which Joe Norton scored the run. The Chezzies scored another marker in the fourth on Joe Norton's single and apparently had two but Swarthout was called out for failing to touch third base.

Messinger's Memos: Maines, Bob Shelightner and Charlie Neff each had a brace of blows for the winners, who are now in a great spot to sweep the series with Tommy Fisher on Thursday. Donlon and Misasi permitted only four hits between them—all singles. Swarthout lost the support of some of the fans by his refusal to heed the instructions of Manager George Glaser, who was acting as field leader in the absence of Joe Hoffman. Wiltwyck Motors are expected to send Gene McClelland against "Bullet Bill' Tierney of Boulevard Gulf in the opener of the "B" series this evening.

Greys Shut Out Bushwicks, 1-0

The Long Island Greys, who are scheduled to meet Tommy Maines' All Stars in the second game of the Police-Cordts Hose doubleheader on Wednesday, Aug. 29, at municipal stadium, showed their class Sunday by shutting out the famous Bushwicks, 1 to 0.

Ken Pine, Staten Island pitching wizard, who will oppose Ed "Whitey" Ford, New York Yankee southpaw now in service, held the Bushwicks to four scattered hits. He is expected to prove rugged opposition for the Yankee rookie southpaw sensation of 1950.

The Greys, who will feature several former Kingston Recreation Stars like Frankie Bambara, Johnny Gentile, Frank Shelley, Steve Ristau, Jack Price and many others hold victories over the Poughkeepsie Elks, Union City Reds, Somerville Browns, Riverhead Falcons and many other top-notch outfits.

The Scoreboard

Bobby Feller has reached the second of three goals set before the start of the 1951 season.

The 32-year-old righthander of the Cleveland Indians set 20 victories, a World Series triumph and a no-hitter as his prime targets for the season. He got his no-hitter against Detroit on July 1.

Feller realized his second ambition last night as he became the major's first 20-game winner, and the way the Indians are traveling these days he stands a good chance of attaining the other.

The no-hit master pitched the Indians to a 6-0 triumph over the Washington Senators and preserved Cleveland's one game edge over the runner-up New York Yankees. The Yanks hammered the Detroit Tigers, 11-4, while the St. Louis Browns upset the third place Boston Red Sox, 6-4, and the Chicago White Sox defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 13-5, in other American League games.

Meanwhile, in the National League, the New York Giants stretched their winning streak to ten games, beating the Cincinnati Reds, 7-4. The Philadelphia Phils nipped the Chicago Cubs, 3-2, in 12 innings in completing a suspended game of July 22 and then downed the Cubs, 4-1, in the regular scheduled night game. The Boston Braves clipped the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-1. Rain washed out a game between St. Louis and Brooklyn in the third inning.

Feller allowed only six singles and was in command throughout. It was Feller's first 20 victory season since 1947 and his sixth in 13 seasons—a feat matched by only five other American League pitchers, Cy Young, Walt Johnson, Lefty Grove, Wes Ferrell and Eddie Plank.

The Indians provided Feller with a 5-0 lead at the end of three innings. Harry Simpson drove home the first run and Ray Boone and Al Rosen knocked in the next four. Larry Doby ended the scoring with his 19th homer in the seventh. The loss was Washington's tenth straight.

Yogi Berra, Gene Woodling and Johnny Mize led the Yanks' 17-hit attack against the Tigers at Detroit. Berra poled his third homer in as many games to open the Yank scoring. Woodling drove home four runs on as many hits and Mize featured a five-run fourth inning with a two-run homer. Little Art Schallock scattered seven Tiger hits in going the distance for the first time.

Colonials Open Six-Night Stand Thnrsday Against Rome Colonels

Business Men's Night Will Be Observed

Rained out in Amsterdam last night, the Colonials will meet the Rugmakers in a doubleheader tonight before heading home to open a six-night stand at municipal stadium.

The Rome Colonels are in for a twi-night doubleheader starting at 6:30 p. m. Thursday and make their final appearance of the season at 8 o'clock on Friday.

The Colonials will stage their biggest promotion of the season Saturday night in conjunction with the Oneonta Red Sox game. Manager Owen Scheetz's league leaders are also scheduled for Sunday.

Monday and Tuesday games with the Gloversville Glovers and the Sunday, Sept. 2 pairing with the Pittsfield Electrics round out the 1951 Can-Am campaign for Kingston. The club plays its final games on Labor Day in Pittsfield.

Business Men's Night

Thursday night's doubleheader will be part of Uptown Business Men's Night, with several hundred fans attending as guests of various uptown merchants.

Jay Melton and Charles Fabiano of the uptown business men's group have been working with a Colonial committee in arranging details for the night.

Meanwhile, officials and directors of Kingston Baseball Club, Inc. are scheduled to meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the Hotel Stuyvesant. Business Manager Warren Smith said this morning that only routine business would be transacted.

Last night's washout gave Manager Johnny Sosh an opportunity to regroup his forces for the six-day stand in Kingston and he is hopeful that his starters can go the route. Those bases on balls and an unexpected defensive collapse by the usually reliable Johnny DiFresco have hurt the club in recent games.

Elsewhere in the league last night, the Pittsfield Electrics could blame their own generosity for their failure to trim Oneonta's 5½ game lead in the Can-Am loop.

Issue 14 Walks

The second-place Electrics donated 14 walks and six errors to the front-running Red Sox in the second game of a doubleheader at Oneonta. The handouts helped Oneonta to a 13-1 victory after Pittsfield had taken the opener, 6 to 4.

Wet grounds caused postponement of Gloversville-Rome doubleheader.

The Electrics lost valuable time in the flag race when they dropped the second game. A double victory would have shaved the Red Sox magin to 3½ games with only two weeks remaining in the pennant scramble.

Sterling Singley gave up eight walks before he was relieved by Bud Leach in the sixth inning of the nightcap. Leach doled out six more passes. The Sox chipped in with 11 hits.

In the opener, Pittsfield wiped out a four-run Oneonta lead with five runs in the second and third frames.

Other Promotions

The popular Port Ewen Fife and Drum Corps will be an added attraction Saturday night at the stadium.

The local National Guard unit will stage a formal retreat ceremony at the stadium in conjunction with the Monday, Aug. 27 game with Gloversville. The various phases of the retreat and drill will be narrated over the stadium PA system. Saugerties Night will also be observed that night, with a delegation of Saugerties fans honoring the Colonials.

State Amateur Golf At Wolferts Roost

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—The 30th New York State Amateur golf tournament will be held at Wolferts Roost Country Club here next July 8-12, probably under a new all-match-play setup patterned after the National Amateur.

The date and site were announced last night after a meeting of the Wolferts Roost Board of Directors.

Officials of the New York State Golf Association said they were making plans to abolish qualifying play at the tournament and substitute sectional qualifying rounds. The 128 players surviving would launch five days of match play on July 8.

Oscar Guilfoil of Syracuse, president of the state association, said final details of the plan had not been worked out and the districts had not been determined.

Billy Shields of Albany won the 1951 state title at White Plains last month.

Saratoga Sales Running High

Saratoga, Springs, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—Transactions at the Saratoga yearling sales are more the $350,000 above the 1950 total, with one session tonight still to go.

In the six nights of the sale so far this year, 287 youngsters have sold for $1,544,500, an average of $5,515.

Wheatcroft Reaches Tournament Finals

Upends Chet Fox In Straight Sets

Irving Wheatcroft, English-bred tennis star who shares the Ulster county amateur tennis doubles crown with Joe Scott of Kingston, has advanced to the finals of the Kiwanis tennis tournament.

His opponent will be the winner of the Joe Scott-Bill Holmes match. Holmes is the defending champion.

Wheatcroft breezed to the finals in the singles division by polishing off Don Laidlaw, 6-0, 6-0; G. Herbert DeKay, 6-1, 6-1 and then conquering ex-champion Chet Fox with unexpected ease, 6-0 and 6-3.

Holmes launched the defense of his crown with a 6-2, 6-4 conquest of Herb Gertner. Scott eliminated Herb Awkerman, 6-2, 6-1 and then rallied to defeat veteran Nick Fowler, 0-6, 7-5, 6-3.

Holmes and Scott are scheduled to play their match on Monday, Aug. 27 to determine Wheatcroft's opponent in the finals.

Doubles Start

Doubles play got under way with Chet Fox and Ed Lacey taking the lead in a hotly contested match against Joe Shattan and Bill Weishaupt, 6-3, 4-6 and 6-3.

Other results:

Nick Fowler defeated Dan Fitzgerald, 6-3, 7-5.

Chet Fox defeated Harold Macholdt, 6-0, 6-0.

Maines Pounds Two Homers as Late Jones Rally Beats Chezzies, 6-3

Disregards Manager's Call on Fatal Shot

Veteran Tommy Maines maintained his sensational home run pace in the City Baseball League by pounding two homers and narrowly missing a third, as Jones Dairy wrapped up Chez Emile, regular league champions, 6 to 3, in the opener of the "A" Shaughnessy series, Tuesday at the Athletic Field.

The big fellow who patrols centerfield for the Dairymen hit his first circuit clout over the cars in left field in the second inning to put the Dairymen ahead, 1-0.

He blasted a three-run homer in the Joneses' five-run sixth, after backing Bud Scheffel against the fence in deep left on his second trip to the plate.

The two four-play wallops gave Tommy a total of four in his last six trips to the plate.

Maines' second homer ruined the Chezzies who went into the last inning leading, 3 to 1. And it was a particularly bitter blow to Swarthout, who refused to heed the advice of Manager Bill Glaser and tried to blow a fast one by Maines, instead of walking the big guy as the manager ordered.

Two Big Outs

All the Chezzie troubles started with two out in the top of the fifth. Little Johnny Berardi opened with a single and Bob Graves advanced him to second with another single. Swarthout appeared to be out of the woods when the dangerous Tom Carlino fanned and Charlie Neff flied to right.

With darkness moving in rapidly, it was obvious that one more out would wind up the game as a Chez victory. But the gods had deemed otherwise. Daisy Schatzel kept the rally alive with a ground rule double over the left center snow fence, scoring Berardi and putting Graves on third and leaving first base open.

Percentage dictated that Maines be walked and set up a play at every base and Glaser ordered Swarthout to make the obvious move. But the big southpaw would have none of it and tried to breeze it past the smoking hot Maines. The big guy gently dropped one of the pellets over center field fence for three-runs and in quick succession Bob Shelightner singled; Ronnie Scheffel booted Jones' grounder and pinch hitter, Hugo Knauert, delivered a single for the fifth run of the frame.

Big Sal Misasi, who relieved starter Clark Donlon in the bottom of the fifth, held the fort without damage.

Chez Emile had picked up two runs in the third on a clutch single by Ronnie Scheffel and a double on which Joe Norton scored the run. The Chezzies scored another marker in the fourth on Joe Norton's single and apparently had two but Swarthout was called out for failing to touch third base.

Messinger's Memos: Maines, Bob Shelightner and Charlie Neff each had a brace of blows for the winners, who are now in a great spot to sweep the series with Tommy Fisher on Thursday. Donlon and Misasi permitted only four hits between them—all singles. Swarthout lost the support of some of the fans by his refusal to heed the instructions of Manager George Glaser, who was acting as field leader in the absence of Joe Hoffman. Wiltwyck Motors are expected to send Gene McClelland against "Bullet Bill' Tierney of Boulevard Gulf in the opener of the "B" series this evening.

Greys Shut Out Bushwicks, 1-0

The Long Island Greys, who are scheduled to meet Tommy Maines' All Stars in the second game of the Police-Cordts Hose doubleheader on Wednesday, Aug. 29, at municipal stadium, showed their class Sunday by shutting out the famous Bushwicks, 1 to 0.

Ken Pine, Staten Island pitching wizard, who will oppose Ed "Whitey" Ford, New York Yankee southpaw now in service, held the Bushwicks to four scattered hits. He is expected to prove rugged opposition for the Yankee rookie southpaw sensation of 1950.

The Greys, who will feature several former Kingston Recreation Stars like Frankie Bambara, Johnny Gentile, Frank Shelley, Steve Ristau, Jack Price and many others hold victories over the Poughkeepsie Elks, Union City Reds, Somerville Browns, Riverhead Falcons and many other top-notch outfits.

The Scoreboard

|---|---|---|---|
| | 2 | 4 | 1 |

Bobby Feller has reached the second of three goals set before the start of the 1951 season.

The 32-year-old righthander of the Cleveland Indians set 20 victories, a World Series triumph and a no-hitter as his prime targets for the season. He got his no-hitter against Detroit on July 1.

Feller realized his second ambition last night as he became the major's first 20-game winner, and the way the Indians are traveling these days he stands a good chance of attaining the other.

The no-hit master pitched the Indians to a 6-0 triumph over the Washington Senators and preserved Cleveland's one game edge over the runner-up New York Yankees. The Yanks hammered the Detroit Tigers, 11-4, while the St. Louis Browns upset the third place Boston Red Sox, 6-4, and the Chicago White Sox defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 13-5, in other American League games.

Meanwhile, in the National League, the New York Giants stretched their winning streak to ten games, beating the Cincinnati Reds, 7-4. The Philadelphia Phils nipped the Chicago Cubs, 3-2, in 12 innings in completing a suspended game of July 22 and then downed the Cubs, 4-1, in the regular scheduled night game. The Boston Braves clipped the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-1. Rain washed out a game between St. Louis and Brooklyn in the third inning.

Feller allowed only six singles and was in command throughout. It was Feller's first 20 victory season since 1947 and his sixth in 13 seasons—a feat matched by only five other American League pitchers, Cy Young, Walt Johnson, Lefty Grove, Wes Ferrell and Eddie Plank.

The Indians provided Feller with a 5-0 lead at the end of three innings. Harry Simpson drove home the first run and Ray Boone and Al Rosen knocked in the next four. Larry Doby ended the scoring with his 19th homer in the seventh. The loss was Washington's tenth straight.

Yogi Berra, Gene Woodling and Johnny Mize led the Yanks' 17-hit attack against the Tigers at Detroit. Berra poled his third homer in as many games to open the Yank scoring. Woodling drove home four runs on as many hits and Mize featured a five-run fourth inning with a two-run homer. Little Art Schallock scattered seven Tiger hits in going the distance for the first time.

Colonials Open Six-Night Stand Thnrsday Against Rome Colonels

Business Men's Night Will Be Observed

Rained out in Amsterdam last night, the Colonials will meet the Rugmakers in a doubleheader tonight before heading home to open a six-night stand at municipal stadium.

The Rome Colonels are in for a twi-night doubleheader starting at 6:30 p. m. Thursday and make their final appearance of the season at 8 o'clock on Friday.

The Colonials will stage their biggest promotion of the season Saturday night in conjunction with the Oneonta Red Sox game. Manager Owen Scheetz's league leaders are also scheduled for Sunday.

Monday and Tuesday games with the Gloversville Glovers and the Sunday, Sept. 2 pairing with the Pittsfield Electrics round out the 1951 Can-Am campaign for Kingston. The club plays its final games on Labor Day in Pittsfield.

Business Men's Night

Thursday night's doubleheader will be part of Uptown Business Men's Night, with several hundred fans attending as guests of various uptown merchants.

Jay Melton and Charles Fabiano of the uptown business men's group have been working with a Colonial committee in arranging details for the night.

Meanwhile, officials and directors of Kingston Baseball Club, Inc. are scheduled to meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the Hotel Stuyvesant. Business Manager Warren Smith said this morning that only routine business would be transacted.

Last night's washout gave Manager Johnny Sosh an opportunity to regroup his forces for the six-day stand in Kingston and he is hopeful that his starters can go the route. Those bases on balls and an unexpected defensive collapse by the usually reliable Johnny DiFresco have hurt the club in recent games.

Elsewhere in the league last night, the Pittsfield Electrics could blame their own generosity for their failure to trim Oneonta's 5½ game lead in the Can-Am loop.

Issue 14 Walks

The second-place Electrics donated 14 walks and six errors to the front-running Red Sox in the second game of a doubleheader at Oneonta. The handouts helped Oneonta to a 13-1 victory after Pittsfield had taken the opener, 6 to 4.

Wet grounds caused postponement of Gloversville-Rome doubleheader.

The Electrics lost valuable time in the flag race when they dropped the second game. A double victory would have shaved the Red Sox magin to 3½ games with only two weeks remaining in the pennant scramble.

Sterling Singley gave up eight walks before he was relieved by Bud Leach in the sixth inning of the nightcap. Leach doled out six more passes. The Sox chipped in with 11 hits.

In the opener, Pittsfield wiped out a four-run Oneonta lead with five runs in the second and third frames.

Other Promotions

The popular Port Ewen Fife and Drum Corps will be an added attraction Saturday night at the stadium.

The local National Guard unit will stage a formal retreat ceremony at the stadium in conjunction with the Monday, Aug. 27 game with Gloversville. The various phases of the retreat and drill will be narrated over the stadium PA system. Saugerties Night will also be observed that night, with a delegation of Saugerties fans honoring the Colonials.

State Amateur Golf At Wolferts Roost

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—The 30th New York State Amateur golf tournament will be held at Wolferts Roost Country Club here next July 8-12, probably under a new, all-match-play setup patterned after the National Amateur.

The date and site were announced last night after a meeting of the Wolferts Roost Board of Directors.

Officials of the New York State Golf Association said they were making plans to abolish qualifying play at the tournament and substitute sectional qualifying rounds. The 128 players surviving would launch five days of match play on July 8.

Oscar Guilfoil of Syracuse, president of the state association, said final details of the plan had not been worked out and the districts had not been determined.

Billy Shields of Albany won the 1951 state title at White Plains last month.

Saratoga Sales Running High

In the six nights of the sale so far this year, 287 youngsters have sold for $1,544,500, an average of $5,515.

The seven-night total last year was $1,180,100 and the average $3,687.81 for 320 head. For the first six nights in 1950, sales amounted to $1,024,750, an average of $4,722 on 268 yearlings.

Last night, 44 head went for a total of $276,800 and an average of $6,290.

The highest price of the sixth session was $22,000 for a chestnut filly consigned by Kentmere Farm and sold to W. A. Kelly, an agent from Jamaica, N. Y. The filly, by Pavot out of Chalara, is a full sister of the Pimpernel, the winner of the 1951 Christiana Stake at Delaware Park and holder of the world record of 49 4/5 seconds for four and one-half furlongs.

Brookmeade Stable paid $17,500 for an imported bay colt by Bright News out of Suntop, consigned by Wood Park and Confey Stud.

Urzetta Heads Amateur Field

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—Defending champion Sam Urzetta and five former titlists head the record field of 1,426 entered in the 1951 National Amateur golf tournament.

The tournament will be staged Sept. 10-15 over the Saucon Valley Country Club, Bethlehem, Pa.

These champions are among 11 who will be exempt from sectional qualifying trials Aug. 28 at 32 scattered centers throughout the nation. In these tests, a total of 1,415 players will compete for 189 places in the bracket. The field will number 200, ten less than in 1950.

Other past champions in the field are: Charles (Chick) Evans, Jr., of Chicago, 1916-1920; Richard D. Chapman of Pinehurst, N. C., 1940; Stanley E. (Ted) Bishop, Cambridge, Mass., 1946; William Turnesa of Elmsford, N. Y., 1938-1948, and Charles R. Coe of Oklahoma City, 1949.

Wheatcroft Reaches Tournament Finals

Upends Chet Fox In Straight Sets

Irving Wheatcroft, English-bred tennis star who shares the Ulster county amateur tennis doubles crown with Joe Scott of Kingston, has advanced to the finals of the Kiwanis tennis tournament.

His opponent will be the winner of the Joe Scott-Bill Holmes match. Holmes is the defending champion.

Wheatcroft breezed to the finals in the singles division by polishing off Don Laidlaw, 6-0, 6-0; G. Herbert DeKay, 6-1, 6-1 and then conquering ex-champion Chet Fox with unexpected ease, 6-0 and 6-3.

Holmes launched the defense of his crown with a 6-2, 6-4 conquest of Herb Gertner. Scott eliminated Herb Awkerman, 6-2, 6-1 and then rallied to defeat veteran Nick Fowler, 0-6, 7-5, 6-3.

Holmes and Scott are scheduled to play their match on Monday, Aug. 27 to determine Wheatcroft's opponent in the finals.

Doubles Start

Doubles play got under way with Chet Fox and Ed Lacey taking the lead in a hotly contested match against Joe Shattan and Bill Weishaupt, 6-3, 4-6 and 6-3.

Other results:

Bud Smith Blanks Pioneers, 3-0

Bud Smith did not permit a Poughkeepsie Pioneer runner beyond first base until the seventh inning in pitching the Lanesville A. C. to a brilliant 3-0 victory over the Bridge City Negro nine, Sunday at Lanesville.

Cascio's double down the left field line in the seventh was the lone Poughkeepsie safety against the strong-armed right hander who struck out nine to register his sixth victory of the season.

Bush stroked three singles to lead the nine-hit Lanesville attack on Eddie Prince. Lee rapped a double and single. The winners scored twice in the third and added their final marker in the sixth.

A return game has been scheduled for Sept. 9 when the Pioneers will have the five Doxsey brothers in the lineup. Lanesville plays Shandaken next Sunday.

Car Was Runaway

A missing car reported to the police early today turned out to to be a runaway instead of a stolen vehicle. A woman visiting at 308 Washington avenue reported the car missing at 3:12 a. m. Officers Walter Van Steenburgh and Walter McDonough, investigated, and reported back that it was a "false alarm" because the car "had apparently coasted down a slight incline," crossed the street and jumped the curb at Washington and Lucas avenues.

Third Greatest Catastrophe

The windstorm that swept northeastern states on Thanksgiving weekend, 1950, ranks third among the nation's greatest catastrophes in the amount of insurance claims. It was exceeded only by the San Francisco fire of 1906 and the Chicago fire of 1871.

Murphy 2 to 1 Over Joey Maxim

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—Confident Bob Murphy predicts he will knock out light heavyweight king Joe Maxim and become the new champion about 9:30 p. m. (E.S.T.) tonight.

"I'm going to knock him out within seven rounds and with a left hook to the body," said the husky, hard-hitting San Diego redhead as he awaited the 9 p. m. (E.S.T.) starting gong for the 15-round title scrap in Madison Square Garden. The bout will be broadcast and telecast by the C.B.S. networks.

"I'll win—I've got to win," was the way Maxim put it. The tall, swarthy champion is defending his crown for the first time since he lifted it from Freddie Mills with a ten-round kayo in London 19 months ago.

The bettors lean strongly to Murphy. Solid support for the challenger in the last few days has zoomed him from an underdog to an 8½ to 5 choice. By fight time the California southpaw may be favored by 2 to 1 or more.

Bud Smith Blanks Pioneers, 3-0

Bud Smith did not permit a Poughkeepsie Pioneer runner beyond first base until the seventh inning in pitching the Lanesville A. C. to a brilliant 3-0 victory over the Bridge City Negro nine, Sunday at Lanesville.

Cascio's double down the left field line in the seventh was the lone Poughkeepsie safety against the strong-armed right hander who struck out nine to register his sixth victory of the season.

Bush stroked three singles to lead the nine-hit Lanesville attack on Eddie Prince. Lee rapped a double and single. The winners scored twice in the third and added their final marker in the sixth.

A return game has been scheduled for Sept. 9 when the Pioneers will have the five Doxsey brothers in the lineup. Lanesville plays Shandaken next Sunday.

Murphy 2 to 1 Over Joey Maxim

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—Confident Bob Murphy predicts he will knock out light heavyweight king Joe Maxim and become the new champion about 9:30 p. m. (E.S.T.) tonight.

"I'm going to knock him out within seven rounds and with a left hook to the body," said the husky, hard-hitting San Diego redhead as he awaited the 9 p. m. (E.S.T.) starting gong for the 15-round title scrap in Madison Square Garden. The bout will be broadcast and telecast by the C.B.S. networks.

"I'll win—I've got to win," was the way Maxim put it. The tall, swarthy champion is defending his crown for the first time since he lifted it from Freddie Mills with a ten-round kayo in London 19 months ago.

The bettors lean strongly to Murphy. Solid support for the challenger in the last few days has zoomed him from an underdog to an 8½ to 5 choice. By fight time the California southpaw may be favored by 2 to 1 or more.

course. Meanwhile, weather officials said, it is impossible to predict exactly what direction it will take.

Winds at the core of the hurricane are said to reach 115 to 130 miles an hour. They extend 75 miles in all directions from the center.

Body Washed Ashore

Raging seas lashing Mexico's Gulf Coast, washed a man's body ashore last night near Vera Cruz, a port 230 miles southeast of Tampico. Officials said the body was probably that of a crewman off some ship in the gulf. For miles on either side of Vera Cruz huge waves battered the shore.

Dispatches from Merida, Mexico, said the storm wrought havoc when it swept across Mexico's Yucatan peninsula Monday. Farmers said the corn crop was ruined.

The hurricane took its heaviest toll in the peninsula's eastern part. Calutmul reported 57 homes destroyed. The electric system at Port of Progreso was damaged severely. Movie houses and several homes were wrecked in Tigimiux. Some business houses there were smashed by falling palm trees.

Big Waves Hit U. S.

In the Texas lower Rio Grande valley, cotton growers waited apprehensively for gale winds in the hurricane's outer fringe.

Cameron county, Texas, county agent Frank Brunneman said there were 200,000 to 300,000 bales of the valley's bumper crop still to be harvested. Even slight rains, he said, would severely endanger the remaining crop.

Ashdown Gets Recruiting Medal

For having signed 10 new men in the 156th Field Artillery Battalion, Pvt. Raymond P. Ashdown, 18, of 82 Yarmouth street was awarded the New York State Recruiting Medal at special ceremonies this week on the parade ground at the armory, Manor avenue, by Lt. Col. Frank W. Harkin, battalion commander. Ashdown holds the record for recruiting since his own enlistment on April 10, 1950. An employe of Bernie Singer, 71 North Front street, Ashdown is a qualified marksman, having fired a score of 155 with the 30 calibre carbine at Camp Smith on May 20.

In making the award to Private Ashdown, Lt. Col. Harkin said: "On behalf of the people of the State of New York and the officers and men of the 156th Field Artillery Battalion of the New York National Guard, I am indeed pleased to present this token of our appreciation for services well rendered. Your intense desire to acquaint our community with the advantages of enlistment in the local guard unit and the numerous activities of the unit is most gratifying. We, of the battalion know of the many problems you must have experienced and salute you as a citizen-soldier who is serving his community, state and nation and has done much in keeping America strong."

Most Voting . . .

Marbletown where Uriah Connor, assessor and Republican committeeman, was defeated by Clyde Lyons. Connor received 14 votes and Lyons 23. Marge Mengér, whose name appeared on the ballot with Connor, received 29 votes.

A three-way race for Democratic committeemen in the third district of Marbletown was won by Milton Elmendorf and John G. Davis, Jr. The third name on the ballot was that of William T. McDougall. Elmendorf received 34 votes and Davis 31. McDougall received only 20. There were 48 votes cast in the district. This was the only district in the county where there was an open contest with all contestant's names appearing on the ballot.

McAndrew in comment said "Naturally, I am very happy and will do everything I can by a good clean and hard campaign to win the election. My running mate Fred Harder is an outstanding citizen and well known throughout the city. I am sure he will do a good job as Alderman-at-Large. All good citizens, regardless of party affiliations appreciate that Kingston is a great city and should have better government and more progress. If the people elect me mayor I will do everything in my power to give them an efficient administration."

Officials Accuse

its leader killed. Joy acknowledged receipts of Nam's blistering charge, said preliminary investigation did "not substantiate the charges," and added he would reply after he had studdied full reports of investigators.

Nam Il rejected this, the Korean Reds' Pyongyang radio reported, and demanded "severe punishment of the violators of the neutral zone and a guarantee of the non-recurrence of such incidents."

The "voice of the United Nations command" broadcast commented:

"On the basis of evidence presented, it would be more logical to assume that the attackers, if any, were a group of Partisans operating with the intention of creating an atmosphere of tension under which it would be difficult for the conferences to succeed."

Condition Very Poor

reactor testing station at Arco, Idaho, were guardedly optimistic.

Materials Essential

Before starting work on the prototype of the first seagoing atomic power plant, AEC, navy and private industry scientists had to find materials to withstand higher temperatures than are generated within conventional engines or motors.

They also had to determine what materials would offer the greatest resistance to damage by the intense radiation from the atomic splitting process. The materials must absorb, and thus waste, a minimum proportion of neutrons that come from the controlled splitting of uranium atoms inside the power plant.

The pre-construction experiments also had to solve the problem of providing shielding from radiation heavy enough to protect both instruments and men but not too weighty to be housed within a comparatively small vessel.

Contract No Surprise

Award of the contract to the Electric Boat Company was not a surprise. It had been in on preliminary research and last January Carleton Shugg resigned as deputy general manager of the AEC to become an officer of the firm.

AEC and the air force are also at work on an atomic engine to power aircraft, and there have been indications of progress in that direction. AEC announced last March a contract with the General Electric Company "for the further development of a nuclear reactor for aircraft."

"When Fair street was torn up last summer," Mrs. Terwilliger explains, "it was harder for people to get here, and harder for them to park. I think that was the principal reason for the drop."

Increased interest both Miss Millard and Mrs. Terwilliger feel stems from the added emphasis that has been placed on restorations throughout the country. Children from the west and middle west have heard about the Senate House in their school work. Until 1943 children were not allowed in the museum. Now, it is often the children who bring their parents.

Autopsy Reveals Van Wagoner Died Of Natural Causes

State police at Highland have completed an investigation into the death of Frank Van Wagoner, 90, of Port Ewen who died Saturday at the Kingston Hospital. Following an autopsy performed by Drs. A. J. Friedman of Port Ewen and Dr. Anthony Tocco of Hurley, a verdict of death from natural causes was returned. It was stated that death had been due to a ruptured ulcer.

Edward Francus, 43, of 119 Linderman avenue, Kingston, reported to the state police that about 3:30 o'clock July 26, as he was backing a car out of the Orchard Garage on Route 9W about a quarter of a mile south of Port Ewen he had felt a bump and on investigating had found Van Wagoner had been struck by the rear bumper of the car owned by the Orchard Motor Sales Company. State police said Francus had reported he looked prior to backing out of the garage and heading south but had seen no vehicle or person on the road. Francus took Van Wagoner to Dr. Friedman's office where it was found he suffered from shock and a fractured right collar bone. After treatment Van Wagoner was taken home. Three days prior to his death, state police reported today, Van Wagoner went to Dr. Friedman's office and complained of pain in his stomach. He was taken to the hospital and died Saturday. The state police investigation of the accident followed and today it was reported that death was due to natural causes and not due to the accident.

Watch Reported Lost

Naomi Kahn of 2185 Davidson avenue, Bronx, reported to the sheriff Monday that she had lost a pink gold ladies' wrist watch. She reported the watch was a Bulova make and the case was set with rubies and diamonds valued at $125. The watch was lost or taken while she was boarding at a High Falls summer resort, she said. An investigation is being made.

Reports Battle Raging

Hong Kong, Aug. 22 (AP)—The independent Chinese newspaper Wah Kiu Yat Po reported today a battle is raging on the Indochina border between guerrillas and Chinese Communist troops. A dispatch from Nanking said the fighting was inside Red China, in Kwangsi province. (This would be considerably east of the comparatively large guerrilla force under Nationalist Gen. Li Mi, in Yunnan province.)

Three Are Released

New Brunswick, N. J., Aug. 22 (AP)—Authorities last night released three men they had been questioning in connection with the gas station holdup-slaying of a Rutgers University graduate. Middlesex County Prosecutor Alex Eber said the trio was investigated thoroughly but that no suspects had been uncovered in the fatal shooting of Richard Sugarman, 25.

House Plans Recess

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP)—The House has agreed to take a recess starting tomorrow and ending Sept. 12—three weeks away. It shouted approval of the plan yesterday. And in the Senate, which is not nearly so far along with its legislative work, Democrats arranged to meet tomorrow night to talk over plans for adjournment of Congress by Oct. 1.

General Is Dead

Moscow, Aug. 22 (AP)—The army newspaper Red Star reported today the death of Maj. Gen. Ivan Chernyshev, 49. The cause of death was given as a serious, long illness. Gen. Chernyshev had been in the Soviet Army since 1932 and was one of the heroes of the air battles against the Japanese on the eastern front late in World War 2.

14 Prisoners Escape

Flemington, N. J., Aug. 22 (AP)—Fourteen prisoners escaped today in separate jailbreaks at two prisons in this area—the largest mass breaks in New Jersey in years. Six prisoners broke out of Hunterdon county jail and eight more escaped from Annandale Reformatory, a few miles north of here. Three of the men were recaptured a short time after the breaks.

subcommittee also was digging into subversive activities with Louis Budenz, ex-Communist editor, in its witness chair. Budenz told the senators that when he was in the party (he left it six years ago,) the Institute of Pacific Relations was "completely under control" and the Communists spoke of it as "the Little Red School House."

Former Editor

Budenz is a former editor of the "Daily Worker," Communist publication. He broke publicly with the party in 1945 and is now on the faculty of Fordham University.

Chairman McCarran (D-Nev.) contends the IPR has influenced official policy. The IPR is a private organization, formed in the 1920s, with the declared aim of promoting knowledge of the Pacific area.

Budenz told the senators that he attended Communist Politburo meetings at which IPR officials received orders from the then Communist leader Earl Browder.

He called IPR a "captive" organization "completely under control of the Communist party."

However, Special Prosecutor John M. Minton asked for and received an order directing two physicians appointed by Justice Leo J. Hagerty of the State Supreme Court to examine Dr. Leonard. After the examination, Dr. Leonard was directed to appear.

Minton indicated recently that the inquiry was proceeding in that direction.

To date, however, no prominent politician or office holder has been indicted.

Several indictments were slated to be handed up this morning to Justice Leo J. Hagerty of State Supreme Court.

More were expected later in the day.

To Consider Proposals

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—The Joint Legislative Committee on Housing and multiple dwellings will consider at a conference Aug. 27 and 28 proposals for strengthening the new state law covering multiple dwellings. Senator MacNeil Mitchell (R-Manhattan) announced yesterday that minimum standards of light, air, sanitation and fire protection would be among the topics discussed. The multiple dwelling law was enacted by the 1951 Legislature. It becomes effective next year.

course. Meanwhile, weather officials said, it is impossible to predict exactly what direction it will take.

Winds at the core of the hurricane are said to reach 115 to 130 miles an hour. They extend 75 miles in all directions from the center.

Body Washed Ashore

Raging seas lashing Mexico's Gulf Coast, washed a man's body ashore last night near Vera Cruz, a port 230 miles southeast of Tampico. Officials said the body was probably that of a crewman off some ship in the gulf. For miles on either side of Vera Cruz huge waves battered the shore.

Dispatches from Merida, Mexico, said the storm wrought havoc when it swept across Mexico's Yucatan peninsula Monday. Farmers said the corn crop was ruined.

The hurricane took its heaviest toll in the peninsula's eastern part. Calutmul reported 57 homes destroyed. The electric system at Port of Progreso was damaged severely. Movie houses and several homes were wrecked in Tigimiux. Some business houses there were smashed by falling palm trees.

Big Waves Hit U. S.

In the United States big waves beat against the shore as far up the Texas gulf coast at Galveston.

In the Texas lower Rio Grande valley, cotton growers waited apprehensively for gale winds in the hurricane's outer fringe.

Cameron county, Texas, county agent Frank Brunneman said there were 200,000 to 300,000 bales of the valley's bumper crop still to be harvested. Even slight rains, he said, would severely endanger the remaining crop.

Ashdown Gets Recruiting Medal

For having signed 10 new men in the 156th Field Artillery Battalion, Pvt. Raymond P. Ashdown, 18, of 82 Yarmouth street was awarded the New York State Recruiting Medal at special ceremonies this week on the parade ground at the armory, Manor avenue, by Lt. Col. Frank W. Harkin, battalion commander. Ashdown holds the record for recruiting since his own enlistment on April 10, 1950. An employe of Bernie Singer, 71 North Front street, Ashdown is a qualified marksman, having fired a score of 155 with the 30 calibre carbine at Camp Smith on May 20.

In making the award to Private Ashdown, Lt. Col. Harkin said: "On behalf of the people of the State of New York and the officers and men of the 156th Field Artillery Battalion of the New York National Guard, I am indeed pleased to present this token of our appreciation for services well rendered. Your intense desire to acquaint our community with the advantages of enlistment in the local guard unit and the numerous activities of the unit is most gratifying. We, of the battalion know of the many problems you must have experienced and salute you as a citizen-soldier who is serving his community, state and nation and has done much in keeping America strong."

Most Voting . . .

Marbletown where Uriah Connor, assessor and Republican committeeman, was defeated by Clyde Lyons. Connor received 14 votes and Lyons 23. Marge Menger, whose name appeared on the ballot with Connor, received 29 votes.

A three-way race for Democratic committeemen in the third district of Marbletown was won by Milton Elmendorf and John G. Davis, Jr. The third name on the ballot was that of William T. McDougall. Elmendorf received 34 votes and Davis 31. McDougall received only 20. There were 48 votes cast in the district. This was the only district in the county where there was an open contest with all contestant's names appearing on the ballot.

McAndrew in comment said "Naturally, I am very happy and will do everything I can by a good clean and hard campaign to win the election. My running mate Fred Harder is an outstanding citizen and well known throughout the city. I am sure he will do a good job as Alderman-at-Large. All good citizens, regardless of party affiliations appreciate that Kingston is a great city and should have better government and more progress. If the people elect me mayor I will do everything in my power to give them an efficient administration."

Officials Accuse

its leader killed. Joy acknowledged receipts of Nam's blistering charge, said preliminary investigation did "not substantiate the charges," and added he would reply after he had studdied full reports of investigators.

Nam Il rejected this, the Korean Reds' Pyongyang radio reported, and demanded "severe punishment of the violators of the neutral zone and a guarantee of the non-recurrence of such incidents."

The "voice of the United Nations command" broadcast commented:

"On the basis of evidence presented, it would be more logical to assume that the attackers, if any, were a group of Partisans operating with the intention of creating an atmosphere of tension under which it would be difficult for the conferences to succeed."

Condition Very Poor

reactor testing station at Arco, Idaho, were guardedly optimistic.

Materials Essential

Before starting work on the prototype of the first seagoing atomic power plant, AEC, navy and private industry scientists had to find materials to withstand higher temperatures than are generated within conventional engines or motors.

They also had to determine what materials would offer the greatest resistance to damage by the intense radiation from the atomic splitting process. The materials must absorb, and thus waste, a minimum proportion of neutrons that come from the controlled splitting of uranium atoms inside the power plant.

The pre-construction experiments also had to solve the problem of providing shielding from radiation heavy enough to protect both instruments and men but not too weighty to be housed within a comparatively small vessel.

Contract No Surprise

Award of the contract to the Electric Boat Company was not a surprise. It had been in on preliminary research and last January Carleton Shugg resigned as deputy general manager of the AEC to become an officer of the firm.

AEC and the air force are also at work on an atomic engine to power aircraft, and there have been indications of progress in that direction. AEC announced last March a contract with the General Electric Company "for the further development of a nuclear reactor for aircraft."

At both the Senate House and the museum 1950 numbers were a little below those of 1949.

"When Fair street was torn up last summer," Mrs. Terwilliger explains, "it was harder for people to get here, and harder for them to park. I think that was the principal reason for the drop."

Increased interest both Miss Millard and Mrs. Terwilliger feel stems from the added emphasis that has been placed on restorations throughout the country. Children from the west and middle west have heard about the Senate House in their school work. Until 1943 children were not allowed in the museum. Now, it is often the children who bring their parents.

Autopsy Reveals Van Wagoner Died Of Natural Causes

State police at Highland have completed an investigation into the death of Frank Van Wagoner, 90, of Port Ewen who died Saturday at the Kingston Hospital. Following an autopsy performed by Drs. A. J. Friedman of Port Ewen and Dr. Anthony Tocco of Hurley, a verdict of death from natural causes was returned. It was stated that death had been due to a ruptured ulcer.

Edward Francus, 43, of 119 Linderman avenue, Kingston, reported to the state police that about 3:30 o'clock July 26, as he was backing a car out of the Orchard Garage on Route 9W about a quarter of a mile south of Port Ewen he had felt a bump and on investigating had found Van Wagoner had been struck by the rear bumper of the car owned by the Orchard Motor Sales Company. State police said Francus had reported he looked prior to backing out of the garage and heading south but had seen no vehicle or person on the road. Francus took Van Wagoner to Dr. Friedman's office where it was found he suffered from shock and a fractured right collar bone. After treatment Van Wagoner was taken home. Three days prior to his death, state police reported today, Van Wagoner went to Dr. Friedman's office and complained of pain in his stomach. He was taken to the hospital and died Saturday. The state police investigation of the accident followed and today it was reported that death was due to natural causes and not due to the accident.

Watch Reported Lost

Naomi Kahn of 2185 Davidson avenue, Bronx, reported to the sheriff Monday that she had lost a pink gold ladies' wrist watch. She reported the watch was a Bulova make and the case was set with rubies and diamonds valued at $125. The watch was lost or taken while she was boarding at a High Falls summer resort, she said. An investigation is being made.

Reports Battle Raging

Hong Kong, Aug. 22 (AP)—The independent Chinese newspaper Wah Kiu Yat Po reported today a battle is raging on the Indochina border between guerrillas and Chinese Communist troops. A dispatch from Nanking said the fighting was inside Red China, in Kwangsi province. (This would be considerably east of the comparatively large guerrilla force under Nationalist Gen. Li Mi, in Yunnan province.)

Three Are Released

New Brunswick, N. J., Aug. 22 (AP)—Authorities last night released three men they had been questioning in connection with the gas station holdup-slaying of a Rutgers University graduate. Middlesex County Prosecutor Alex Eber said the trio was investigated thoroughly but that no suspects had been uncovered in the fatal shooting of Richard Sugarman, 25.

House Plans Recess

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP)—The House has agreed to take a recess starting tomorrow and ending Sept. 12—three weeks away. It shouted approval of the plan yesterday. And in the Senate, which is not nearly so far along with its legislative work, Democrats arranged to meet tomorrow night to talk over plans for adjournment of Congress by Oct. 1.

General Is Dead

Moscow, Aug. 22 (AP)—The army newspaper Red Star reported today the death of Maj. Gen. Ivan Chernyshev, 49. The cause of death was given as a serious, long illness. Gen. Chernyshev had been in the Soviet Army since 1932 and was one of the heroes of the air battles against the Japanese on the eastern front late in World War 2.

14 Prisoners Escape

Flemington, N. J., Aug. 22 (AP)—Fourteen prisoners escaped today in separate jailbreaks at two prisons in this area—the largest mass breaks in New Jersey in years. Six prisoners broke out of Hunterdon county jail and eight more escaped from Annandale Reformatory, a few miles north of here. Three of the men were recaptured a short time after the breaks.

subcommittee also was digging into subversive activities with Louis Budenz, ex-Communist editor, in its witness chair. Budenz told the senators that when he was in the party (he left it six years ago,) the Institute of Pacific Relations was "completely under control" and the Communists spoke of it as "the Little Red School House."

Former Editor

Budenz is a former editor of the "Daily Worker," Communist publication. He broke publicly with the party in 1945 and is now on the faculty of Fordham University.

The one time Communist leader testified before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee. The senators are inquiring into whether there have been subversive influences on U. S. Far Eastern policy.

Chairman McCarran (D-Nev.) contends the IPR has influenced official policy. The IPR is a private organization, formed in the 1920s, with the declared aim of promoting knowledge of the Pacific area.

Budenz told the senators that he attended Communist Politburo meetings at which IPR officials received orders from the then Communist leader Earl Browder.

He called IPR a "captive" organization "completely under control of the Communist party."

in Ballston Spa, but he begged off on account of illness.

However, Special Prosecutor John M. Minton asked for and received an order directing two physicians appointed by Justice Leo J. Hagerty of the State Supreme Court to examine Dr. Leonard. After the examination, Dr. Leonard was directed to appear.

Minton indicated recently that the inquiry was proceeding in that direction.

To date, however, no prominent politician or office holder has been indicted.

Several indictments were slated to be handed up this morning to Justice Leo J. Hagerty of State Supreme Court.

More were expected later in the day.
